Cabin Gives Clue To Searchers For Burke Party

Three Lost Fliers Lived For Time On Moose Meat

Prospector Says He Found Cabin Not Far From Abandoned Burke Plane in Southern Yukon Which Apparently Had Recently Been Occupied; Renahan Party Search Ends.

That Pilot E. J. A. Burke and his two companions after their plane was forced down in the southern Yukon October 11 spent some time at a cabin not far away and killed at least one moose for food, is indicated in the latest news from the northern search.

The information, from a prospector, came by way of Ketchikan and Whitehorse, Y.T., in the following Canadian Press dispatch:

Whitehorse, Y.T., Dec. 5.—Capt. E. J. Burke, Vancouver aviator, and his two companions, missing in this north country since October 11, are somewhere between Wolf Lake and the point fifty miles north where their stranded plane was found.

BACK AT WHITEHORSE

Pilot E. I. Wasson, rescue flier, and Joe Walsh, experienced woodsman, returned here yesterday after having inspected the Burke plane at close range. Wasson and Walsh sighted the plane from the air more than a week ago and last Thursday flew to within fifteen miles of it, mushing the intervening distance on snowshoes.

They reported on their return here yesterday that the only trace of Burke and his companions, Emil Kading, air mechanic, and Joe Marten, prospector, in the vicinity of the plane was a message carved on a tree nearby. The message indicated the men had abandoned the stranded machine and had set out for Wolf Lake. It said:

"October 17. Leaving for Wolf Lake. Need food badly."

FOUND NO TRACE

Wasson and Walsh did not remain with the Burke plane long, but it took them a day and a half each way to

EXPECT MILLS IN VANCOUVER NEXT TUESDAY

Broker to Be Released at Lethbridge To-morrow to Be Escorted to Coast

Will Be Given Hearing Without Delay; A. H. McNeill, K.C., to Prosecute

Prosecution in Vancouver Police Court of Harvey Mills, convicted broker, on a theft charge, with A. H. MacNeill, K.C., and Mark Cosgrove as counsel for Attorney-General Pooley, will proceed next week, according to existing arrangements.

When Mills, partner of Solloway, Mills and Co. Ltd. to-morrow morning completes a thirty-day sentence at Lethbridge, he will be arrested on a warrant in the hands of Provincial Police Constable Carl Ledoux, Vancouver, who is now in the Alberta City.

The warrant was issued in Vancouver by Earl Robinson, Justice of the Peace. The information was sworn by Ledoux and the matter was arranged by Mr. Cosgrove.

The charge against Mills is conspiracy to commit an indictable offence, namely theft. Mr. MacNeill has been appointed by Mr. Pooley to take charge of the prosecution.

Provincial police headquarters here look for the return of Ledoux and Mills on Tuesday. If he returns before then, Mills will be brought before a Vancouver police magistrate without delay.

In the meantime R. Cosgrove has reserved a suite of three rooms in the courthouse, where twenty-seven boxes of books, records and documents of Solloway, Mills and Co. are available for a staff of accountants.

Lethbridge, Alta., Dec. 5.—Just at what hour Saturday Harvey Mills, broker-prisoner here, will be turned over to his new custodians by the Alberta authorities is not known. The broker's one-month term will terminate Saurday, counting days off for good behavior, and prisoners are usually released at 8 o'clock, but this will not hold in the case of Mills. He will be turned over to the escort being sent from Toronto, Inspector Stringer, and Detective J. Ledoux of the British Columbia Provincial Police. The prisoner will be taken to Vancouver under joint escort.

SEEKS WORLD WHEAT TITLE

Strong Eagle, champion grain rancher of the Cree Indians, near Regina, wants to earn fame by winning the world wheat championship. Herman Trelle, Alberta Peace River district farmer, won the 1930 title this week at the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago which ended to-day. There is another great contest in view—the World Grain Conference and Show at Regina next year. Strong Eagle will have wheat entered in that event.

GAS IN AIR KILLS SCORES IN BELGIUM

Brussels, Belgium, Dec. 5.—Forty-eight persons died in the vicinity of Engis, near Liege, apparently poisoned by a mysterious gas mixed with a fog which swept over the region yesterday evening and to-day.

Cattle have also been affected by the strange malady of the mist and many of them have died. To-day frightened and bewildered farmers drove as many as possible of their cows and horses into warm dry kitchens to shield them from the death outside.

SIX MEN ARE GIVEN LASHES AND JAILED

Winnipeg Magistrate Imposes Sentences Totaling 24 Years on Robbers

Court Allows Two Youths Out on Suspended Sentence of Two Years

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Dec. 5.—Lashes and lengthy terms in the penitentiary were meted out in police court here to-day to six men found guilty of a series of robberies in this city recently. Two other youths were given suspended sentences by Magistrate Graham.

George Scott, found guilty of robbing the Canada Malting Company of $2,139 and aiding in the robbery of the home of an aged married couple, was sentenced to seven years in the penitentiary and ten lashes.

Two other men were charged with accompanying Scott in the raid on the married couple's home. They were Cecil Helgason and Peter Devries. Helgason to-day was sent to prison for three years and in addition will receive twenty lashes. Devries will serve three years and receive five lashes.

LOCKED IN VICTIM'S CELLAR

The three men were said to have entered the aged couple's dwelling, ransacked the house, and, finding only $100 in cash, to have become enraged. The trio abused the aged couple and locked them in the cellar before escaping.

The other men found guilty of a number of robbery charges and sentenced to-day were:

Raymond Anderson, three years and ten lashes.

John Lamb, five years and ten lashes.

William Watkins, three years and five lashes.

Emil Paul and Steve Skibenski, two years, suspended sentence.

No Seaplane Base In Inner Harbor Ottawa Announces

Officials of Two Departments Confer and Refuse to Approve Inner Harbor As Site for Base; Suggest Cadboro Bay As Location and City Wires for Approval; Serious Setback to Aviation in Victoria, Says Industrial Committee Chairman.

Approval of the Inner Harbor here for seaplane base purposes has been definitely refused by Ottawa, the City was informed in a letter received yesterday afternoon, which says such use would "not be in the public interest."

The decision was reached at the conference between officials of the departments of National Defence and Marine, promised by Hon. Alfred Duranleau, Minister of Marine, on his visit here this fall. After discussing the matter the departmental officials could not see their way clear to give sanction to the project, and advised the city to consider Cadboro Bay as a base site.

CADBORO BAY AS SITE

After considering the action of the departments the city industrial committee has wired for approval of Cadboro Bay as a seaplane base location.

As the last hope of establishing a base in the harbor appeared to have vanished, Ald. W. T. Straith, chairman of the committee, declared the future of Victoria as an aviation centre was anything but bright.

"The decision of the departments is very disappointing," said Mr. Straith, "for we had expected that the conference between the two departments would have resulted either in the confirmation of the approval of the present site or in the definite approval of some alternative site in Victoria waters.

"On August 7, 1929, the Department of National Defence with the concurrence of the Marine Department, definitely approved of the seaplane base in Victoria harbor," said Mr. Straith, in reviewing the situation, "and now the same department tells us that such a seaplane base would not be 'in the public interest.' Furthermore the British Columbia representative of the same department investigated the possibilities of Cadboro Bay at the request of Ex-Mayor Pendray some years ago and I understand that he then disapproved of Cadboro Bay as a seaplane base site. Now, several years afterwards, his department advise the City Council 'that Cadboro Bay be first considered as having the most convenient location with regard to the city.'

CANADA MAY SOON EXPORT 10,000 HORSES

Ottawa, Dec. 5.—Russia is in the market for Canadian horses. Albert Champagne, former member of parliament for Battleford, Sask., who acted as agent for the Russian Government some years ago in making purchases here, to-day advised Department of Agriculture officials the Soviets are seeking 3,000 horses provided satisfactory financial arrangements could be made.

Wild horses of a type not readily saleable in Canadian markets are in demand in central and eastern European countries according to Mr. Champagne. He placed the suggestion before Hon. Robert Weir, Minister of Agriculture, that if a Canadian well versed in the business were sent to Europe he should be able to find a market for 10,000 horses at a price of about $20 or $30 a head. Besides Russia, there are opportunities to sell Canadian horses in Poland, Turkey, and other European countries, according to Mr. Champagne.

MACDONALD IS MENTIONED AS VICEROY

British Papers Discuss Suggestion He Go to India; Rumor Not Officially Killed

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION
Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

London, Dec. 5. — Premier Ramsay MacDonald's name is being associated with the post of Viceroy of India. At present the talk only extends to newspaper gossip. The London Daily Mail having started it yesterday and The London News-Chronicle, The Manchester Guardian and an odd one or two others referring to it more guardedly to-day. It may be added the rumor has not been roundly denied.

The Manchester Guardian says Premier MacDonald proved himself the ideal chairman at both the Naval and Indian conferences. Some Indian members of the latter conference have conceived a great liking for the Prime Minister, The Guardian adds. "They know all the difficulties being experienced in the search for a successor to Lord Irwin, and over the dinner tables they have openly asked why the Government should not find an escape by transferring its head to Delhi," The Guardian says.

HUMBLE BEGINNING

Less than a fortnight ago Premier MacDonald recalled to an audience that when he first came to London there was not a soul to welcome him and he was without money and was looking for any kind of a job. It is interesting in this connection to recall that Lord Reading first saw India from a tramp steamer going up the Hoogli River, aboard which he was a cabin boy, and that fifty years later he made the same voyage as the newly appointed Viceroy.

MOUNTED POLICE START NORTH FOR MYSTERIOUS "VILLAGE OF THE DEAD"

On one of the strangest quests which has fallen to their lot, officers of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police have moved out from The Pas, Manitoba, on their search in the silent northern regions, 500 miles above Fort Churchill, where a tribe of 500 Eskimos has vanished.

A lone trapper discovered the tribe's "village of the dead" and he reported to the police that the sight gave him "the creeps."

LONDON IS BLANKETED BY HEAVY FOG

Steamships are Halted in the English Channel and Estuary of Thames

Slowly Moving Traffic Chokes Streets of British Capital; Thieves Busy

London, Dec. 5.—One of London's notorious pea-soup fogs rolled inland from the coast to-day, choking city streets with slowly-moving traffic and blocking all navigation in the Thames.

Two cross-channel vessels, fog-blind half-way between England and France, informed shore stations by radio they had enough food aboard, but were badly in need of water. So thick was the fog, however, that other craft could not set out with supplies.

One of the thickest fogs in years covered the Thames estuary, completely halting shipping. Among ships at a standstill were the Cunarder Aurania, the Orient liner Orvieto, the American Merchant and passenger steamers of the Thames-Dunkirk service.

Many persons bound for the continent and others awaiting friends aboard incoming liners at Tilbury had to take hotel accommodations yesterday evening on the shore.

Encouraged by the heavy fog early to-day, thieves stole twenty automobiles within an hour in London. This was believed to foreshadow raids on jewelers and other shopkeepers and police patrols in the shopping districts were reinforced.

COAL STRIKE IN SCOTLAND ENDED BY VOTE

Leaders Decide 70,000 Men Shall Resume Work in the Pits Next Monday

Canadian Press

London, Dec. 5.—A strike in the Scottish coal fields, called December 1, was ended to-day when a conference of union delegates ordered the men back to the pits next Monday.

The Scottish strike was at bottom a protest against the "spreadover" working schedule, under which the mine owners proposed to work their shafts in five eight-hour shifts and one five-hour shift a week, instead of the straight seven and one-half-hour day provided in the new Coal Mines Act.

Seventy thousand miners walked out last Monday when the new act became effective.

UNANIMOUS VOTE

The decision to call off the strike was reached unanimously at a meeting of the miners' leaders in Glasgow. No details of the settlement were made public, but it was assumed the miners accepted the owners "spreadover" proposals in one form or another.

A notable alleviation of the whole confused and uneasy situation now existing in the British and Welsh mines is expected to follow the ending of the strike in Scotland.

Candidates Line Up Forces For Short Campaign

Eleventh-hour Entry of John Dean Makes Unexpected Contest for Mayor's Seat; Opposing Candidates May Appear on Same Platform; Four Nominees to Speak Over Radio This Evening; Three Meetings Fixed.

With a mayoralty contest provided just before the closing nominations through the candidature of John Deane, the civic election which had promises of being a rather apathetic affairs, took a surprising turn and was the chief centre of interest to-day.

The mayoralty candidates this morning swung into the routine of preparing their campaigns, which, although short, will probably hold excitement. Chances of the opposing candidates talking from the same platform loomed although no decision had been reached on this point.

Mayor Anscomb has invited Mr. Dean to attend his meeting at the Chamber of Commerce next Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, but Mr. Dean was endeavoring to arrange a gathering at a hall where the accommodation would be larger and at a time not so close to polling day.

Supporters of the Mayor will gather to-morrow afternoon at 302 Times Building to form plans for the campaign, while Mr. Dean expects to wage an energetic fight.

UNEMPLOYMENT SITUATION

"After two years in office, I am appealing to the voters again with perfect confidence," said Mayor Anscomb this morning. "At the meeting next Wednesday night I will endeavor to explain fully my stewardship and the grounds on which I base my candidature."

"Undoubtedly the major issue before the city at the present time is that of unemployment. I might point out that Victoria was one of the first municipalities in the province to put into effect its scheme to meet this situation—in fact we started on relief works before our agreement with the Provincial Government was signed to offset bad conditions as soon as possible."

Enlarging on this subject the Mayor pointed out that the city had dealt with unemployment by two separate methods. Married men were put to work on roads under the Federal Government plan, and single men were employed at the city cordwood camp at Waugh Creek, and all those who had applied for this work had been taken care of.

BUSINESS METHODS

"Throughout my terms of office, I have always based my decisions on sound business policy with regard to the best interests of the city, and I feel certain that I will have the loyal support of those who placed me in the mayor's chair two years ago," he said.

LIBERALS ARE NOT OUSTING MACDONALD

Lloyd George Says He Wants No Baldwin Government in Britain

Makes No Pact With Labor Party; Will Judge From Day to Day

Canadian Press

London, Dec. 5.—The Liberal party of Great Britain, which holds the balance of power in the House of Commons, has made no deal to keep the Labor party in office, but it has no desire to see Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin become Prime Minister, Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, Liberal leader, asserted to-day.

Scoring the Conservatives in an address at a session of the "War council" of the Liberal party, Mr. Lloyd George said the "wild horses of Wall Street" had dragged Great Britain over a rocky road of finance.

The mischief of Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin's United States debt settlement continue to spread, he said. "We are lassoed fast by American finance," he declared. "We are only beginning to realize what that terrible debt settlement means. That gold standard settlement was premature and ill thought out. We have been dragged over the course by the wild horses of Wall Street."

NARROW CHOICE

Mr. Lloyd George's outline of the political line-up to-day came on the heels of reports that he and Premier

Canada-Britain Radiotelephone Link Planned

Ottawa, Dec. 5. — Direct telephone service between Canada and Great Britain will be opened within the next few months. When Rt Hon. H. B. Lees-Smith announced in the British House of Commons yesterday that Canada's wishes in the matter had been met, the last obstacle in the path of the venture was removed.

For more than a year experiments have been carried on over the radiotelephone circuit between Montreal and London, England. At the present time, overseas transmission is routed by way of New York and overtures were made by the Canadian Government to switch this traffic to the all-empire route.

The Canadian end will be handled by the Canadian Marconi Company.

M.P.'S ATTACK SELECTION OF GOVERNOR

Opposition in Australian House Argues Appointment of Isaacs Mistake

Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's

Canberra, Australia, Dec. 5.—The appointment of the first native-born Governor-General of Australia was attacked in the House of Representatives to-day by the Nationalist-Country Party opposition.

Hon. J. G. Latham, opposition leader, charged the new Governor-General was the nominee of the Federal Government and not of the King. He declared there was no constitutional warrant for the practice.

Mr. Latham expressed fear the appointment of Sir Isaac A. Isaacs, Chief Justice of Australia, would infringe the old-established principle that judges had nothing to fear from any government. If the practice should be continued, he said, obviously judges could look to the government for advancement. That was objectionable, he said, as it might create suspicion of their decisions on constitutional matters.

135,000 WOULD-BE MIGRANTS ARE BARRED FROM THE U.S.

Washington, Dec. 5.—An estimate that 135,000 aliens who would normally migrate to the United States by June 30 next year will be barred by stricter enforcement of the Immigration Act was made by Secretary of State Stimson to-day in a formal statement.

Visa statistics for October, based on reports from twenty-one countries whose annual quotas represent 148,466 of the total immigration quota of 153,714 indicated only 1,668 visas were issued to non-preference aliens for the month. This issue is out of a possible portion for the month of 14,846.

CHRISTMAS CHEER FUND OPENS TO PREVENT TRAGEDY FOR TOTS OF UNEMPLOYED IN VICTORIA

Christmas, the day of all days for children, promises to be a day of sharp sad contrasts, unless Victorians rally to the call for $7,000 which has been made to help the little tots whose fathers are now unemployed.

Organizers of the fund point out that while Christmas is a time of good cheer and revelry for most families there are hundreds in Victoria this year who view it as an occasion when their distress will be emphasized. These are parents, unemployed, and out of funds, who fear something far worse than their own suffering—that of seeing their children suffer; facing eager, excited youngsters on Christmas Day not only without the toys and dainties they confidently expect, but without even the necessities for an average meal, fuel to keep the house warm, or clothes with which the children can venture out in the cold and wet.

The sum of $7,000 is sought to provide food, clothing and the necessities of life. While a few toys and Christmas dainties may come from other sources the Seven Thousand Dollar Christmas Cheer Fund is for necessities.

Early contributions on the list in The Times Office indicate the appeal will not go unanswered.

A committee in charge of the fund was named this morning. It consists of Mayor Anscomb, chairman; F. Landsberg and James H. Fletcher, with two to be named from the ranks of the unemployed. A tag day will be held December 13. Arrangements are also being made for a nightly appeal over the radio starting Monday.

"GIVE A JOB"

"A few hours extra work to help in the building up of family funds for the Christmas season is being sought by many who have applied to the Employment Service," it was stated by officials here to-day. "The applications include those of war service men and others industrially handicapped, as well as those who can handle any form of employment. Casual work in the Christmas season is sought for both men and women, and to create the extra openings needed the Employment Service of Canada is starting a 'Give a Job for Christmas' campaign. We can fill orders from a few hours to positions of a permanent nature. Information may be had by telephoning Garden 2411."

Sir Otto Niemeyer Believes Australia Is Too Extravagant

Australians Will Have to Take Their Medicine, Declares Noted Bank of England Expert On Arrival From Commonwealth, Where He Has Been Conducting An Exhaustive Survey of Finances.

Maintaining his reputation for reserve, Sir Otto Niemeyer, financial adviser to the Bank of England, who has been making an exhaustive examination of Australian finances and a study of the banking and currency problems in New Zealand, at the invitation of the governments concerned, arrived in Victoria yesterday evening aboard the liner Niagara from Sydney and Auckland.

"I have nothing to say," said Sir Otto, when asked by newspapermen to tell the world something of his panacea for the ills of Australia. He eased up a little under a barrage of questions.

"They will have to take their medicine," he remarked in response to a query as to how Australia proposed to get 'from under' in her present difficulties.

CAUCUS ACTION

"I am not aware of it," he said when it was suggested that action had been taken by the Labor caucus to defer payment of interest on bonds in connection with the Commonwealth loan of £27,000,000 maturing this month.

There has been considerable interest displayed in political circles in Australia concerning the Anstey motion to the Labor caucus, the specific terms of which are: "That legislation be passed compelling bondholders in the £27,000,000 loan maturing in December, to hold their bonds for a further period of twelve months, interest to be paid as usual, with a proviso that persons in necessitous circumstances may receive immediate payments of small amounts by cashing their bonds at the Commonwealth Bank, the same to be held as non-interest bearing securities, the onus of proving that circumstances justify payment to fall on the bondholders."

Premier Scullin, who has been in London attending the Imperial Conference, appealed to Australia for the conversion of the December loan and went definitely on record that under no circumstances would the Commonwealth repudiate her obligations.

Sir Otto said he had been at sea for three weeks and was not fully in touch with recent developments in Australia. He had also spent some time in New Zealand since leaving Sydney.

NO OPEN BREACH

There was no open breach with the Australian government when he left, Sir Otto said, in reply to further questioning. The Australians did not agree with him in his recommendations, and were not likely to. There was too much extravagance in Australia, he said.

The British financier said the Bank of England had intervened in Australia's financial and economic affairs, because it had been asked to do so.

Twice during the last five years the Bank of England, at its own expense and for no motive whatever except that of public service, had sent representatives to Australia.

Any views which he might have expressed while in Australia, were not political views. "Whether the Australians agree with those views or not," he said, "they were framed as a result of an impartial study of Australian conditions."

Sir Otto spoke optimistically about New Zealand. "Given sanity and sobriety, New Zealand will be alright," he said.

The financier avoided interviewers at Sydney, and it was not known until the last minute that he was to sail by the Niagara for London via Canada.

MacDonald had made a working agreement based on the Labor Premier's forthcoming electoral reform bill.

"Britain," said Mr. Lold George, "is between the devil and the deep sea. Our only practical choice is between the Labor party, which is ready to plunge headlong into a vortex of fiscal revolution. It is a sorry choice, but bad as the Labor regime is, there is no desire for a Baldwin government as an alternative."

WALL STREET

"Conservative critics ask us why we do not turn the Laborites out," he said. "Let us remind them there is a grim feature of the economic slump in that paradise of protection, Wall Street. It is called 'jumping out of the window.' The Conservatives urge us to jump, but we are not jumpers. I do not believe in jumping until you know where you are going to land."

FROM DAY TO DAY

With the alternatives at hand, he said, the Labor government could be given another chance and be judged from day to day until that time when the electorate could be prevailed on to trust the Liberal party with the government.

He had bitter criticism for the Labor cabinet.

"The government," he said, "is an acknowledged failure.

"Unemployment is not merely a disaster; it is an opportunity. During such times an able government can put to right things that cannot be remedied in periods of prosperity."

mush the distance between their own plane and the stranded machine. Before they returned here they spent some time flying between the Burke plane and Wolf Lake, but they could find no trace of the missing men. Indians along the way reported they had neither seen nor heard of any of the missing party.

AWAITS ORDERS

Wasson indicated he would await orders before doing any further searching.

PROSPECTOR'S REPORT

Meanwhile the crew of the United States coarguard cutter Cygan, which has been searching the coast for a trace of Pilot Robin Renahan and his two companions who became lost near Prince Rupert October 28 while en route to join in the Burke search, reported at Ketchikan, Alaska, a new clue in the Burke mystery. A prospector on Portland Canal, who had just returned from the interior, told them he had found a cabin near where the Burke plane was found which showed evidence of having been recently occupied. Remains of a freshly-killed and devoured moose were found by him.

BELIEVED LOST AT SEA

Search for Renahan, his mechanic, Frank Hatcher, and Sam Clerf, wealthy Seattle mining man, was practically abandoned yesterday when two United States Navy planes engaged in the hunt began their journey back to San Diego, California. It is now generally believed the Renahan plane went to the bottom of the sea.

To reach Wolf Lake from the Liard River, Pilot Burke and his two companions would have to cross the precipitous height of land which divides the waters flowing into the Arctic and Pacific Oceans. There are no trails over it. It would be a heart-breaking task for the most experienced northern trailsman, for they could only make a few miles a day on foot through that rocky waste.

There is plenty of game on the lower levels.

Paris, Dec. 5.—President Doumergue received Raymond Poincare at 3 o'clock this afternoon, and half an hour later Edouard Herriot called at the Elysee Palace in response to presidential invitation.

LEAK OF GAS KILLS SCORES IN BELGIUM

Brussels, Dec. 5.—One theory of the mysterious malady which has caused the deaths of forty-eight persons in the Englis-Liege district of Belgium is that it resulted from a leak of poison gas from some source which mixed with the fog in the Meuse Valley and drifted slomly down the air currents.

Members of the public health committe at Brussels, immediately on hearing the report of the deaths, proceeded to Englis for an investigation.

Most of the deaths were at Englis, where fourteen persons succumbed. In the Liege district itself eight died at Flamalle Haute, four at Flamelle Grande, five at Voy-Ramet, ten at Jemeppe-sur-Meuse and seven at Othee.

Roumanian House Has Noisy Sitting

Bucharest, Roumania, Dec. 5.—Pandemonium reigned in the Chamber of Deputies here to-day after an altercation between M. Madergearu, one of the Ministers, and a Liberal deputy who wanted to know why so many coal mines were being closed down.

M. Madergearu replied it was because the Liberals had not yet paid their caviar bills, which were still owing to the Government Fisheries Department. He said the Liberal leader, Vintila Bratianu, "still owes 14,000 lei and the Government Treasury was left empty at the end of your rule."

The session had to be suspended because of the disorders.

SHOUTS NAME OF POINCARE AT MOSCOW TRIAL

Prosecutor Shakes Finger at Paris as He Roars About Alleged Anti-Soviet Plot

Moscow, Dec. 5.—The name of Raymond Poincare, the French statesman, was shouted again to-day in the courtroom here, where eight men are on trial for plotting to overthrow the Soviet Government.

Before the four judges, who had ruled out all mention of "friendly foreign powers," Prosecutor Krilenko shook his finger in the general direction of Paris and accused the former French President and Premier of working hand in glove with counter-revolutionaries.

"If Poincare wants to know all the details of this plot in which he played such an important part," Krilenko shouted, "I shall let him have those details. I shall let him know our people are ready for the worst. When the time comes to fight we will fight as one man. We will meet the crisis armed and prepared."

DEATH SENTENCE DEMANDED

The prosecutor renewed his demand the eight defendants be put to death, and rehearsed the confessions drawn from Leonid Ramsin, an engineer, accused as the chief plotter in Russia, concerning acts of sabotage against Soviet industry.

Referring to testimony which involved officers of the French general staff whom the defendants implicated in the plot, Krilenko characterized the French denials as "pure fake."

"We have sufficient proof of their connection with this plot through their agents in Moscow," he said. "The action of the men who plotted with them is sufficient to merit the most severe punishment under our criminal code."

CANDIDATES LINE UP FORCES FOR SHORT CAMPAIGN

The Mayor said he would welcome the appearance of the opposing candidate on the platform next Wednesday night.

DEAN'S SIX PLANKS

Mr. Dean issued a statement on his policies this morning.

"I shall ask the voters to please excuse me from soliciting their votes because I think the voters should support candidates representing what they consider the soundest policies after they are announced and not traversed before," declared Mr. Dean, who said he based his candidature on six main features.

"My chief advocacy is the co-ordination of our water resources, involving a report by a specialist waterworks engineering firm, including the ascertaining of the surplus available for irrigation in Saanich and other areas."

"Secondly, I favor the adoption of the council manager plan of civic government in accordance with the provisions of the province of British Columbia Municipal Manager Act."

"Thirdly, I advocate the encouragement of industrial development."

TAXATION METHODS

"I also advocate the adoption of the world-wide method of taxing both land and improvements at the same rate on the fair assessed values of both in a gradual progressive way to avoid hardship in resumption of our original system."

With regard to finances, Mr. Dean said he advocated the most careful management of expenditures to ascertain where retrenchments, if any, can be made to keep taxes within reasonable bounds. "That is all any council can do, for taxes are bound to advance," he said.

"Now let me suggest to the voters that in turning over in their minds the question of elections, to remember especially this important fact: that a mayor, whoever he may be, can only go as far as he can get the majority of the council to follow him; hence it is necessary for the voters to be as careful in their selection of aldermen as they are in choosing a mayor. Every alderman should be of such a calibre that he could become a mayor as he most likely would be under an honorary council manager plan," he concluded.

OTHER CANDIDATES ACTIVE

While the mayoralty contest holds the chief interest the fight for five council seats is expected to be a stiff one. There are thirteen candidates in the field and some real surprises at the polls are anticipated. Radio, folders, personal canvassing and meetings form the medium by which they will solicit the favor of the voters.

Two council candidates and two of the nominees for the school board will be heard over radio station CFCT this evening. Mrs. Alice McGregor, one of the thre women candidates, will go on the air at 7 o'clock and will be followed by P. E. George and Dr. Stanley F. Miles. W. D. Tood, council nominee, will speak at 7.45 o'clock.

MEETING ON SUNDAY

Sunday night a meeting is scheduled for the Playhouse Theatre where Joe North will deliver address on "Police Commissionership and How Your City Is Run" on behalf of Mrs. North who is seeking election to the police commission. Doors open at 8 o'clock and the meeting will start at 8.45.

In the interests of R. T. Williams a meeting will be held Monday night at the Chamber of Commerce, starting at 8 o'clock. Mr. Williams plans to show several views of the proposed automobile road and bridges across Seymour Narrows while the candidate will speak on civic matters. H. A. Carney, who is familiar with the Peace River country, will give an address, touching upon the need for a road via Bute Inlet to provide an outlet through Vancouver Island. Mr. Carney is well acquainted with this subject. The women candidates for the council have been invited to attend and address the gathering.

ALL CANDIDATES INVITED

The main election meeting will be the one held by the Mayor Wednesday night when His Worship and the retiring aldermen will give an account of their stewardship and the aldermanic candidates will speak. Other candidates have been invited and will be given an opportunity to speak if time permits.

R-101 INQUIRY WAS ENDED IN LONDON TO-DAY

London, Dec. 5.—The long investigation into the loss of the British dirigible R-101 was brought to a close here to-day. Sir John Simon, head of the board of inquiry, stated he could not say when he would be able to complete the report.

Squadron Leader Booth, who took the R-101 to Canada, concluded his testimony on the probable causes of the disaster.

Training periods of officers and men had been cut short, he said, in the same way that the airship's trials had been curtailed. The witness paid a warm tribute to Major Scott, who was in command of the R-101, as "the most experienced airship pilot in the country."

Sir John Simon announced there was no reason to suppose a broken control cable found in the wreckage had caused the disaster.

DIFFERS WITH ECKENER

T. S. Collins, a member of the ground staff at Cardington took exception to a theory expressed by Dr. Hugo Eckener that loss of gas had caused the disaster. There were two men aboard who would have known immediately of any leakage, Collins said, and if there had been a serious leak, Wing Commander Colmore would have turned the R-101 for home. Collins said he believed erratic air currents were the real cause of the wreck.

WEARY PROCESS

"However, since that department has jurisdiction over aviation matters, we are bound to look to it for future advice as we have done in the past. During the last few years that department's officials have considered the many bodies of salt and fresh water in the vicinity of Victoria and each in turn has been disapproved, until, finally, Victoria harbor was definitely approved. And now it looks as though we shall have to begin again at Cadboro Bay and spend the next couple of years in the same weary process of elimination until the department finally approves of a proper site.

"In the meantime aviation remains at a standstill in Victoria and our city becomes the victim of delays while our neighboring coast cities are rapidly establishing airport facilities which will undoubtedly command much of the air transportation which rightly belongs to Victoria. Mr. Lowe's large hangar would already have been built on the Erie Street site and air regulations would be now in force which would regulate the safety of all forms of transportation but for the intervention by the railway officials at Montreal.

WESTERN TERMINUS

"Our industrial committee has been most anxious to provide seaplane accommodation so that our city might be permanently established as the western terminus for air transportation in Canada. Trans-Canada air mail will soon be established and Victoria, on account of its strategic location, should be the logical terminus for all planes which carry mails to and from the Orient and the Antipodes. Mail planes which will take mail from an Oriental boat in Victoria should be in Calgary or beyond before the same boat reaches Vancouver.

"However, Victoria has received this most serious setback, and with Vancouver's rapid progress in airport development, it is highly probably that our city shall not be prepared to accommodate mail planes as we had hoped, and Vancouver will have a splendid opportunity to secure the terminus.

"Canada's Oriental air mail service will suffer, of course, and Oriental passenger service will suffer to the same degree as soon as Trans-Canada passenger air service is established.

STATEMENT DECLARED WRONG

"The statement by the Deputy Minister of Defence that the departmental officers have not stated that Victoria Harbor is the only location which could be approved is not correct. Last summer the British Columbia official of that department attended a meeting of all interested parties in the Mayor's office, and he then stated that there was no other site in the vicinity of Victoria which would receive the approval of his department.

"Unfortunately, Victoria has not control of her own destiny in aviation matters and we shall now have to await the pleasure of the Department of Defence."

MRS. MILLER, AVIATRIX, IS AT MIAMI TO-DAY

Miami, Fla., Dec. 5.—Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, Australian aviatrix, who reported she was blown far off her course to Barren Andros Island on a projected Havana-Miami flight last Friday, was brought to Miami to-day aboard a chartered seaplane. With her were Captain M. N. Lancaster, her flying associate, and John Leggett III of Pittsburgh.

THIRTY HURT IN BOMBAY CLASHES

Bombay, Dec. 5.—Thirty persons were injured to-day when police attempted to break up a flag placing ceremony of Indian Nationalists on the Maidan Esplanade here in commemoration of completion of Mahatma Gandhi's seventh month in prison.

The police charged with their lathis, or staves, every time the crowd grew and an attempt was made to plant the Nationalists flag and hold the forbidden ceremony.

HITLER WANTS GERMAN FASCISTS TO DO OR TO DIE

Berlin, Dec. 5.—Adolf Hitler, dictator of the National Socialist Party (Fascists) of Germany yesterday evening told Berlin's student body that every member in his movement must be prepared to give up his life for Germany's regeneration and for recapture of a place in the sun.

"The sword is the final arbiter," he said, "and from the steel of the sword emerges the iron for the plough."

In this, his first address in the German capital since the elections of September 14, he further specified what enemies he believed the rising generation must chiefly fight.

"Turn your back on internationalism," he said. "There is only one God on earth besides God in Heaven, namely, our fatherland."

"Respect the authority of a person of genius and of ability and submit to the next highest in authority. Do away with the insanity of pacificism and with the idea that anybody else will help you."

MURDER AND SUICIDE

DIARCHAL PLAN IN INDIA SOON TO DISAPPEAR

By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

London, Dec. 5.—The sub-committee of the Indian Round-Table Conference here to-day completed its list of subjects which it considers might appropriately come within the jurisdiction of the federal authority, should India be granted a new constitution of a federal design.

Discussions to-day further revealed general agreement that the present diarchal systems of government in the provinces of British India should disappear. Each of the fifteen local governments of British India as now constituted is administered by a governor and executive council and a legislative council of mixed elected and appointed members, the governor having the power to overrule the ministers chosen from the elected councils if he considers their policy inconsistent with the discharge of his responsibilities.

BURMA DISCUSSION

A separate conference to draft a new constitution for Burma is suggested, to follow the present Round-Table Conference for India, following the acceptance of the principle that Burma should be separated from India. At to-day's special meeting of the Burma sub-committee Lord Russell, Secretary to the British Transport Ministry, presiding, expressed the opinion the principle of separation did not come within the terms of reference of the sub-committee. Its purpose was to consider the nature of conditions which would enable Burma to separate, he said.

NEW START FOR PRAIRIE FARMERS STATED NEEDED

Canadian Press

Kindersley, Sask., Dec. 5.—Visualizing a line of demarcation running north and south of the end of the Great Lakes unless the prairie farmers are given a chance to recover their losses by means of government assistance, H. N. Gordon Turnbull, wheat pool delegate from this district, addressed an audience of farmers here yesterday.

"If things go on for another two years as they have during the last two someone else will own the farms and we shall all be on a level with the peasantry of Europe at their worst," he declared.

FOR THANKSGIVING

Buffalo, N.Y., Dec. 5.—Word was received by local customs officials yesterday evening that several broken bottles of Canadian liquor has been found near the body of William F. Griffin in his wrecked plane in the Chautawqua County hills. There is no reason to believe, according to the authorities that the Berea, Ohio, aviator, who was last seen alive when he took off from the Buffalo airport for Cleveland November 25, was a rum runner. He had just flown from Hamilton, Ont., and was on his way home for Thanksgiving, and is supposed to have been taking home a few bottles of Canadian liquor for his personal use.

AUSTRALIA HAS NO BIG BUTTER EXPORT SUPPLY

Officially Stated at Sydney Cargoes Not to Be Shipped to Canada

Canadian Press

Sydney, Australia, Dec. 5.—It is officially stated there is no foundation for the fear expressed in a cable dispatch from Vancouver that a large amount of Australian butter will be dumped on the Canadian market prior to the coming into effect of the new Canadian duties.

A consignment of a thousand boxes left here November 13 aboard the steamship Niagara and a few other small shipments have been made, but it is declared that, even if attractive prices were to be realized, no further business will be done at this stage because supplies do not exceed the local demand.

UNDERSTANDING QUOTED

Hamilton, Ont., Dec. 5.—"I do not believe it," was the reply of Hon. E. B. Ryckman, Minister of National Revenue, when interviewed in Hamilton regarding the report that Australia planned to flood the Canadian market with butter, shipped on consignment to escape payment of dumping duty.

"We have an understanding with Australia. I am satisfied there will be no unfair dumping on the Canadian market," said Mr. Ryckman.

"If butter is sent here on consignment we cannot collect, but as soon as it is sold the Department of Revenue has a right to impose its levies," he said.

"There is absolutely no danger the Canadian market will be flooded with Australian butter," L. R. MacGregor, trade commissioner for Australia, said in Ottawa yesterday.

THEATRE SHOWS ON SUNDAYS IN LONDON BARRED

By THOMAS T. CHAMPION, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent

London, Dec. 5.—Important consequences for all branches of the entertainment business may follow the high court's ruling that the London County Council has no right to permit London moving picture theatres to operate on Sunday, since all public entertainment on the Sabbath are illegal under the Lord's Day Observance Act of 1877.

The Lord's Day Observance Society has hailed the ruling as a triumph, but theatre men, who have been entertaining 200,000 customers every Sunday, plan an appeal. The closing order will become effective December 14.

To date, what counsel has described as a "gentleman's agreement" has existed between the moving picture theatres and the city authorities, under which the council refrained from prosecuting the theatres remaining open, providing a percentage of the Sunday profits went to charity.

The high court judgment, however, rules the county council acted ultra vires, to adopt the familiar term of the Privy Council. Mr. Justice Swift used a less judicial term when he described the "gentleman's agreement as "all bunkum."

Some objectors to the Sunday opening find it difficult to understand why the theatres trouble to operate Sunday if the results fail to provide some indirect profit. While there is little Sunday theatre operation outside London, cinema circles claim the practice already produces $750,000 for charity yearly.

AUSTRALIANS SEEK WIDER TRADE FIELDS

Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's

Canberra, Australia, Dec. 5.—The opposition in the House of Representatives to-day asked the Government what steps, if any, were being taken in regard to the tariffs against Australian wheat in overseas markets.

Hon. J. E. Fenton, Acting Prime Minister, explained that negotiations with France were now in progress; that Hon. Parker Maloney, Markets Minister, was on his way to Ottawa to discuss the trade situation with the Canadian Government, and that Premier James Scullin was on his way to Italy to discuss with the Italian authorities.

Woman Who Killed Her Sister Acquitted

Los Angeles, Dec. 5.—Mrs. Ruth Welmer, who shot and killed her sister, Mrs. Mabel Steele last September 14 to end the latter's brooding over the loss of two children was acquitted by a jury yesterday.

Mrs. Welmer told the jury her sister wept constantly from the time a Superior Court awarded her divorced husband custody of the children, and often expressed a desire to die. She said she had killed the woman to end her suffering.

The defence was based on an amnesia attack brought on by the sister's continual brooding and crying. Mrs. Welmer testified she did not remember firing the shot.

FORGERIES CONFESSED

Huntington Park, Calif., Dec. 5.—Thomas H. Casey, seventy-three, head of an investment company, yesterday confessed forging at least $150,000 worth of trust deeds, according to Deputy District Attorney V. L. Ferguson. Casey told his story freely, Ferguson said, saying he had issued the fraudulent deeds to pay creditors from Clinton, Mo., who threatened to expose him as a former convict. His case will be placed before the grand jury.

WOULD ABOLISH APPEALS

AN IMPORTANT MISSION

AT THIS STAGE IT IS NOT POSSIBLE to appraise the economic benefits which will follow the tour of the Orient by a delegation of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce. News of the mission's activities, however, suggests that excellent work has been done, not only in the cause of trade promotion, but also in the cause of mutual friendship and understanding. At the farewell dinner in Tokio, official, financial, industrial and social Japan paid their respects to the Canadian visitors, while Hon. Herbert Marler, this Dominion's minister to the Japanese capital, and Mr. John Imrie, chairman of the Chamber of Commerce delegation, tendered appropriate thanks for the many courtesies extended to them. Judged by the tenor of the speeches, it was a historic event, and may well mark the beginning of a new era in the relations, economic and diplomatic, between the two countries. In China as well, of course, similar cordial contacts were established that contributed substantially to the success of the tour in that country.

No longer may it be charged that the producing interests of this Dominion, industrialists and agriculturists, are not alive to opportunities for the expansion of their business in the two Oriental countries on the other side of the Pacific. The delegation from the Canadian Chamber of Commerce is fully representative of the Dominion's business under its most important heads, and its members undoubtedly will return with a new vision and a new determination to exploit markets which obviously have not been exploited as diligently as they might have been. Our neighbors on the south, however, have not been letting the grass grow under their feet. Several trade missions have toured the Orient in recent years, while a liberal sprinkling of business scouts at strategic points has brought much business to the United States, some of which at least might have been diverted to Canada if our exporters had been more familiar with the requirements of the importers of the Orient. Since more personal contact now has been established, however, it soon should be possible to tell a different tale.

With the prospect of a more restricted market in the Old World, due to diminished purchasing power and an increase in the Dominion's tariff barrier, the Department of Trade and Commerce at Ottawa is confronted with the task of finding new markets. The Orient is the logical field in which to get to work. But at present there are only two trade commissioners in that vast area—one in China and the other in Japan. These two agencies are doing their utmost to bring buyer and seller together by every means at their disposal. But their activities must necessarily be limited. This is a phase of the general situation upon which the returning delegation should be able to throw some light and offer the government advice on the matter.

THEY ARE NOT JUMPERS

AT A MEETING OF THE "WAR COUNcil" of his party in London to-day, Mr. Lloyd George made it clear that the Liberals in the British House of Commons had no intention of voting the Labor government out to put a Conservative government in. They were not going to jump out of the window to please Mr. Baldwin; the Liberals were not jumpers. Nor would they jump until they could see clearly where they were going to land. In other words, unless unforeseen developments intervened, the Liberal party, despite its dislike of many of the policies of the present administration, would more or less mark time until the people could be prevailed upon to exchange a Labor government for a Liberal government.

The reason for any disinclination on the part of the Liberals and Laborites to quarrel in the House of Commons at this juncture may reasonably be traced to the fate which they both met in the fall of 1924. On that occasion they split on the famous Campbell sedition prosecution case, Mr. MacDonald refusing a resolution suggested to him by Mr. Asquith, and the result was five years in opposition for both anti-Conservative parties. And it is pretty obvious from the trend of events—the results of the recent municipal elections show which way the political wind is blowing—that for the Liberals to contribute toward the defeat of the MacDonald government would be just like handing the reins of office to Mr. Baldwin on a silver platter. Mr. Lloyd George, of course, sees this very large writing on the wall and therefore refuses, as he told his "war council" to-day, to jump through the window until he has tested the security of the place upon which he would land.

There is more in this than appears on the surface. Admittedly, the hand of the practical politician after tactical advantage is plainly visible, but it is safe to say that part of the price of Mr. Lloyd George's support of the government will be the inclusion of some of the more important Liberal policies. In that event, and in the event of their adoption proving a success, the country would benefit and his party would have a stronger platform upon which to appeal to the electorate when the time comes. Apparently this is the ground Mr. Lloyd George wants to be sure is under the window before he jumps.

On this particular feature of the British political situation, incidentally, The Manitoba Free Press observes that there will be a dissolution at the choice of the Laborites and the Liberals, "not at the will of Mr. Baldwin or Mr. Churchill; and there will be a measure of co-operation, facilitated perhaps by an improvement of the electoral law, at the next election." As our Winnipeg contemporary says, "under these conditions the victory for Mr. Baldwin and his policy might be indefinitely postponed, since to win a clear majority of the votes would be necessary." In the last three elections the combined Liberal-Labor vote was much greater than that of the Conservatives. The figures follow:

	Conservative	Liberal-Labor
1923:	6,731,453	9,478,312
1924:	8,545,929	9,172,029
1929:	8,834,161	14,157,488

In each case the figures include those of uncontested constituencies, and it will be observed that the Conservative strength from the point of view of votes polled showed very little gain in 1929 over 1924, while the Liberal-Labor forces obviously drew the greater part of their increased support from the newly-enfranchised young women. Under a system of proportional representation, such as Mr. Lloyd George is reported to have got Mr. MacDonald to promise the Liberal party, the distribution of parties in the House would be considerably different. Under a "perfect" system of P.P., we are told, the present House would be composed of 237 Conservatives, 227 Laborites, 146 Liberals, and five others—not much consolation for Mr. Baldwin, but of much significance to Mr. Lloyd George.

AN END OF PESSIMISM

THE UNIVERSE IS ON ITS WAY TO EXtinction, and there is no remote possibility that the process can be halted. So says Sir James Jeans, secretary of the British Royal Society, in the recently-issued annual report of the Smithsonian Institution.

This, of course, is far from being the first time that a scientist of international reputation has made this statement. The thing has been said, now and again, for a full century, and most literate people are thoroughly familiar with the fact. The interesting thing in this case is the way it serves to underline the profound shift in intellectual attitudes that is taking place in the world.

When scientists first began to analyze the material world, to estimate its age and to make speculations about the length of time that remained to it, they engendered a great wave of pessimism. It was felt, by thoughtful people, that these speculations and analyses had banished God from the skies and hope from the human breast. The concept of a soulless mechanistic universe, far from being new, came into popularity a generation or two ago; and it was chiefly the work of the scientists that was responsible.

That attitude has colored human activities for a considerable time. It has been especially important in literature. Our highest honors are reserved for men who assure us that man is an unimportant accident, beset by inscrutable natural forces that frustrate his every desire. It has been fashionable, in the intellectual world, to be a deep-dyed pessimist.

But consider, now, this fact: Sir James Jeans, quoted above, is not only one of the world's ranking men of science; he is also one of the leaders in a spirited revolt against this dark-hued mechanistic theory. He sees the material world going down to decay and death, as did his predecessors; but he does not draw the same lesson from the spectacle.

Probably a new set of values is being brought into the world. The set under which we have lived during the last few decades has proven woefully inadequate. Our pessimism has not sustained us. Sir James is only one of a number of men who are pointing the way to a new and less gloomy outlook.

A newspaper reporter shot at the Premier of Spain. Probably another case of a politician claiming he was misreported.

While carelessness with guns is dangerous, it is not nearly as much so as carelessness with motor cars. One fool with a motor vehicle is more of a menace to society than an army of would-be nimrods who do not know one end of a gun from the other.

A WHEAT QUOTA
The Kingston Whig-Standard

Once the quota system is adopted, however, Canada and Australia may be expected to bring all the pressure they can for a steady increase in their allotment. This will hit the American producers hard, if the system works; but that is something yet to be demonstrated.

THE BIG FIGHT
The Detroit News

If the Tariff Commission stand against tariff selfishness and is minded to rectify abuses due to the sky-high tariffs in the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act, it will quiet tariff agitation and assure an era of political peace on the subject. If not, the political fight for another general tariff revision will start at once and continue several years.

A THOUGHT

For the poor always ye have with you.—John xii 8.
And plenty makes us poor.—Dryden.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

The Victoria Daily Times, December 5, 1905

There is every reason to believe that two well-known local associations will soon take active steps towards establishing more modern and extensive headquarters. Both the Y.M.C.A. and J.B.A.A. directors have in mind the constructing of new buildings, and it all depends upon the prosperity of these institutions during the ensuing year as to how soon their object will be attained.

So crowded was the caucus room, Parliament Buildings, last evening on the occasion of the illustrated lecture on whale life and whaling by Prof. Prince, Dominion Fisheries Commissioner, that many were unable to obtain seats, and the space outside the entrance for some feet back was thronged with eager listeners.

Following in the wake of some of the recent heavy blows encountered by shipping off the Oregon and Washington coast comes a trail of wreckage drifting into the Vancouver Island coast in the vicinity of Carmanah Point. As mariners are well aware this is a part of the coast that is frequently strewn with wreckage at this time of year, or a little later in the winter, and of much that is cast up little can be identified.

R.M.S. Empress of India passed Carmanah at 10.40 o'clock to-day, inward bound from the Orient.

Loose Ends

The little girl next door prepares in earnest for her favorite relative—On a magnificent scale—Refusing to hear of economy—But nevertheless sacrificing herself for the poor.

By H. B.W.

THE LITTLE girl from next door, as I think I told you the other night, has been getting ready for Christmas; and thereby hangs a tale rich in human nature when it is young and fresh. It took some time to persuade the little girl next door that Santa Claus was coming to her house, but once having grasped the idea, she developed it to remarkable proportions. At first, as I said before, she expected Aunty Glaws, as she calls him (having mistaken his sex) to bring only crackers, oranges, nuts, candies, bananas and tomatoes, a curious combination and rather alarming gastronomically. Later on, she saw a toy washboard and wringer for dolls' clothes at the house of Baby Louise down the road, and became so intrigued with these articles that she informed us next day that Aunty Glaws was going to bring her a "weenty teenty little winger." This, with the eatables mentioned, was all she seemed to want for Christmas, and her parents rejoiced that they would be able to satisfy all her wants at small expense to themselves.

* * *

THEN, ALAS, the lady next door (being innocent of human nature when it is young and fresh) made a fatal mistake. She took the little girl downtown the other day in her white fur coat, which makes her look precisely like a little roly-poly polar bear cub. While they were in town the little girl caught sight of a toyshop window, and until her mother dragged her away bodily she gazed and gazed, and, like the poet, little thought what wealth to her the show had brought. But it threatened the young man next door with bankruptcy.

* * *

WHAT THE little girl saw in the toyshop window sent her home with her big brown eyes fairly popping out of her head and her vocabulary of about fifty words entirely exhausted. No longer did she talk of crackers, oranges, nuts, candies, bananas and tomatoes. She came over here especially to tell me that Aunty Glaws was going to bring her a big doll which says "Waah!" when you lay her on her back; a train which goes around a track and says "Toot, toot!"; an elephant with a tail at both ends; a giraffe (a rigaff, she called it) with its head a long, long way from its middle; a little round red man who, if you push him over, bounces up again with a broad smile; a clown who swings on an iron bar; a brown horse with a cart which, the little girl thought, would be extremely useful and save a great deal of labor in transporting acorns; a street car full of windows and with a motorman at one end; a real automobile which you can sit in and make it move by pedaling with your feet; a set of tiny dishes, including a teapot and a sugar bowl (she stressed the sugar bowl in the evident expectation that her supernatural aunty would fill it with sugar); a live dog with a tail which wags (she saw him in a pet shop) and two black spots on his back; and innumerable other things which I cannot remember, but which she enumerated as rapidly as she could think of them.

* * *

NOW, ALL this threw the young married couple next door into a panic, for, things being what they are, there seemed to be no prospect of Aunty Glaws being able to fill half the little girl's list. The young married couple therefore pondered deeply after the little girl had gone to bed with her battered teddy bear and the confident statement that when she woke up next morning Aunty Glaws would arrive, as she has predicted regularly for a week now. (She soon recovers from her disappointment in the morning, however). Well, the young parents consulted together and the next day they launched their propaganda. The young man, being of a financial turn of mind, tried to explain that Aunty Glaws had been caught short in the stock market and would not be able this Christmas to do everything he would like to do. This did not click. The little girl could not understand the stock market and, confusing it with the public market, where she goes once a week with her mother, suggested that if Aunty were at the market she could easily bring along with the other things a fat chicken and some red apples when she came for Christmas. The young man retired in despair.

* * *

THE YOUNG mother took the case in hand then and explained as well as she could that Santa Claus hadn't enough presents to go around all the little girls. This, too, was futile. The little girl replied that there were plenty of presents. "Lots in toy stores," she said and, recalling what she had seen in the window, she added a yellow jumping-jack and a wooden wheelbarrow to her list.

* * *

FAILING in this strategem, the young mother told the little girl that Aunty Glaws would only come to little girls who were very good, and she doubted that her daughter had been good enough during the year, since she had successively broken an expensive porcelain towel-rack in the bathroom; had frequently lifted the cat by its tail; had pulled three young rosebushes up by the roots; had eaten unnumbered green apples off the trees; had thrown her rubbers into the lily pond; and had poured the salt into the sugar bowl in the sideboard three days running. To all this the little girl gave an indignant and magnificent denial. She said she had been a very very good, weenty, teeny little girl. She said she had helped to wash the dishes (and only broken a few) and besides, had been exemplary in other respects which it is not necessary to discuss here.

* * *

AS A FINAL, crowning appeal, the young mother said that if her child took all the gifts on her list there would be none for the poor little girls of the city. I would like to record that the child immediately decided to have no Christmas at all, that her heart was touched and that she insisted on sacrificing herself on the altar of sweet charity. Alas, I cannot record such things, for she did nothing of the sort. She insisted that her Aunty Glaws would have plenty for everyone, and evidently could not comprehend the phenomenon of poverty in the world. She has not yet realized that there isn't enough of everything for everybody everywhere.

* * *

BUT WHEN the despairing mother insisted at least that she must part with most of her old toys and give them to the Boy Scouts on Quadra Street, opposite the Cathedral, for the little girls who wouldn't have any otherwise. When thus bereft of her favorite toys I am bound to say that the little girl bore it manfully. There was not a whimper out of her—not even when they took the rubber rooster which you inflate through the left foot, the French doll with the red hat and the woolly duck with the single black eye. All these she had loved and fondled this whole year. I imagine their departure was a pretty serious wrench, and she clung to the French doll until the last minute and gave it a final kiss on the place where her face used to be, before she was dropped out of an upstairs window. And she was silent and gloomy most of the way home until she remembered that her mystical aunt was about to bring her a weeny teeny clothes wringer. This cheered her up remarkably, and she has doubled her Aunty Glaws list again.

FAIR TAXES ON LAND WANTED

To the Editor:—Why should we owners of small lots be required to pay on an assessed value of double what the land is worth or would fetch, i.e., $800 for a market value of $400; taxes $40 instead of $30?

Also is it equitable to have to pay full taxes on land unoccupied or even fenced, over which people can make short cuts? One-half rate for such would be fair.

Now that candidates are before us for the City Council we would like to know if any of them are prepared to champion our rights. There are some hundreds of such voters waiting.

SUBURBAN.

249 Wildwood Avenue, Victoria, B.C., December 4, 1930.

A LADY CANDIDATE

To the Editor:—After much persuasion, Mrs. M. J. Roberts, Michigan Street, is allowing her name to be brought before the municipal voters of the city for the position of alderman at the coming election. Mrs. Roberts is an old-time resident of the city, having resided here for more than thirty years, in which time she has seen many ups and downs, having been twice widowed, but withal she has bravely and wisely overcome the hard knocks, and always taken a very keen interest in civic affairs. Few citizens have as wide and intelligent a grasp of civic matters as she, and if elected she is in a position to devote time and ability to assist in the governing of the city wisely and well as much as any alderman can do who has his heart and mind in the work.

Mrs. Robert is keenly interested in women's work for the good of humanity, having for fifteen years been a member and official of the Jubilee Hospital women's auxiliary, at the present time being an officer of that society.

SUPPORTER.

UNEMPLOYMENT

To the Editor:—I think there are a few items that should be brought before the public of Victoria. The unemployed married men, I believe are receiving from two to three days' work a week. The city is employing about fifty single men a week cutting cordword at $2 a cord and $1 a day deducted for board. The average single man makes from $3 to $5 a week clear money. When his week is up he comes into town if he has made $5 he has to pay $3 to his landlady for his room rent. He now has $2 left to live on for the following week, and as the wood camp only takes fifty men at a time, what are the other unemployed single men doing? Not living, but in plain words merely existing. Other single men who, having failed to pass the blood test, are being put to work at Beacon Hill Park, five days a week, receiving the huge sum of $7 or $1.45 a day, while other unfortunate men are receiving meal tickets and have to walk to the Old Men's Home to get their meals. There are many single men in the city to-day who do not know where they are going to get their next meal or where they are going to get a place to sleep. Cannot something be done to help the single man? A little over three weeks to Christmas and the unempolyed are walking around without a dime in their pocket. If the city cannot see their way clear to start some work for the single man, why not try at least and give the single men one week's work before Christmas. At least let him have the chance of earning a few dollars before Christmas.

UNEMPLOYED SINGLE MAN.

TOPAZ AVENUE PARK

To the Editor:—On July 2, 1929, the Victoria City Council set aside by by-law a parcel of land facing on Quadra Street and also on Topaz Avenue for park or playground purposes, same to be known as Topaz Avenue Park property, but no improvement of any kind have been carried out on the property up to the present time.

This district accommodates a rapidly growing number of residents, and does not now have any playground facilities, the nearest playground being at Central Park which does not serve, nor cannot possibly properly serve the northe end of the city, and which is so far removed from this part of the city that parents in the district hesitate to send their children (especially the smaller ones) there to play.

It is noted that considerable expenditures have been and are being made, and are contemplated, in respect of other park areas mainly for the benefit of grown-ups, and it seems only reasonable to suggest that the council make a modest expenditure for the benefit of the children in particular (not the older people) by providing for the grading and surfacing of a small portion of the Topaz Avenue Park property as a first step towards the proper fulfilment of the purposes for which the land was set aside.

With the unemployment conidtions that are facing the city in general surely some of the labor could be used upon this very necessary improvement.

For the benefit of the residents of that district the writer woud state that copies of a petition are on hand at Peacock's Grocery Store, Finlayson Street, and at Napper's Grocery Store, Quadra Street, also at Hillside Pharmacy, 2667 Quadra Street, at which places they can sign same.

This petition for the improvement of the Topaz Avenue Park has been heartily approved and endorsed by the Quadra School Parent-teacher Association.

ADVERTISE IN THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES

PIONEERS TALK OVER INCIDENTS OF EARLY DAYS

Mrs. R. I. Bentley of Victoria and Mrs. H. K. Andrew of Vancouver Reminiscent

Vancouver, Dec. 5.—A total of 130 years in British Columbia is the record of two pioneer women, who, one day recently reminisced over their tea cups at the home of Mrs. George Storey 3060 West Fifth Avenue.

Mrs. Helen K. Andrew, who went to Victoria sixty-five years ago as a little girl of eleven, now makes her home in the city with her daughter, Mrs. Storey.

VICTORIA NATIVE DAUGHTER

Her cousin, Mrs. R. I. Bentley, daughter of the late Rev. Charles Woods, principal of the first boys' school in Victoria, was born in that city sixty-five years ago. She is a frequent visitor here.

Seated before a cheery log fire they recalled days before telephones, street cars, automobiles and electricity had turned the world into a place of bustle and noise. Moving through the tales they told were cheery, courageous, hard-working pioneers, the women making their own bread and candles and vinegar.

UNDER CARE OF BISHOP MILLS

Quite vividly Mrs. Andrew recalled her trip from Ireland to Victoria with her sister in 1865. The little girls were coming out to join their parents, Richard and Ann Woods, who, in 1860 had made the trip via Cape Horn with their two eldest daughters and their delicate baby son. The latter, Edward Woods, is now a husky man living in Salmon Arm, B.C.

Mrs. Andrew and her sister were placed under the care of Bishop Hills, who was returning to Victoria from England with his bride. While the bride wept at leaving her home and friends, the little girls, agog with excitement over the trip, regarded her with amazed wonder. To them it was just a wonderful adventure.

CAME VIA PANAMA

Unlike their parents they made the trip by way of Panama. From England they traveled on a little boat called the Shannon to Jamaica. From there the Solent carried them to Panama.

The queer train, no bigger than a modern street car, which took them across the Isthmus, is still recalled by Mrs. Andrew, who laughingly declared it was so slow the passengers frequently got out and walked behind it.

STUCK IN MUD

Up the Pacific Coast as far as San Francisco they came on the Golden City and then another change was made to the Sierra Nevada, which brought them to Portland.

A muddy little town of only a few houses is Mrs. Andrew's recollection of Portland, and Bishop Hills, who was scheduled to preach while the boat lay in dock, was stuck in the mud on his way to the church.

Richard Woods, Mrs. Andrew's father, was registrar of the court in Victoria.

Both Mrs. Andrew and Mrs. Bentley were pupils at Angela College, where many of the daughters of British Columbia's earliest pioneers were taught manners and their letters at the same time.

ROMANTIC WEDDING

"Little girls were taught to act as though they had only one leg with their feet attached to it in those days. Apparently even anatomy has changed because now little girls certainly have two legs and use them both."

Mrs. Andrew recalled the romantic marriage of her sister in 1868 to the Rev. Mr. Tomlinson, a medical missionary at Naas, above Prince Rupert.

While an Indian canoe, manned by seven natives and with one native woman, waited to take the sixteen-year-old bride and her husband to the north, a formal and quite elaborate wedding ceremony was being performed in the cathedral with eight bridesmaids in attendance. Dean Cridge officiated.

MRS. POOLEY BRIDESMAID

Mrs. Pooley, mother of Hon. R. H. Pooley, was one of the little attendants, as were both Mrs. Andrew and Mrs. Bentley, the latter a little tot of three.

The girl bride, her husband and their natives were nearly murdered by hostile Indians en route to Naas, though the plucky girl never let her family know of the incident until a great many years later. It was an exciting trip altogether and took two weeks.

This and many other tales of early days in British Columbia were recalled by Mrs. Andrews and Mrs. Bentley. Among the incidents which stand out in Mrs. Andrew's mind is the Vancouver fire which she came down from Hastings in a boat to view.

Ladies' Auxiliary F.O.E.—The ladies' auxiliary F.O.E. will hold a silver tea and home cooking and fancy work stall in the Eagles' Hall, Government Street, to-morrow afternoon from 2 o'clock. Pupils of Mrs. Hudson will entertain with dancing, Mrs. Bertuccia being at the piano. Everyone will be welcome.

RADIO COOKING DEMONSTRATED IN NEW YORK

But Static Prevented Popping of Corn; Frozen Light Also Exhibited

New York, Dec. 5.—Radio cooking static made its first public appearance here yesterday. It interfered with popping a bag of corn in the presence of 1,200 diners at a luncheon of the New York Merchants' Association.

Just before the luncheon the radio cookstove was working perfectly, under direction of General Electric Company wizards. A test paper sack of corn, placed between two jars of ice water to make sure there was no warmth in the air, popped perfectly by the heat generated within the kernels by radio.

But at the luncheon in the expectant hush of the audience something went wrong. It was just what might be expected of static. No corn popped.

FROZEN LIGHT

Frozen light, one of the queer new discoveries of science, was also exhibited and worked perfectly.

This light was frozen into the surface of a mineral screen at Schenectady and brought to New York in a bottle of liquid air at 312 degrees below zero.

The screen, lifted up before the diners in darkness, was at first just a black blot. But as it thawed its face burst into all the colors of the rainbow, which chased one another across the surface in luminous billows.

"Mother" Jones Buried in Mount Olive Cemetery

Mount Olive, Ill., Dec. 5.—The last journey of Mary "Mother" Jones, firebrand of unionism, ended as she willed in this little southern Illinois mining community last night.

The special car bearing the body of "Mother" Jones, from Washington, D.C., arrived here shortly before 8 p.m. Hundreds of persons, members of labor organizations in Illinois, were at the station when the train pulled in. Some wept, others bowed their heads in reverence, as the band played "Nearer, My God to Thee."

Woman Renounces Title to Resume U.S. Citizenship

Detroit, Dec. 5.—Lady Amy Harrington, daughter of the late United States Senator James McMillan of Michigan and widow of the late Sir John Harrington, a colonel in the British army, yesterday renounced her title to resume her United States citizenship.

Although born in Detroit, she lost her United States citizenship upon her marriage in 1906.

Young Cooks In Novel Contest At Church Sale

Many young cooks participated in the novel contest staged in connection with the very successful Christmas sale of work held yesterday afternoon in the Bishop Cridge Memorial Hall under the auspices of the Church of Our Lord, Free Church of England (R.E.). In the cooking contest for girls under fifteen years of age, the first prize for plain cake was won by Miss Margaret Hughes; hot biscuits, Miss Kathleen Bowden; under twelve years, plain cake, Miss Aimee O. Heddle; second, Miss Margaret Barnes; hot biscuits, Miss Aimee O. Heddle and Miss Janet Marrion.

Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., formally opened the bazaar, paying tribute to the organizers and wishing them every success. Mrs. Hayward, who accompanied him, was presented with a beautiful bouquet by little Edith Mary Helmcken. The reception committee included Mrs. E. Heddle, president, Rev. A. de B. and Mrs. Owen, Mrs. Cran, Miss L. Macdonald, Mrs. Edith L. Higgins, Mr. T. H. Laundy and Miss Newberry.

A substantial sum was realized by the sale of the attractive wares at the following prettily-decorated stalls: Home-made candy, the Misses Murray, who made all the delicious candy and decorated the stall themselves: Fancy-work, Mrs. Newberry, Mrs. F. Shandley, Mrs. Taylor and Mrs. Zimmerman; plain sewing, Mrs. Pontifex, Mrs. H. ADVERTISE IN THE VICTORIA DAILY TIMES

ELLEN TERRY AFRAID TO MEET BERNARD SHAW

Noted Actress's Letters to Dramatist to Be Published; Long Friendship

New York, Dec. 5.—A deep friendship between George Bernard Shaw and the late Ellen Terry—though they met but once—is revealed in letters which they exchanged and which have been purchased for publication by the Fountain Press.

The New York Times says one of its representatives was permitted to examine the correspondence and make public extracts which reveal a heretofore unsuspected Shaw.

REFUSED TO MEET HIM

The dramatist often expressed a desire to meet the actress, the correspondence showed, but Miss Terry persistently refused, fearing, as she expressed it, that he would be disillusioned at seeing her off the stage and finding her "such an old thing."

"I'm so plain when I'm off stage and rouge becomes me and I know I shall have to take to it if I consent to let you see me," she wrote him in the '90's, "and it would be so pathetic, for not even the rouge would make you admire me away from the stage. O, what a curse it is to be an actress!"

FIRST MET IN 1905

The letters revealed that on more than one occasion she almost went to meet him herself, but invariably lost her courage, and so Shaw was not permitted to see a woman whom he frankly adored, except across the footlights, until 1905. At that time he met her briefly when she prepared to play "Lady Cecily" in his "Captain Brassbound's Conversion" and then they met only as actress and author.

The collection comprises more than 100 letters by Shaw to Miss Terry and many more than that from her to him. The collection indicates that many of Shaw's letters probably were destroyed by the actress.

The Times said that permission to publish the letters was obtained only after years of intricate negotiations with Shaw and Miss Terry's heirs.

BOOKS ONE CAN CHOOSE AT CHRISTMAS TIME

The poignant disappointment of a ten-year-old-boy who once opened a book from an adoring relative and found, "Sonny Boy Goes to the City," is an ever recurrent memory at the Christmas season. During this period of planning and buying it is essential that the purchaser know what she wants. The eager and willing helpers, perchance in the book departments as in all other, may have little or no idea of what would interest a child af any particular age.

Miss H. B. is forestalling such a possibility. She writes: "I wonder if you could suggest the type of book which would appeal to a lively boy of four years. I want to give my nephew a book for Christmas and haven't the slightest idea what would appeal to him. I have read no other column which offers mothers such practical suggestions as yours."

BOOK LIST AVAILABLE

How nice of you to tell me that. I am hoping that you, and mothers as well, will be interested in the book list I have just compiled which contains all the newer books I have been able to read and decide upon, and lots of the old favorites. Send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request for it, please. With this list you may go armed to the store and know beforehand from which group to select the books that will probably suit children at the age level you mention. Naturally a knowledge of the individual child and his tastes would simplify the selection.

Here are some books with which you can't go wrong: There are a number of the Happy Hour books but especially for a boy are: "The Delivery Man," "The Policeman," "The Engineer," "The Fireman," by Charlotte Kuh (Macmillan Co., 50 cents each). "Fingerfins," by Wilfred S. Bronson (Macmilan, $2.00) is the exciting story of a real fish drawn and photographed by the author when on an expedition to the Sargasso seas. "I spend the Summer," by James S. Tippett (Harper Bros., 75 cents). "The Little Monkey With the Sad Face," by Carrie Jacobs (The John Day Co., $1.50).

MORE BOOKS

"Miki," written and illustrated by Maud and Miska Petersham (Doubleday, $2.00), is one of the most charming of books, and is interesting for the adult who must read it, as well. An old favorite is "Chimney Corner Tales," by Veronica S. Hutchinson (Minton, $2.50). "Pepper and Salt," by Howard Pyle (Harper, $2.00). If one wants a savory story that is different, I would suggest either "Picture Tales from the Japanese," by Chiyono Sugimoto, or "Picture Tales from the Russian," by Valeryl Carrick (Stokes, each $1.25).

Books for children in a few short centuries have become so numerous, so lovely, and so entertaining that no little boy or girl of to-day should be denied a liberal diet of them.

To-morrow: "Older Child Can Help Himself in Correcting Thumb-sucking."

Woman Cabinet Minister Has Country Retreat

Southborough, Eng., Dec. 5.—Standing aloof on a windy common here is a little new house, with blue and white curtains, a garden and neat fence and gate.

There on week-ends comes a small, brown-eyed woman, sometimes carrying a homely basket, sometimes a most official-looking portfolio. She seldom speaks to anyone but the children, and none of her neighbors bother her.

She is Margaret Bondfield, Minister of Labor, and the cottage is her retreat from the cares of office. There she can work unannoyed even by friendly visitors.

CLUB TO SING "THE DESERT"

Arion Club Number to Have Orchestra Accompaniment Miss Agnew as Narrator

The concert to be given in the Royal Victoria Theatre on the evening of Monday, December 8, by the Arion Club male voice club of Victoria bids fair to be the outstanding musical event of the season. In addition to this being the one hundredth regular concert by the club, it will also open the thirty-ninth season of its musical activity in the city.

Special souvenir programmes are now in preparation. The concert is under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency the Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General of Canada, and will be attended by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and the Mayor of Victoria, who have signified their willingness to make short addresses during the intermission.

The main feature of the programme is the rendition of "The Desert," by Felecien David, to be given by the full choir of sixty voices and an orchestra of picked musicians, numbering twenty-two. This work is a wonderfully descriptive composition both for voices and instrumentalists, and the tenor solos will be taken by George Guy, the narrator being Miss Agnew.

Tickets are being sold very rapidly, and it is certain a full house will greet the Arion Club on this special occasion.

TEA TASTER HAS LARGE SALARY

London Girl Paid $5,000 Year For Judging "Cup That Cheers"

London, Dec. 5.—For tasting tea day in and day out, Margaret Irving is paid $5,000 a year. Head taster for a large produce market section, Miss Irving's word is taken as final on judging values of millions of dollars' worth of tea imported by her firm each year.

"From the examination of the leaf," she says, "one can judge the freshness of tea, and as a rule say exactly where it was grown. But this is not sufficient. It has to be tasted as well."

Miss Irving turned to a long counter on which were arranged many tiny teapots and cups. "Of each sample of tea, a quantity equal to the weight of a dime is measured out and dropped into one of these pots. Then boiling water is added. The tea is left to brew for six minutes. When the six minutes are up this little clock strikes. It was made especially for the purpose. Then comes the tasting. I do not swallow the tea—I examine the scalded tea leaves. A bright copper color is a sign of good tea."

Child's Requests Enumerated By Welfare Officer

Washington, Dec. 5.—What are the rights of every child?

Katherine F. Lenroot, assistant chief of the U.S. Federal Children's Bureau, gives this answer after studying codes of all countries on the inborn prerogatives of childhood. She has found five points in common:

The right to receive just consideration regardless of race, birth, economic or social position.

The right to security in family relationship.

The right to suitable material and spiritual conditions in his home.

The right to the closest possible approximation of normal home life when consigned to special care by reason of physical or social conditions.

The right to complete freedom from any attitude of stigma on the part of the public.

Fine Programme For Dowell-Cook Recital To-night

Judging from the sale of tickets and an unusual interest created, Mrs. Arthur Dowell, lyric soprano, and Phyllis Cook, pianiste, will be greeted this evening by a large audience at the Shrine Auditorium in their joint recital. A programme of high musical values has been selected.

Among Mrs. Dowell's numbers are two by Handel; "With Verdure Clad," by Haydn; Mozart's "Alleujah"; "Elsa's Dream," from Wagner's "Lohengrin"; numbers of Gretchaninow, Curran, Bennett and the air "One Fine Day," from "Madam Butterfly." Miss Cook will play Beethoven's "Sonata in A flat"; Chopin's "Fantaie Impromptu, in C sharp minor"; a Rondo by Mozart and a "Romance," by Schumann. The recital begins at 8.30 o'clock.

Missionary Is In Good Health After Release

A dispatch to the British Legation said a rescue party would escort them from Paotowchen to Peiping to-morrow.

AROUND THE TOWN with Mistress Pepys

Tuesday, 2nd.

'Tis, in sooth, pleasant to wake up to such a sunshiny day. Should be well content to work in my garden, but must not let the spring-like weather make me forget there is a long list of Christmas gifts to be bought. 'Tis well I know just where to go for them.

First come Peter and Moll. They love books, and well do I remember the hours I poured enthralled over "Chatterbox," at Moll's age. At Hibben's find complete stock of annuals, all the old favorites, as well as the new: Chums, Pip and Squeak, Puck's, Young Canada, Play Box and Blackie's Annuals and many others. Choose the Scout Annual for Peter. A gay display of Christmas crackers of British make, reminds me to stock up on these essentials to Christmas gaiety. All have different novelties, caps and mottoes.

Cross over and down to Robertson's, Ltd. Two little toddlers demand their mother look at all the irresistible wee animals in the windows. Continental toys they are from Italy, Switzerland and other distant lands; for the tiniest dolls—unbreakable decorated tea sets on trays, 40 cents and 80 cents; porcelain dogs, quaint brownies, elves and hand-carved wooden toys; minute accessories to add to the charm of a doll's house or restock a farm yard—toys from 10 cents up. Myself, covet that George IIIrd Spode dinner service in the window.

Speaking of windows, must ask Mistress Castlemaine if she has seen the new display in the windows of the Marionette. Such an array of quite unusual gifts, specials, reasonably priced, unique gifts to suit every taste and purse. Wander within and am amazed to find what 50 cents will buy. Stroll through into little room at back, where find stuffed animals and uncommon toys. Fireside cats there be and—dogs, your favorite breeds—so life-like, one almost wants to caress them.

"There'll be driftwood powder
To burn on logs
And a shaggy rug for a couple of dogs,
Boreas, winner of prize and cup,
And Mickey, a loveable gutter pup,
Thoroughbreds, both of them, right from the start,
The one by breeding and the other by heart."

Do recall a gay Christmas I spent in a New York suburb. Thousands of lights, twinkling from living outdoor Christmas trees bespoke cheer and good will to all. Lawns and homes transformed into a fairyland of light made a bright, friendly Yuletide season. The lovely gardens of Victoria have far finer Christmas trees and I wonder, not a little, that our townsfolk do not adopt this pretty custom of lighting up their evergreens. Have already ordered my set of lights from the Murphy Electric Co.

'Tis astounding how quickly an interesting shoppe becomes popular. It did not take the townsfolk long to find the Combetree on the 2nd floor of the Kresge Building. To-day the delicate fragrance of Pot-pourri perfumed the air; 'tis but 25 cents per half pint. The bridge player will love the gay, red felt covered, match boxes with clubs and other suits in black, at 25 cents each. One should go up to see the artistic little Japanese trees—silk scarves, handkerchiefs, bags, etc., there be in gay profusion.

With all the anticipation born of the love of sport, Samuel and I did away to the Bull's Eye Shooting Gallery, there to engage in a sport beloved of the English since the days of Robin Hood. Archery doth call for sportsmanship and skill and it gives in return genuine pleasure and amusement. 'Tis goode exercise and methinks a pleasant way to keep a slender figure! Samuel intrigued with rifle shooting there.

Come blinking out of the brightness of the shooting gallery into a townie shrouded in fog. Grope our way to Pegasus and breathe a sigh of relief to sink down into her luxurious cushions. What a feeling of security it gives us on such a foggy night to know that our new Ford will take us safely home. Its four-wheel brakes act so quickly and effectively and its shatterless glass windshield is an added protection. Have had Pegasus but a short time, yet could not wish for a better car in performance, appearance and comfort. Methinks the new Ford Towne Sedan is, in truth, moderately priced at $996.

Samuel did tell me on arriving home that he must shortly go up Island on a business trip and do feel vexed thereat. Somewhat appeased, however, when I learn there will be no trouble with the furnace—he doth tell me of a wonderful automatic coal burner—The Iron Fireman—which Messrs. Kingham, Gillespie & Co. will install for us next week. This Iron Fireman does all the hard work and keeps the house at just the desired temperature both day and night. It doth, in truth, give greater home comfort, and that with absolute safety. Samuel is mightily pleased that it burns the small, cheap coal—and 'twill reduce our fuel bill. 'Tis safe, simple and economical.

Mightily pleased recently to see an important Canadian insurance company quoting in The Times from the diary of my famous ancestor. 'Twas a good likeness of him they used, in very truth.

SAANICH ASKED FOR $70,000 TO BUILD SCHOOL

Frame Stucco High School For 400 Students to Cost $87,675

Trustees Drop Plan For Referendum on Site as Unworkable

Ratepayers of Saanich will be asked by the School Board to approve erection of a frame stucco high school of twelve rooms and an auditorium, costing $70,000, on a site to be selected by the Board after the by-law is approved. Grants from the provincial treasury, based on one-fourth the cost of the building and one-half the cost of equipment, are expected to amount to $17,675.

The aggregate cost of the school, fully equipped, was estimated yesterday evening by the Board at $83,350 and an issue of bonds for $70,000, supplemented by anticipated provincial grants, would provide $87,675, the difference being an allowance for safety.

The Board was unanimous in support of a motion to ask the municipal council for $70,000, which was moved by Trustee Hobbs and seconded by Trustee Fyvie.

PLANS REVIVED

The Board revived the plans considered in February, 1929, for construction of a new high school to accommodate 400 students.

Trustees discussed the merits of brick, hollow tile and frame stucco, and recalled advice, tendered last year by Department of Education experts, that changes in educational methods made permanent construction inadvisable.

The proposals revived from last year contemplated an investment approaching $100,000, but this cost has been reduced in the intervening twenty months by $6,650, much equipment having been purchased for the temporary high school at Tolmie School.

SITE IS PROBLEM

The revived estimates allowed $4,000 for purchase of a site, and much debate took place as to the advisability of submitting the location to the voters by way of a referendum. Trustees Briggs and Tomes favored a vote being taken. Trustees Hobbs and Fyvie objected that the Board had to shoulder the responsibility of choosing the site, that their choice could not be controlled by the result of a plebescite and that the Board would have no money for the purpose of buying land until the ratepayers had approved the issuance of the debentures.

Each trustee asserted his object was to secure powerful support at the polls for the by-law, opinion dividing as to whether immediate selection of a site, would result in disappointed districts voting against the by-law.

The Board will ask the Council to hold a special meeting for discussion of the plans favored by the trustees, and Trustees Briggs and Hobbs were appointed a committee to interview Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe and obtain his approval and support.

DOUGLAS HOUSE, TRAINING SCHOOL FOR POLICE, OPEN

First Provincial Institution of Type Is Established in Victoria

With ten constables from different sections of the province constituting the first class, Douglas House, the first Provincial Police training school permanently established in Canada, was formally opened yesterday afernoon by Attorney-General Pooley.

Col. J. H. McMullin, commissioner of the force, and Inspector T. W. S. Parsons, head of the Victoria division, attended the opening. Inspector Parsons and Corporal S. Cline are instructors for the class which is held in a large two-story structure on Superior Street, at the rear of police headquarters.

An eight-week course for the class is planned with general instruction in most lines of police work. Staff-Sergeant R. Peachey, of the C.I.D., and Constable H. Hughes, physical instructor, will take part in the instruction work.

RESPONSIBILITIES

At the formal opening, the Attorney-General drew attention to the responsibility resting with policemen.

"You, no less than I, are responsible for the maintenance of law and order in the province," he said. "That is a responsibility to the public, and one that is not at all times easily discharged. The nucleus of this school was started some years ago, with the idea of giving young men entering the force a thorough grounding in police work.

"A policeman's life is not an easy one, and it is only fair that young officers should be as fully prepared for their responsible duties as possible. We take great pride in the British Columbia police. Colonel McMullin has his whole heart in the work, and we want, and intend, to make it the best force, bar none, in Canada.

"May I add that courtesy is one of the first lessons to be learned by a police officer, or any other public servant. It will be your duty to be courteous at times under extremely trying circumstances, but remember that your services, if carried out in that way, will be far more appreciated by the public, by your officers and by all concerned," he concluded.

LEGATION CHANGES

Ottawa, Dec. 5.—Hon. I. M. Tokugawa, Japanese Minister to Canada, announced yesterday that C. Iwanaga, now Vice-Consul at Vancouver, would come to Ottawa early in the new year to assume the post of attache to the Legation, rendered vacant by the return of T. Kohri to Tokio some months ago. Mr. Iwanaga will wait in Vancouver until the arrival of his successor there, Mr. Nomomura, now Vice-Consul at Hongkong, China. J. Nakayma, now attached to the Japanese Foreign Office staff at Tokio, will come to Ottawa shortly as chancellor to take the position of K. Yokoh, who has been recalled to Tokio.

Progressive Education Rebuilding Germany On Firm Base, Critic Says

Revolution in School System Following War Re-establishing State, Avers C. B. Wood, M.A., of Normal School, in Address Before New Education Fellowship; Private Schools Abolished; Sketches Growth of Movement to Give Student Maturity of Outlook.

A new system of education which sprang into being following the post-war revolution in Germany, after over thirty years' preparation by educationists of that nation, was outlined by C. B. Wobd, M.A., of the Normal School, in one of the most lucid and instructive addresses ever given before the New Education Fellowship at Victoria College yesterday evening. He showed the different manners in which the Teutons had approached the education system, dealing with the League of Youth and teachers groups which had conceived the present system. Regimentation, so popular in Germany during the days preceding the war, had collapsed to be replaced by a system which gave the student a great liberty. It developed a mature understanding in the youth of the country and enlarged the field of opportunity for those of moderate means, he declared. These were among the outstanding points he had noted during his survey of German education early this year.

As one of the most outstanding innovations, he referred to the excursions conducted by different classes to various parts of the country, and sometimes as far as foreign nations These not only widened the outlook of the pupil, but tended to unify more strongly the country itself, he declared.

Along similar lines were the country houses, maintained by schools, and the hostels for itinerant students who were enabled to glean an insight through them into the customs and of different peoples throughout the nation.

GERMAN CULTURE GROWING

Another feature of exceptional note was the increased interest being taken in German culture and the breaking down of the scientifically-analytical process of education which the outside world imagined Germany to be practising, the speaker stated.

"More than a century ago, when the German states were in dire extremities as a result of the Napoleonic wars, patriots, notable among whom was Fichte, called upon the nation to renew its strength through better education," he stated. "By developing the cultural heritage of the Germanic peoples they saw the possibility of creating a unified nation, firmly rooted in native traditions, without the veneer of imported culture which served to alienate the ruling class from the rest of the population," Mr. Wood continued.

Built on a philosophy of high idealism, the practical results of their efforts included the establishment of the common school and the introduction of the advanced ideas of the Swiss reformer, Pestalozzi.

After a conservative reaction, which checked the growth of the system, the schools became stereotyped instruments used to make the people loyal subjects content to enjoy the benefits of a paternalistic state, he continued.

As a result the system was wonderfully successful from a point of view of discipline, but deadened any ambition in the student before the war, Mr. Wood maintained.

BUILDING NEW GERMANY

"Once more, in a period of dire necessity, when no gleam of hope came even to the most courageous to predict either political or economic restoration, the Germans are finding strength and solace in the treasures of Teutonic civilization,' he declared, adding that they were building up a new Germany on what was distinctive and of value to them.

In the intellectual field, they were probably unparalleled in the world today, the speaker stated.

"The school is feeling the full force of this thought current. It realizes its strategic position in spreading the gospel of the new national idealism. Everywhere the greatest attention is given to the study and appreciation of the home environment, of the German language, music, art and customs; everywhere the spirit of self-sacrificing effort prevails."

The German, naturally philosophical, was no longer bound to materialism, he was becoming a great idealist, Mr. Wood maintained. The very attitude of the nation to psychology had changed. The mind was no longer considered a mechanism, but a spiritual force, he declared.

"Psychology has taken on a social bent in studying the spirit of inner unity among like-minded people working toward common goals. This unity finds practical expression in the working groups which exist everywhere from the earliest grades up through to adult life," he stated.

WORKING GROUPS

Referring to the activities of the different grades, the speaker showed how these bodies worked. Students met freely under the informal guidance of their teachers to discuss problems, while teachers themselves banded into groups to consider difficulties in their particular craft.

Through this collective enterprise, the German people were working out their own destinies and were developing a new spirit to replace that of the autocratic government, Mr. Wood averred.

In some detail he sketched the beginning of this new attitude, showing that it was deeply rooted in the past, and had been supported by progressive elements in the country for many years.

He spoke of the Youth Movement, a revolt on the part of adolescents against the restrictions and inhumanity of the old school systems and the social order. This had started in 1899 when a group of students on the suburb of Berlin disregarded convention and started a campaign of walking tours which brought them into contact with the right atmosphere for the study of Germanic culture and custom.

This group, "Wanderbirds," gradually extended their excursions and instituted a series of "nests" where they found shelter for the night. These enabled them to travel and enjoy holidays at little expense.

The second phase of the movement he traced to the incident in October, 1913, when another group, Free Germans, gathered on a hill top near Kassel in protest against a patriotic summons of the Kaiser to the young men to meet at Leipsig in commemoration of the Great Napoleonic battle. The meeting was a genuine turning point in German history, he declared, since it determined the right of the nation's youth to shape their own lives.

IMPEDED BY WAR

The movement was considerably impeded by the Great War, but continued with added impetus at its conclusion, Mr. Wood said. In 1919 at the Federal Conference at Weimer, several fundamental educational principles were included in the new German constitution.

Included in the reforms was a move which made the secondary schools, formerly the exclusive privilege of the official classes, available to all, on the basis of ability.

While the land was still committed to the plan of providing a number of different types of secondary schools, each built around a single cultural ideal, the private preparatory school had been abolished by the constitution. In the public schools the best pupils were selected at the age of ten, regardless of social standing, for secondary schools, he declared. Moreover, he continued, it permitted a student to enter a secondary school after he had passed the age of ten, the deadline under the old system.

Many types of secondary schools, including the classical gymnasium and several others specializing in various branches of learning, were open to both city and rural students.

COMMON GOAL

All schools led to the one goal, the maturity certificate, corresponding to the matriculation award in Canada, Mr. Wood stated. This gave them admittance to any university in Germany, he added. Examinations conducted for the certificates were held under a board which included some at least of the students teachers, who worked in conjunction with the state department. Tests themselves were considered merely as formal steps in the school life of the pupil.

In the secondary schools, although there was a certain curriculum, the timetables and courses of study were left a great deal to the judisdiction of the staff.

Not only the academic side, but the physical, social and esthetic life of the pupils were cared for, Mr. Wood said, adding that technical and trade schools were open to those who did not wish to continue with higher education. In all, part time schooling was compulsory after the student had passed his fourteenth birthday.

At some length Mr. Wood described the popular excursions conducted by the different classes, showing that apart from the healthy amusement gained from them, they served a definite part in the studies of the young boys and girls, enabling them to understand better the activities of communities different from their own.

Country homes, supported by educational authorities, students' parents and the students themselves, enabled the school children to enjoy the benefits of the country for a certain period of the year, and coupled the amusements of vacation with the fundamental teachings of the classroom.

TRIBUTE TO TEACHERS

The speaker paid tribute to the manner in which the elementary grades were taught, showing that the teacher frequently impressed the core of his lesson on the pupils in a manner which made them learn the objectives without realizing that they were working. He also spoke of the process known as activity instruction, by which the child learned a thing by doing it.

The chief aim of the system was to teach the student how to use the tools of learning independently, he added.

"German teachers, as a class, are far more highly professionalized than ours," Mr. Wood declared, giving several illustrations of the manner in which they presided over their charges and performed their duties.

Dealing with the training of teachers, he showed that in former days those in charge of secondary school classes were given long and rigorous courses calculated to make them broad-minded men capable of giving a good education to the elite of the land.

The commons school teachers were not given the advantage of this training, but were taken from the ranks of those whom they intended to teach, lest further education should imbue them with a liberalism which might have infected the subject classes.

ALL CHANGED

Following the war the states realized the injustice of this and set about giving the teachers a liberal education. Small enrollments and an abundance of teachers at the close of the conflict gave the state a chance to remedy former evils and permitted it to institute a fine course for the training of instructors, the speaker said. Although the needs were not yet met, they had been reduced considerably since the advent of the new system, he added, saying university training was being given to prospective teachers at the present time. The number wishing to enter the profession made it possible for those in charge of the schools to select only those most suited for the work, and consequently raised the standard of efficiency, he noted.

In some detail, Mr. Wood sketched the training of teachers in various states, before drawing his general conclusions.

"We have much to learn from Germany and she is disposed to give freely of whatever she has. She is also most anxious to learn from us and with us. It is very certain that if we are to hope to compete with her in the realm of intellect, we must not only know what she is doing, but we must be prepared to devote ourselves with similar thoroughness and determination to the tasks which lie before us," he stated.

REBUILDING NATION

Quoting from J. J. Findlay of Manchester, he concluded by showing the faith the Germans were showing in their educational systems in the field of re-establishment of the nation. Learning, science and art was receiving the devotion of many of the best

AMOS 'N' ANDY FILM CLOSING SUCCESSFUL LOCAL RUN TO-NIGHT

Bringing to a close one of the most successful local engagements of any motion picture in history, "Check and Double Check," feature comedy starring Amos 'n' Andy, will complete its record-breaking run at the Dominion Theatre to-day.

The production, introducing the famous radio team to picture audiences for the first time, has attracted large crowds throughout its showing and audiences have voted it one of the most amusing shows of all time. The story and situations were developed entirely from the Amos 'n' Andy drama of the air, thus presenting the popular stars as millions have known them on the radio.

ALL-STAR CAST IN STORY OF HAVANA HERE AT CAPITOL

Packed with drama, thrills and delicious comedy, and produced on a lavish scale, "Her Man," a Pathe picture featuring Helen Twelvetrees, Marjorie Rambeau, Phillips Holmes, Ricardo Cortez, James Gleason and Franklyn Pangborn, was presented with splendid success at the Capitol Theatre yesterday and continues for the rest of the week.

This is a tremendous story of the slums of Havana and the regeneration of a young woman through the power of love. Miss Twelvetrees has perhaps the best role of her career as Frankie, a dance hall habitue, who until she meets "Her Man" is the pliant tool of Johnnie, a rascally knife-throwing bounder finely portrayed by Ricardo Cortez. Dan, a sailor who salvages the soul of Frankie and wins her love is artistically presented by Phillips Holmes, a young player of stellar ability. James Gleason as a mirthful wise-cracking sailor, and Franklyn Pangborn, provide many laughs.

HAROLD LLOYD'S NEW COMEDY OPENS HERE TO-MORROW EVENING

For the first time in seven years, Harold Lloyd will be seen in a motion picture of sky-scraper thrills when "Feet First" opens at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, at the Dominion Theatre for a six-day run.

In 1924 this bespectacled king of comedy created a sensation in screendom when he released "Safety Last." The dangers encountered by Lloyd in that one forced him to resolve never to make another of that dare-devil type.

He lived up to that promise to himself—and the insurance companies—until he developed an idea that was so promising from a thrill angle that he closed his eyes to his own resolution to keep forever more off the sides and cornices or buildings.

That "Feet First" has sensational thrills which exceed those of "Safety Last" was evidenced recently when this picture was shown to audiences in the suburbs of Los Angeles.

CHARLES WINNINGER AND BLANCHE RING COMING NEXT WEEK

Charles Winninger portrays the lovable old man in Rube Goldberg's first full length, audible screen story, "Soup to Nuts." He is the former husband of Blanche Ring and was co-featured with her for years on the legitimate stage. "Soup to Nuts" is a Fox Movietone comedy directed by Benjamin Stoloff. It opens at the Playhouse Theatre beginning next week.

WILLIAM POWELL IN ITALIAN ROLE NOW AT THE COLUMBIA

William Powell speaks with an Italian accent throughout the all-talking picture of backstage, "Behind the Make-up," which is at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

Since Powell spent nine months in Italy in 1924, six months of which were spent in Florence, in the filming of "Ramola" with Lillian Gish, the peculiarities of the Italian tongue are not strange to him.

To aid him in pronouncing the Italian correctly, Lydia d'Agostino, his Italian instructor, stayed on the set with him. Miss D'Agostino specialized in romance languages at Hunter college, New York, and took a master's degree at Columbia University.

STAGE FAVORITES OF NEW YORK APPEARING IN COLISEUM FEATURE

"Alibi," now on the screen at the Coliseum Theatre, is the first all-talking thriller released by United Artists. Several New York stage favorites, among them Chester Morris, Eleanor Griffith, Harry Stubbs, Regis Toomey and Purnell B. Pratt, are making their film debuts in this underworld thriller.

NAMED AS LEADERS

New York, Dec. 5.—The name of Governors-elect Julius L. Meier of Oregon, and Arthur Seligman of New Mexico, were among those of thirty United States Jews announced yesterday by The American Hebrew as having distinguished themselves outstandingly in public or cultural life and through benefactions in 1930.

EXCELLENT ACTING OF McLEOD PLAYERS HIGHLY COMMENDED

Seldom has a more interesting drama been seen than "The Silent House," which the English Players are presenting at the Royal Victoria Theatre this week. Splendidly acted, magnificently mounted, and with a story packed with thrills, it would be hard to find a better evening's entertainment. One moment full of suspense, the next is full of quaint humor.

Some splendid performances are given by all the chief characters, outstanding being that of Gordon McLeod as the villain, Lilian Christine as the heroine, and Hugh Symington as Ho-Fang, the faithful servant. But each artist in the cast is absolutely fitted to his part. This is the last this season.

JACK HOLT PLAYING LEADING ROLE HERE AT THE PLAYHOUSE

Jack Holt, who is featured in "The Squealer," Columbia's all-talking drama, now showing at Playhouse Theatre, got his first job in pictures by riding a horse off a forty-foot cliff. Holt—who had been cowpunching in Oregon—was on a vacation in San Francisco at the time, but his bank roll had dwindled to two bits. The picture was "Salomy Jane." A dislocated shoulder and a regular picture job were the net results of the leap.

Robin Hood's Adventures

RESCUE OF THE WIDOW'S SONS

Robin Hood and his men wore clothes of Lincoln green. They were skillful with the long bow. Sometimes they carried swords.

UNCLE RAY

The sheriff at Nottingham was their enemy.

"Sooner or later," he declared, "I will have Robin Hood's head."

Robin Hood was a bold fellow, however, and several times disguised himself and walked into Nottingham, even talking with the sheriff.

One day, while he was strolling toward Nottingham, he met an old woman who was very sorrowful.

"What is the matter?" he asked.

"I am a widow," she replied, "and have three sons who are going to be hanged."

"Have they burned down a church, or killed a minister, or robbed defenceless women?"

"No, they have done none of those things; but they have killed the king's fallow deer."

"They should not be hanged for that," said Robin Hood, "and I will try to rescue them."

Robin then went to his stronghold in Sherwood Forest, and formed a plan. Members of his band were to take part in the rescue; but Robin Hood set forth in advance of the rest.

On the way to Nottingham he met an aged pilgrim, and asked him to exchange clothes. The bargain was agreed upon, and Robin gave the old man silver and gold as well.

Hobbling along as if he were a very old man, Robin Hood reached Nottingham and spoke with the sheriff.

3 Bound Men Mounted the Scaffold

"Will you let me be your hangman to-day?" he asked the sheriff.

"Yes, and I will give you thirteen pence for the job."

In a little space, three bound men mounted the scaffold. Robin Hood leaned toward them, and secretly cut the cords which held their arms. Then he blew three blasts on his horn. Quickly racing to the scaffold came twenty men clad in Lincoln green. The king's officers grew fearful and fled.

Thus Robin Hood saved the widow's sons.

"Y" FORMS BOYS' BAND

Young Musicians Showing Talent in New Organization at Local Y.M.C.A.

Entering a new sphere of boys' work activity the Y.M.C.A. has undertaken the organization of a boys' band and has already enrolled between twenty-five and thirty young musicians of the city, it was announced by F. V. Shoemaker, this morning.

Several practices have been held by the new group, which shows promise of developing into one of the best in the younger division of the association.

Under the direction of A. Hodgkins, well-known conductor and trainer of the Victoria Girls' Brass Band, the young boys are showing considerable talent and should prove a distinct asset to the Y.M.C.A. at future public functions. Every Tuesday evening from 8 to 9.30 o'clock the young bandsmen gather in the association and practice.

WILL PLAY AFTER CHRISTMAS

Having been in operation for several weeks, the group is becoming proficient as a band and is expected to make its first public appearance at the Y.M.C.A. Open Night during the Christmas holidays.

On the executive committee are Dick Muirhead, Doug Lane and Cliff Routledge. Bill Chandler, Stan Orrick and Bill Knight have been appointed a special membership committee to look after newcomers wishing to join the group.

Although the instructor, Mr. Hodgkins, has enough members to go ahead with his work, other boys may join on application to the membership committee.

MANY ENTRIES FOR FUR SHOW

Splendid Exhibition Looked For in Vancouver in Connection With Winter Fair

Entries from fur farmers for the fur show to be held at Hastings Park in connection with the winter fair in Vancouver are coming in well, having been received from Merritt, Kamloops, Alta Lake, Nanaimo, Sardis and many local points around Vancouver and New Westminster.

For members of the Canadian National Association there will be a special judge. Geo. Little and E. Towers will act as judges for the B.C. Fox and Fur Farmers Association for all other animals.

A feature of great interest for visitors to the show will be the different kinds of fur-bearing animals bred on the farms in B.C.

Entries so far include silver, cross and blue foxes, mink, marten, fisher and black raccoon. This will be the first time the public has been given the opportunity to see such a show of farm-bred animals in one collection.

EARL BEAUCHAMP EXPRESSES HOPE FOR AUSTRALIA

Commonwealth Will Benefit By Inevitable Swing of Economic Pendulum

Will Tour States Before Resuming Liberal Leadership in House of Lords

Earl Beauchamp, K.C.M.G., Liberal leader in the House of Lords and former Governor of the Commonwealth state of New South Wales, returned to Victoria yesterday evening by the liner Niagara after spending two months reviving his old associations with Australia.

He is now contemplating a tour of the United States to see some of the universities, in which he is particularly interested as the successor of Lord Rosebery as Chancellor of the University of London.

He will proceed direct to San Francisco, and expects to sail from New York in January to resume his place as leader of the Liberal party in the Lords.

It was thirty years ago that Earl Beauchamp first went out to Sydney as Governor of New South Wales.

"I wanted a holiday, and I was eager to see what development had taken place in three decades," said His Lordship when asked the significance of his visit to Australia.

He said it was unfortunate that his visit to Australia should have coincided with the present period of severe trade depression and financial stringency.

He was forced to admire, he said, the courage of the people of Australia, the commercial men and the primary producers, in their long, hard fight with adverse conditions.

PROSPERITY WILL RETURN

"As soon as commodity prices become normal once more in the world's markets, as they must do with the inevitable swing of the economic pendulum, Australia's former prosperity, based on the expanding production of commodities that the world needs, will return," said Earl Beauchamp.

"Experts who are in a position to read the indications given by the barometer of trade have already announced that a slight improvement is already perceptible. A real improvement is forecast early next year."

Australia, he said, had recovered from similar periods of depression in the past and, if she were prepared to meet her difficulties as she had met them before, prosperity would return.

PRICE OF FOOD TAXATION

In touching upon the deliberations of the Imperial Conference, Earl Beauchamp expressed the opinion that manufacturers in the Dominions were most unlikely to make those drastic reductions in their tariffs which would be the price of the taxation of the food in Great Britain.

He took the view that it was out of the question to expect them to do it and deprecated all controversy on the subject. How difficult these things were had been proved by the controversies which had arisen in connection with the argreements between different dominions, he said.

Earl Beauchamp was appointed Governor of New South Wales in 1899, and his recent visit was the first he has made since he left upon the completion of the federation of the Commonwealth.

He expressed himself as having been amazed by the progress which had taken place during the interval.

Immediately following the arrival of the Niagara at her berth yesterday evening, Earl Beauchamp devoted much time to perusal of mail from London.

He was keenly interested in a copy of Hansard giving the text of a speech by his son Viscount Elmley in parliament.

minds in the country where the spirit of the "Vaterland" was still strong. The English expert saw in the Teuton education system forces that would influence Europe more profoundly than any of "the stop-gap contrivances of Locarno or Young Plans." It was time for the rest of the world to examine the facts of the system, he declared.

Preceding his address, Mr. Wood announced that he did not propose to deal with the individualistic "modern" schools, many of which had been tried and had failed in Germany, he said.

The lecture was followed by a question period, after which Ira Dilworth, principal of Victoria High School, extended a vote of thanks to the speaker. B. C. Nicholas, president of the fellowship, occupied the chair.

"Strangler" Lewis And Dr. Sarpolis Wrestle to a Draw

Vancouver, Dec. 5.—Ed "Strangler" Lewis, former world's heavyweight wrestling champion, and Dr. Karl Sarpolis, Seattle, grappled to a draw in the main event on yesterday evening's wrestling card here. Each won one fall, but during the last three rounds Lewis was strictly on the defensive.

Lewis gained the first fall in the fifth round after a series of crushing headlocks had weakened Sarpolis. The latter evened it up in the eighth when he pinned Lewis with a flying scissors.

Ted Thye, of Portland, won two out of three falls from Harry Demetral of Chicago, in the semi-final.

Reorganized "Rep" Squad To Meet Vancouver Team In Big Match To-morrow

A completely re-arranged fifteen, carrying four new men, will represent Victoria in the McKechnie Cup rugby game against Vancouver in the Terminal City to-morrow.

Most striking are the changes in the backfield where Freddy Pease, of the Wanderers; Larry Henderson of the Canadian Scottish, and Allan Le Marquand of the J.B.A.A., will be playing for the first time. The game will also see Campbell Forbes, erstwhile star local forward trying out as a three-quarter.

The complete team follows:

Fullback—Bryden (Scottish).

Three-quarters—Stagg (J.B.A.A.), C. Forbes (Scottish), Pease (Wanderers), Fell (J.B.A.A.).

Five-eighths—Henderson (Scottish), Le Marquand (J.B.A.A.).

Halfback—Cockin (J.B.A.A.).

Forwards—Roberts (Wanderers), Wharton (Scottish), Sparks (J.B.A.A.), Goad (J.B.A.A.), Rowlands (Scottish), Bernard (Scottish), Warnock (J.B.A.A.).

Reserve forward—B. Forbes (Scottish).

Gone from the three-quarter line are Gav Hume, Roy Gaunt and Jack Horne, three men whose playing last year gained them high commendation from the fans. Cockin will return as half-back after having played several games as five-eights.

The forwards, even without Godfrey Wenman and Campbell Forbes, appear strong. Roberts, the new addition from the Wanderers, is expected to be well worth his weight while the merit of the other men in the pack is well-known.

DAILY HEALTH SERVICE

Mother With Tuberculosis Should Not Nurse Her Baby

ARTIFICIAL FEEDING SOMETIMES IS BEST FOR BOTH PARENT AND CHILD, DOCTOR FINDS

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

It is recognized that the mother with active tuberculosis should not nurse her baby and that the mother with severe chronic diseases, such as inflammation of the kidneys, heart disease, or cancer should not be called upon to undertake this task. It is usually customary to discontinue nursing at a time when the breast is infected.

In case the child develops vomiting or colic, or fails to gain in weight, it is not necessary for the mother to discontinue nursing. In such a case she must find out from her physician whether or not she is feeding the baby often enough or too often, whether or not she is herself eating a proper diet, and whether or not it is desirable for the baby to have additional food.

The woman who is nursing a baby must keep herself in good physical condition and eat the proper food. In order to keep herself in good physical condition, she must have plenty of sleep and some exercise in the open air.

Most authorities on the care of infants advise discontinuance of the midnight feeding after the first few weeks. They recommend that the mother rest for at least one hour every afternoon, and that she relax and rest for a while after each nursing.

It is recognized that worry and mental strain may affect the quantity and nature of the secretion of milk. If the mother has not sufficient milk, the baby will be hungry and fretful. The mother will, therefore, get little rest, and as a result the supply of milk will not increase. In such cases, the addition of suitable artificial feeding may bring about improvement in both the mother and the child.

It has also been recognized that one of the chief factors for causing a good flow of milk is stimulation to the breast that comes from complete emptying by the infant. Thus methods have been developed both by massage and by the use of artificial devices to empty the breast in case the infant does not do so. Such regular emptying stimulates the production of milk. Dr. W. McKim Marriott cites cases in which wet nurses have been known to produce more than a gallon of milk a day.

The size of the breast and apparently the fact that the mother is either thin or fat does not seem to be of great importance in relationship to the amount of milk that the mother may produce. It is not possible to state in advance that any woman will or will not be able to nurse her baby. A careful study of this ability after the infant is born is the one sure method of determining this fact.

YOUNG SWIMMERS TO SEEK CUPS AT GARDEN TO-NIGHT

Life-saving Competitions Will Be Held For Anscomb and Armstrong Trophies

Young swimmers will perform at the Crystal Garden this evening when they strive for the Anscomb Cup, for life-savers under sixteen years of age and the Armstrong trophy for girl sprinters thirteen and under. The events will start at 7 o'clock.

The Armstrong Cup will be up for competition among young mermaids belonging to the Crystal Garden Swimming Club only. The contest will be fifty yards free-style.

More complicated are the regulations governing the Anscomb Cup event. Both boys and girls who hold the Royal Life-saving Society's elementary and proficiency badges under the age of sixteen may enter.

Each competitor must swim twenty-five yards breast stroke and twenty-five yards backstroke using the legs only. They must also swim and carry a patient by the first method of rescue a distance of fifteen yards, and must demonstrate the second method of release from the clutch of a drowning person. As a fifth requirement the competitors must surface dive for a weighted object in water five feet deep and must complete the contest by demonstrating the correct method of resuscitation and restoration of circulation in a patient apparently drowned.

DAVIS STILL TOPS LINDRUM

English Billiard Star Has 21,237 Total Against Australian's 20,348

London, Dec. 5.—Tom Newman, who has been playing with an inspired cue in the present and fifth match of the international billiards tournament, yesterday crossed the 30,000-mark. Newman closed, in play, at 30,236 against 17,678 for his table opponent, Clarke McConachy, Australia.

Joe Davis, English champion, closed in play with 21,237 point and Walter Lindrum with 20,348. Lindrum's score included a break of 1,036.

The fifth match of the series—like the others, a fortnight affair—closes on Saturday. Davis and Lindrum each have three victories and one defeat, as a result of the first four games. Newman has won two and lost two and McConachy has failed to take a game.

Lindrum who, as a rule, is considerably superior to the other three professionals, starts each game from scratch, giving the others 7,000 points to lead off with.

TUXIS BOYS GO TO POLLS HERE SATURDAY NIGHT

Five Enter Field For Four Victoria Seats; to Have Polling Booth at Ganges

With five candidates from the constituency of Victoria standing for election to the four local seats in the Tuxis Boys' Parliament, spirited contests are looked for when the voters go to the polls at the Y.M.C.A. to-morrow evening.

With the exception of William F. Holdridge, from First United Church, all will be entering the ring for the first time. Charles McLeod will stand for Centennial United Church, Doug Nixon, Fairfield United, Edwin Ray Parsons, Ganges Harbor, and Bob Trowsdale, Fairfield United.

In order to give all voters an equal chance to cast their ballots for their respective candidates, a special polling booth will be opened at Ganges Harbor to-morrow evening with L. Nicholls in charge.

Voting will take place from 6 to 8 o'clock.

PREMIERSHIP CONTEST

In the contest for premier, Victoria will be represented by Gordon Fields. In 1928, the local representative entered the field and gained a portfolio as Minister of World Brotherhood. This he retained last year, working efficiently during both terms. He is an active member of the Victoria Hi Y. Club and the Y.M.C.A., and is prominent in the work of the Victoria Tuxis Council. His nomination was proposed by F. V. Shoemaker, boys' work secretary at the local "Y."

In the contest for the premiership he will stand against Kenneth M. Beckett, well-known Vancouver Tuxis worker and Jack Delidal, Minister of Finance in the last house.

When parliament convenes the members will vote for premier, selecting one of the above candidates. The second highest at the polls will be named government critic, while the third will be awarded a cabinet position along with the premier.

ISLAND COAL SALE BETTER

In an interview with a Times reporter to-day, J. R. Kingham, president of the Kingham-Gillespie Coal Co. Ltd., stated that the demand for Nanaimo-Wellington and Comox coal had increased substantially this year compared with last year. This increase he attributed to the publicity and advertising, which is appealing to the public to help suport the Island miner and is pointing out the true fuel value of the coal produced on this Island.

More people who have been trying other fuels are coming back and asking for Vancouver Island coal, Mr. Kingham said, as they have found from actual tests in their own houses that the coal mined on the island is by far the cheapest and most economical in the long run.

Asked how the automatic coal stoker was being received, Mr. Kingham stated that it is giving absolute satisfaction and will prove to be a large factor in building up the Island coal industry.

IMPERIAL BANK MANAGER HERE IS OPTIMISTIC

General Manager A. E. Phipps Looks For Improvement in Business By Spring

Depression Has Reached Bottom and Outlook For Grain Is Brighter

Albert E. Phipps, general-manager of the Imperial Bank of Canada, arrived at the Empress Hotel this morning from Toronto, accompanied by Mrs. Phipps. During the day Mr. Phipps met J. H. D. Benson, manager of the Victoria branch of the Imperial Bank, and discussed banking matters.

BOTTOM IS REACHED

Mr. Phipps, who has had thirty-nine years banking experience with the Imperial Bank of Canada and is one of the best posted men in the country on general conditions, looks confidently forward to an improvement in business by next spring. He takes the view that periods of depression have invariably been followed by accelerated business and from conclusions based upon experience he believes that the present depression in this country has pretty well reached the bottom.

GRAIN SITUATION

The country is still faced with the unfortunate condition of the grain market, but Mr. Phipps sees a loophole which portends a brighter future.

He points out that the grain stocks are little, if any, larger than they were a year ago. The independent dealers and elevator companies have reversed their policies and have sold for future delivery every bushel of the last crop, and the speculative purchase of long options or futures by the ordinary speculator or farmer is curtailed, so as to be no longer an important feature in the situation.

It follows that this year there is not anything like the quantities of actual grain and future contracts to be absorbed before the next harvest, and he thinks that when this comes to be realized abroad it cannot but have a stimulating effect on export sales, which are even now showing some improvement.

While in the city Mr. Phipps is taking the opportunity of visiting relatives here. He plans to leave to-morrow on the return trip to Toronto.

EGGS SLUMP 7 CENTS IN NEW WESTMINSTER

New Westminster, Dec. 5.—Eggs slumped heavily on the public market here to-day, prices to the farmers falling from 50 to 52 cents a dozen for extras last week to from 43 to 45 this week, ar approximately a 7-cent decline.

On firsts the price was from 38 to 40, off about 6 cents, and pullet extras from 30 to 32, down a similar amount.

In the retail market, the decline was about 5 cents a dozen. Prevailing quotations being 55 for extras, 50 for firsts and 45 for pullet extras.

The decline being attributed to the desire of wholesalers to get rid of their storage stocks before the beginning of the year, and also to the mild weather on the prairies, which is helping to keep up production there.

The sensational crash in the Chicago egg market has also caused nervousness of what may happen here.

Poultry prices were little changed, and only seasonal changes were noted in meats and vegetables.

Tells of Want, Leaves No Names

"There are six children to feed, and the mother is not very well, and the father is out of work—has been for some time, cannot seem to find anything to do—and some of the children need shoes, and there is hardly anything to eat in the house; so please give them help right away, for eats——"

This Victoria family, in dire need, has been brought to the attention of Miss Lawson of the Friendly Help, through a letter, one sheet of which has been misplaced in some way. This rather unusual circumstance is very unfortunate, for while Miss Lawson's correspondent describes the nature of the case on the first sheet, she evidently wrote both her name and the name of the family she had observed in distress on the part of the letter which is missing. Because of this Miss Lawson is unable to take any action to relieve the evident want of one of Victoria's suffering families. She therefore makes an urgent appeal for the writer to communicate with the Friendly Help immediately.

ODD FELLOWS HOSTS TO AGED

Annual Concert of Victoria Lodge No. 1 at Aged Men's Home

Characteristic of their genuine hospitality was the annual December concert given for the entertainment of the inmates of the Old Men's Home by the programme committee of Victoria Lodge, No. 1, I.O.O.F., yesterday evening.

Good cheer, music and refreshments in variety and plenty made the event memorable in the record of concerts given at this institution. Fred Lansberg was chairman and Mayor Herbert Anscomb with Aldermen Adam and Litchfield of the home committee of the City Council were present. Both paid tribute to the philanthropic activities of Mr. Lansberg, of whom they declared that he is ever busy with some enterprise calculatd to afford happiness to some one needy or in want. They also affirmed their own interest in the welfare of the inmates of the home and fired the first volley of seasonable good wishes for Christmas and New Year. Mr. Lansberg paid a high compliment to the excellence of conditions pervading the home, and did not stint his praise of Manager and Mrs. Havard. The orchestra of the Odd Fellows' Lodge was in evidence with numerous selections which gave great satisfaction and the following, with Mr. Paver accompanying at the piano, rendered suitable selections; Jack Doble, songs; Mr. Holyoak, violin solo; Joe Doble, songs; Mr. Rourke, character sketch; Mr. Edmonds, song; Mr. Rance, song. A feature of the evening was a sketch song rendered by Mr. Farmer, who drew with crayon as he produced "The Dear Old Home." Afterward a competition was held for the picture, which was won by Charles Potter. "Auld Lang Syne" and the National Anthem closed a greatly enjoyed function.

LAKE COWICHAN COMMUNITY HALL READY CHRISTMAS

Special to The Times

Lake Cowichan, Dec 5.—The Community Hall is rising higher every day, and is now almost ready for the roof. It is expected that the first event to be held there will be the Christmas school concert, for which the school children are now training.

The road grader from Duncan has been going over the roads here, which had been damaged after the frost and rain of a few weeks ago.

MERRY CHRISTMAS FUND IS POPULAR

Subscription lists for The Times Merry Christmas Fund, which will be used to cheer up the children of unemployed, were opened to-day and a ready response was forthcoming. Everyone is familiar with the situation existing at the present time, and it is hoped to secure enough money to provide good things for a large percentage of poor children in the city this Christmas. Donations, both large and small, will be received at The Times Office from 9 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock in the evening.

EXHIBITION BY-LAW WILL LIKELY PASS

Supporters Think Public Realizes Need of More Space at Willows

Endorsed by business men in close touch with the need for more space in the Manufacturers' Building at the Willows as the Provincial Fair grows in importance each year, and supported by Mayor Anscomb, most members of the Council and the Chamber of Commerce, the exhibition by-law will carry on December 11, supporters of the by-law believe.

The offer of the Provincial Government to provide $35,000 of the $70,000 necessary for new manufacturers' and horse show buildings, provides the city with the greatest opportunity it has ever had for the erection of buildings which have long been needed, it is pointed out. The $35,000 Victoria would be called upon to spend would be from debentures spread over a ten-year period. Against the annual charge would be the rentals for exhibition space, and every inch of available space would be in demand, fair officials say. For several years now applications from manufacturers for display space have had to be refused.

Emphasis is also placed upon the fact that the expenditure would be made at a time when the city is faced, in any event, with embarking upon a programme of work to care for unemployed citizens. If the by-law carries, work will be started at once and many new unemployed would spend a happier Christmas by the knowledge of a job to carry them over the hard winter months.

CAMPBELL RIVER BOARD OF TRADE NOW ORGANIZED

Herbert Pidcock, Pioneer Resident, Elected First President

P. L. Anderton of Courtenay Stresses Island's Need of Highways in Address

Campbell River, Dec. 5.—The Campbell River and District Board of Trade was formally organized on Wednesday evening at a meeting held in the spacious community hall at Campbellton, which was attended by seventy local residents and twenty-five visitors from Courtenay, Nanaimo and Alberni.

The meeting was called to order by P. L. Anderton of Courtenay, president of the Associated Boards of Trade of Vancouver Island. The area selected to be covered by the new board will include Oyster River and Sayward.

Officers elected were: President, M. Herbert Pidcock, a pioneer resident of the district; vice-president, Dr. R. E. Ziegler; secretary-treasurer, Geo. Ross, manager of the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce; executive committee, Messrs. Richardson, Walker, Gagne, Isaacs, Tucker, Lloyd, Joyce, McCarthy, Taylor, Forbes, Rogers, Painter, Brown and Thulin.

The new board was addressed by P Cawman, president of the Nanaimo Board of Trade, Wallace McPhee, president of the Courtenay board, A. W. Neill, M.P., Dr. G. K. McNaughton, M.P.P., P. L. Anderton, president of the Associated Boards; M. C. Ironside of Nanaimo, and several past presidents and past secretaries of the various boards represented.

NOT GETTING HALF

Mr. Anderton emphasized the importance of roads on Vancouver Island, and pointed out that it was a proven fact that Vancouver Island was not getting fifty percent of the road work it was entitled to, if figured from the standpoint of revenue from motor business and gas tax. He said that Vancouver Island was entitled to a much larger road programme because, except for a narrow strip along the sea coast, it was impossible to settle and develop the Island without roads, owing to the heavy forests.

Mr. Anderton also stated that there was much more good agricultural land on Vancouver Island north of Courtenay than south of it, and it was important that this be made accessible by roads.

NATIONAL PARK

The importance of Strathcona Park was stressed by one of the speakers, and the new board was advised to weigh carefully the advantages and disadvantages of a hydro-electric development on Buttle Lake and its possible detriment to the development of a national park. The tourist trade had been and would still be the major industry of Campbell River, if proper steps were taken to safeguard the scenic assets of the district.

It was pointed out that the Provincial Government had started to develop Strathcona Park over twenty years ago. Nearly $750,000 had been spent, and still Strathcona Park was a park in name only. It was also stated that Switzerland, with an area only thirty-nine square miles larger than Vancouver Island, had spent $200,000,000 on railways to develop her tourist trade and was making huge revenues therefrom.

The formal organization meeting was preceded by a banquet, which was attended by nearly 100 guests.

Loan Measure Through Council; Awaits Ratepayers' Approval

Nanaimo, Dec. 5.—The city council at a special meeting Thursday night decided to submit to the ratepayers a referendum on the question of sewer extension work to sanction the expenditure of $30,000 in an employment scheme to which the government would contribute half the cost.

A letter was received from the E. & N. Railway Company, stating that the company was ready to close the deal for the purchase of land for the city waterworks dam at a cost of $2,211.

Canadiens and Ottawa Move Up In N.H.L. Through Fine Wins

THE SPORTS MIRROR

Victoria Fans Sorely Miss Their Hockey Games

* * *

Local "Rep" Rugby Team's Chances Appear Rosy.

* * *

Canadiens and Boston Most Colorful Hockey Squads.

* * *

Boxing in Great Need of Another Tex Rickard.

WHILE idly musing the other day the writer of this column was struck with the singular question: "How many fans would attend a hockey game in Victoria at the present time?" We would hate to be credited with making a flat prediction but feel pretty confident that if such a conflict could be arranged the boys who don the steel blades would perform before a packed house. Victoria hockey fans are beginning to sorely miss their sport. They are just beginning to realize how much it meant to them. As the old saying goes, you've got to lose a good thing before you really appreciate it. The fans, determined to see hockey of some sort, are giving their patronage to the roller hockey games. These kids teams are playing before large audiences and the fans get quite a kick out of the sport.

* * *

It might not be so difficult to get another arena in Victoria. One way would be to construct a community rink. An energetic committee might be able to raise sufficient money to construct a skating arena, if not a rink for the accommodation of hockey teams. The city fathers might be persuaded to lend a helping hand. If another rink was built it would have to be closer to the city than the former one. Victoria needs another winter amusement centre and a rink operated economically might prove a paying proposition.

It looks as if Victoria's "rep" rugbyers will be out to show Vancouver that they have an attacking force of considerable strength in the backfield as well as in the forward division, according to the line-up announced for the game in the Terminal City tomorrow.

* * *

The three-quarter line will be quite different from that which represented the city against the Japanese early this year. Stagg, tricky and fast J.B.A.A. wing man, Campbell Forbes, hitherto one of the Capital's star forwards, Freddy Pease of the Wanderers, and Art Fell one of the old standbys, will form the line. While they have not played together to any extent, they should form a fast and aggressive attacking machine. Larry Henderson and Allan Le Marquand will be two new men on the five-eighths link, while Henry Cockin will be back as scrum half.

* * *

The pack still appears to be strong, with Roberts of the Wanderers and Sparks of the J.B.A.A. making their first appearance in the rep scrum. The pack is aggressive, the three-quarters are fast and the half-backs are both experienced and heady players. Given an even break, the locals should stand a fair chance against the crack Mainlanders. Of course they will be up against the disadvantage of playing away from home on a strange ground. But whatever the Capitals do they should turn in a hard-fighting encounter.

Considerable copy is being turned out by eastern sport writers, regarding the most colorful team in the National Hockey League. It appears to be a toss-up between the Montreal Canadiens and Boston Bruins, with honors about even. Canadiens have personality plus, with the cannonball Morenz, the brilliant Joliat, sauve Sylvio Mantha, and their other stars. But when it comes to actors they have to yield the honors to the much-discussed and scintillating Eddie Shore. The Boston barricade of Shore and Hitchman is as famous a combination as has ever waylaid an attacking forward. No other defence in the history of big time hockey has drawn more headlines than the buffeting Boston duo.

The more boisterous of the two is Shore. He boasts everything that makes the turnstiles click, and has a few capers all of his own, including an ability to react to great occasions that makes him an attraction wherever he goes. The stage lost something when he decided to make hockey his life work. When it comes to simulating pain, disdain, the distressed hero or doing the heavy villian act who steals the puck, he knows every angle.

* * *

Hitchman is a defence man pure and simple. He learned his hockey in Toronto but first attracted attention in Ottawa, where he used to play three or four games a week. He was a member of the Mounted Police at the time, and incoming forwards thought he wore his spurs. Tommy Gorman, manager of the Ottawa Senators, signed him up and he landed with a Stanley Cup team the first year out. He eventually went to Boston and the rest is well known. Lionel is one of the four best defence men of the present day. He has a poke check like Frank Nighbor, takes his man out like Sprague Cleghorn, rushes with clever effectiveness, and believes in the old adage that the best place to play defence is to keep in front of the goaltender.

The golden era of the fight game and good battlers appears to have passed with Tex Rickards, but the business could use a promoter with a little of Tex's ability right now. That is the opinion of John Dorgan, who handled the publicity for the master promoter for twelve years. Dorgan, who resigned from Madison Square Garden two years ago to manage a string of boxers, now is writing his memoirs. They are to be entitled "Building Up Big Fights," and should make interesting reading. Ike Dorgan helped Rickard build them from the $151,524 of the Willard-Morgan engagement at the old Garden, March 25, 1916, to the $2,000,000 of the second Tunney-Dempsey battle in Chicago, September, 1927. Rickard really was the man who knew everybody and whom nobody knew, but no one was closer to him than Dorgan. Brother of the famous Tad, foremost sports cartoonist of his time, Ike managed Frank Moran, and assisted Rickard in landing Willard.

Flying Frenchmen Get Lucky Break To Defeat Rangers

New York Club Dominates Play and Have Two Goals Called Offside; Frequent Penalties Also Hurt Gotham Club; Ottawa Forced to Rally to Turn Back Philadelphia 5 to 2; Chicago Black Hawks Regain Form to Defeat Americans; Canadiens Tied With Toronto for Leadership of Canadian Section; Ottawa Only One Point Behind.

Canadian Press

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 5.—Teams in the Canadian section of the National League came through yesterday evening's schedule with flying colors. Montreal Canadiens nosed out New York Rangers, third place holders in the American group, 5 to 4, while Ottawa Senators defeated Philadelphia Quakers, 5 to 2. In third game, Chicago Black Hawks resumed their winning ways by beating the Canadian group cellar occupants, New York Americans, 4 to 2.

Howie Morenz, incomparable centre ice star, maintained his position as the league's leading scorer and also enabled his team to go into a tie for first position with Toronto Maple Leafs, by scoring the winning goal for Canadiens half way through the final period.

Strict enforcement of the offside rule probably beat the smooth playing New Yorkers. They outplayed the Flying Frenchmen throughout most of the game, but frequent penalties and nullification of two goals for offside, proved their undoing.

It was a case of Ottawa against Ottawa at the capital where the Senators outlasted the Philadelphia Quakers to attain victory and move into second place, one point behind the leaders. There are nine former Ottawa players on the Philadelphia team and the return to home ice appeared to have rejuvenating effect on them for they gave their former fellow-citizens a battle from start to finish.

QUAKERS TIE COUNT

The Senators secured a two-goal lead in the first period, but the Quakers flashed some splendid hockey starting the second period and shortly after the half-way mark evened the scoring. This woke the Senators up to the seriousness of the situation and they promptly set about gaining the lead again which they accomplished when Lamb scored on a pass from Finnigan and Harold Starr netted on an individual effort. Art Gagne scored the only goal of the final frame on a three man thrust that easily beat the Quaker defence.

After losing their first game of the season to Maroons at Montreal earlier in the week the Black Hawks chalked up their sixth victory by outplaying the Americans at practically all stages.

The Windy City team now holds a four-point lead in the American group over Boston. They have lost only one game, tied one, and scored twenty-one goals against eight for their opponents, to establish the best record for eight games of any team in either group.

Toronto, Dec. 5.—Teams in the cellar position or thereabouts continue to upset predictions in the International Hockey League. Yesterday evening Pittsburgh Pirates, who had beaten the strong Windsor outfit the previous night, continued to show improved form by holding Cleveland Indians, last season's champions, to a two-all tie. Syracuse Stars registered their second victory in eight games by walloping Detroit Olympics, 4 to 3.

As a result of the form reversals Canadian teams in the King loop, London and Windsor, are still safely lodged in second and third places, respectively, while Cleveland climbed into a tie with Detroit for fourth position.

Montreal, Dec. 5.—Montreal Canadiens maintained their home ice winning streak by taking a high-scoring rough National Hockey League match from the New York Rangers, here, yesterday evening 5 to 4. The locals undefeated at home this season, went into a tie with Toronto Maple Leafs at the top of the Canadian section of the league.

New York, with superior manpower, carried most of the play to the crippled Canadiens, who had two men off through injuries and Pete Lepine banished for most of the game for abusing Referee Corbeau.

They lost out, however, through taking nine penalties to Canadiens' six and through loose passing at the blue line, two goals being called back for offsides.

Lepine received a $15 fine and a major penalty, five minutes elapsing before he could be replaced.

Ottawa, Dec. 5.—Ottawa Senators used Philadelhpia Quakers as a stepping stone here yesterday evening to move into second place in the Canadian section standing of the National Hockey League, but it took a stiff fight to accomplish the feat. In sixty minutes of dashing play the homesters trounced the hapless Quakers by 5 goals to 2. The score, however, was hardly indicative of the even terms on which the game was fought.

The Black Hawks started fast, and within five minutes had scored twice, the first goal being accomplished by Somers on a pass from March in twenty-five seconds. HARRY COOPER LEADS FIELD IN OPEN GOLF

Chicago Pro. Turns in Two Brilliant 69's in $7,500 San Francisco Event

Horton Smith and Gene Sarazen Well Up; Three Amateurs Among Qualifiers

San Francisco, Dec. 5.—Shooting two brilliant 69's, Harry Cooper, of Chicago, led the field with a 138 yesterday in the 36-hole qualifying trials of the $7,500 San Francisco open match play golf tournament. Cooper's rounds, one over the Lake course and the other over the ocean links at the Olympic Club, each were two under par. He finished three strokes ahead of Frank Walsh, another Chicago pro, who posted rounds of 70-71—141.

Horton Smith, of Cragston Country Club, New York, qualified with 69-74—143, while Gene Sarazen, of the Flushing Country Club, Long Island, New York, a former national open champion, turned in 72-72—144.

Another former national open champion, Tommy Armour, of Detroit, won a place in the select thirty-two who will continue in the tourney, with 75-71—146.

THREE AMATEURS IN

Only three amateurs qualified. They were Jack Wolf, San Francisco, with 73-76—149; Malcolm McNaughton, who attends Stanford University and whose home is Portland, Ore., 77-72—149; and John McHugh, San Francisco, 74-75—149.

Miracles of Sport — By Robert Edgren

FIGHT GAME BARRED FOR BALL STARS

Montreal, Dec. 5.—The National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues yesterday selected Westbaden, Ind., for the 1931 convention; extended the association agreement for one year; deferred election of officers until the next annual meeting and adopted several amendments to the major league rules.

Originally it had been expected the national association agreement, under which the association gains its authority, would be renewed for ten years, but at the request of the so-called "big minors," the American Association, International and Pacific Coast Leagues, it was extended for one year only.

One of the most interesting amendments to the major and minor league rules was one providing for the insertion of a clause in a player's contract forbidding him to compete either in professional boxing or professional wrestling. The amendment recalled the exploits of Arthur Shires in the ring last year and was passed amid a general laugh.

PEDEN AND CROSSLEY FIVE LAPS BEHIND IN N.Y. SIX-DAY GRIND

New York, Dec. 5.—One Big burst of jamming in a rather quiet night brought a three-way tie for the lead in New York's forty-ninth six-day bicycle race early this morning. Gaetano Belloni started a jam that enabled him and his partner, Emil Richill, to catch up with the leaders, Denef and Charlier. Linari and Binda also gained a tie for the lead.

Peden and Crossley, the Canadian-United States team, were five laps behind.

MAROON'S CLEVER FACE-OFF PLAY

Dunc Munro's Montreal Maroons have one of the cleverest and effective blue-line face-off plays that may be seen in the Calder Loop this season. Nels Stewart to Hooley Smith is the combination, and they, time and again, have beat the opposing forwards in the break. As soon as the teams are in position for the face-off and the referee commences to face the puck, Hooley Smith, playing back some distance, breaks toward the blue line and by the time the puck has touched the ice is going full speed over the line. Nels Stewart, instead of shooting the puck as usual back to his team-mate, just does the opposite by shooting the puck between the legs of the forwards of the opposing team. This move checks any play that the opposing team may have had. The angle, however, that Stewart has shot the puck is such that it emerges directly in front of the speeding Mr. Smith, who simply picks it up and speeds past the forward line of the opposing team which is just breaking.

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 5.—William F Grant, president of the American Hockey League, indicated yesterday evening that Buffalo would be dropped from the league, in which it has been unable to play any games because of lack of players.

Western Football Champs Ready For Dominion Finals

Regina Roughriders and Winnipeg Native Sons Reach Toronto This Morning for Matches Against Balmy Beach and Toronto Argos To-morrow; Teams Hold Limbering-up Practices This Morning; 'Riders and Sons Confident of Bringing Titles West.

Toronto, Ont., Dec. 5.—Final games for the senior and junior Dominion rugby titles will be played as a double header at Varsity Stadium to-morrow afternoon, it was announced by Canadian Rugby Union officials to-day after they had conferred with the western finalists, Regina Roughriders and Winnipeg Native Sons, who arrived earlier in the day.

Toronto, Dec. 5.—Arriving in fine mettle despite the fact their train was fifty-five minutes late, Regina Roughriders and Winnipeg Native Sons, senior and junior champions, respectively, of western Canada, quickly injected some prairie atmosphere into this city, by announcing that a brisk work-out would be held at Varsity Stadium this morning.

The teams did not indulge in any limbering-up exercises and a rehearsal of drills, for they realize every ounce of energy will be needed in to-morrow's games.

Led by the wily Al Ritchie, Regina's smart-looking rugbyists will endeavor to wrest the Dominion championship from the representatives of the east, Balmy Beach, at the Stadium to-morrow afternoon. Coach Ritchie admitted the task was a stupendous one but believes the twelve he has gathered together this year will set a precedent by downing the old gold and blue and taking the Grey Cup west for the first time.

ENJOY TRIP

The Roughriders enjoyed the long trip east, but were glad to reach Toronto, particularly "Tiny" Thompson, 220-pound lineman, who declared he hadn't stretched his legs since leaving Winnipeg.

Like the Regina squad, the Winnipeg Native Sons, expressed confidence they were fit for the battle of their careers. They meet Toronto Argos in the Canadian final and indications point to a close struggle between Canada's two best junior outfits. Argos will have the advantage of superior weight along the lines, unless looks are deceiving, but the westerners have a great half-line and appear a faster-moving team.

To Hold Christmas Swim in Harbor If Entries Available

If the city's squad of hardy swimmers again decide to compete in a Yuletide fifty-yard dash in the cooling waters of Victoria Harbor, the Crystal Garden Swimming Club will sponsor the event, it was announced by officials of the club to-day. As usual the Harbord Cup will be up for the event along with three medals for the first, second and third finishers.

Last year the event was staged with the usual zeal by members of the Polar Bear Club, as the contestants style themselves, after they have taken the icy plunge.

Again this season a fair number of the hardy are expected to turn out for the race and should draw crowds of spectators to the Causeway for the event.

Definite arrangements for the swim will be made at the Crystal Garden Swimming Club's next general meeting in the near future.

TOM ALLEY TO MAKE TOUR OF GREAT BRITAIN

World Light Heavyweight Champ Will Appear in Many Matches in Old Country

Under a contract with Stadiums Ltd., Tom Alley, light - heavyweight champion wrestler of the world, will shortly be seen in London, Eng., in a series of wrestling matches. Alley admitted this yesterday evening following his arrival on the Niagara from a tour of New Zealand.

Traveling with Alley is P. S. Gregorian, the Armenian wrestler; W. L. Logan, and Tom Ray of Seattle; the Esthonian, O. Olup of Portland, Ore.; Abe Coleman, professional wrestler of Winnipeg, and "King" Elliott, ex-policeman of Auckland, who is making his debut as a mat artist.

Alley has wrestled in thirteen matches this season in New Zealand and he was victor in all but three of them. His opponents included Billy Edwards of Kansas, Ted Thye of Portland and Clarence Eklund.

Alley said he was anticipating his forthcoming tour of Great Britain, where the Cumberland style is now giving way to the catch-as-catch-can style.

"If Elliott turns out to be as good as I think, he will be a great drawing card," said Alley in discussing his new find. "I regard him as the best light-heavyweight prospect I know of anywhere."

Elliott is the first New Zealander to cross the Pacific with the hope of winning fame and fortune on the wrestling mat. Born in Wanganui twenty-five years ago, he is an excellent all-round athlete, specializing in javelin-throwing and putting the shot. He joined the Auckland police force in 1928.

Elliott has had only three matches as an amateur, but he has won them all and has been training with professionals since the beginning of the year.

Alley intends putting the Aucklander into Virgil Hamlin's school of wrestling in Portland for a couple of months before allowing him to turn professional.

Before going to England, Alley will appear in five matches in the United States.

Mrs. K. C. Allen Scores "Dodo" At Oak Bay Course

Mrs. K. C. Allen, holder of the women's club championship at the Victoria Golf Club, joined the Hole-in-one Club yesterday afternoon at the Oak Bay links, when she holed her tee shot on the short eight hole, a distance of 118 yards. She was playing with Mrs. Walter Parry.

JOKERS WILL PLAY SAANICH IN CUP SOCCER

First Division Football Clubs Clash To-morrow in Province Cup Series

Esquimalt and Victoria City Meet at Beacon Hill in League Fixture

In the opening round of the Province Cup football series, the Jokers, leaders of the First Division, will engage the Saanich Thistles, last year's league champions, at the Royal Athletic Park, to-morrow afternoon, at 2.30 o'clock. All the local clubs have entered this competition and will play off among themselves, the winners to enter the main rounds with the mainland clubs. In the only other senior match scheduled to-morrow, Esquimalt and Victoria City will clash at the Beacon Hill grounds in a league fixture. This Match will also get under way at 2.30 o'clock.

The Province Cup competition is operated on the knockout system and in view of this the Jokers and Thistles will field their strongest elevens, as defeat means their elimination for the series.

JOKERS HAVE EDGE

These clubs met last week in a league match and the Jokers won their second victory this season over the Saanich club. This victory boosted the Jokers into first place in the senior league. The Jokers won by a 3 to 2 count, gaining the deciding goal on a penalty shot. In their first meeting of the season the Jokers eked out a 1 to 0 verdict.

In both their matches with the Thistles, the Jokers have been extended to the limit to win, but their great fighting spirit has pulled them through.

The Thistles will be greatly strengthened by the return of Wes Harper to left full-back. Considered one of the best backs in the city, Harper's absence for the last few weeks has weakened the Thistles' main line of defence. The remainder of the Thistles' team will be the same as usual. The Jokers will trot out their regular line-up.

Needing a victory to put them back into first place in the First Division, Esquimalt will be after the scalps of the City. The Dockers are resting in second place, one point behind the Jokers. Esquimalt have yet to be beaten this season, although they have played in several drawn matches. The City are badly in need of a win to remain in the running for the league title.

The following games will be played to-morrow afternoon in Division One of the Juvenile League, starting at 2.30 o'clock:

Saanich Thistles vs. Oak Bay United at Upper Beacon Hill.

Beavers vs. Sons of England at the north end of Beacon Hill.

City Badminton Champs Will Be Named To-night

Drennan Hincks Is Favored to Capture Men's Singles Title

Gains Final Round By Thrilling Victory Over Paul Phillips, 15-12, 15-8; Will Oppose Hugo Rayment Who Defeated Peter Phillips, 10-15, 15-7, 15-13; Florence Oates and Mona Miller Will Contest Women's Singles; Hincks and Rayment Beat Webb and George Phillips in Great Match; Finals Commence at 8 o'Clock.

Yesterday evening's matches in the city badminton championships at the Willows were the best seen here for some time. The singles matches resulted as expected but only after one of the four favorites had been extended to three hard sets. The men's doubles produced some excellent play while the mixed doubles were featured by an upset. Finals in all divisions will be played this evening commencing at 8 o'clock.

In the men's singles Drennan Hincks will play Hugo Rayment, while in the women's finals Florence Oates will oppose Mona Miller. The finals of the men's doubles will bring together Hincks and Rayment and R. A. and J. P. Phillips. In the women's singles Mrs. MacDonald and Miss Morley will play Misses Miller and Oates.

Drennan Hincks occupied the spotlight when he displayed beautiful control to take Paul Phillips into camp in straight sets, 15-12, 15-8, and is now favored to win the championship. His shots against Phillips were perfectly executed, and no shot seemed hard. He took Phillips's hardest smashes on his back hand with shots that just skimmed ove rthe net and forced his opponent to cover up instead of making his point off the smash. His backhand in general was good, while his court covering forced Phillips on the defensive at all times. Phillips played well, but used too many soft drop shots, which Hincks seemed to anticipate before the shot was made. The first set proved to be the closest, going to 15-12, but Hincks got home at 15-8 in the second, and was not extended as in the first.

RAYMENT PRESSED TO WIN

Hugo Rayment came through after dropping the first set, but only by the narrowest margin. Peter Phillips took care of his short shots and forced Rayment to clear deeply instead of using a soft drop shot. Phillips won the first set at 15-10 afte rclose session of play, but Rayment won the middle set easily at 15-7. Both players settled down to serious play in the final set, but Rayment had recovered confidence and ran out the set at 15-13 to end a good match.

Florence Oates swept into the final round when she defeated Mrs. John Edwards decisively in a semi-final of the women's singles and now meets Mona Miller for the championship. Miss Oates had control of the situation in her match with Mrs. Edwards, and never gave her opponent a chance to get going. She won twenty-two services against five for Mrs. Edwards.

Miss Oates and Rayment received a setback in their match against Mrs. J. C. Macdonald and Peter Phillips, losing a chance of playing in all three finals. It was a decided upset, and the Willows pair received a round of applause as the match ended. The scores were 15-10, 15-6.

Miss Miller and Drennan Hincks reached the final round in this event, when they won from Miss Helen Wilson and Edwards in a quarter final match, and immediately afterwards they again took the courts and eliminated Miss Pitts and Paul Phillips in straight sets, 15-4, 15-6.

A GREAT MATCH

One of the best matches of the whole tournament took place when Hincks and Rayment defeated Harry Webb and George Phillips to reach the finals in the men's doubles. The younger players forced the older pair all the way, and it was nip and tuck to the last shot. Hincks and Rayment won the first set at 18-14. The second set saw the Willows youngsters going out with determination and they smashed everything to win at 17-16. Experience told in the third set, and the Garrison pair finally won at 15-12.

The mixed handicap doubles brought out three extra set matches. Miss Grubb and Tolson with the aid of a point eliminated Mrs. Ismay and Holmes in the first extra set match, 15-12, 10-15, 15-3 in the best match of this event, while Miss Errington and Webb were carried to three sets to win from Mrs. Stern and Paterson, 15-7, 4-15, 15-4. The third extra set match was won by Margery Benson and George Phillips from Helen Wilson and Ross Hocking, 10-15, 15-8, 15-8.

BUCKS WIN OVER LIONS TO MOVE UP

Conn's Goal in Last Minute Gives Portland 3 to 2 Win Over Vancouver

Fans Litter Ice With Peanuts and Popcorn in Protest to Referee's Decision

Portland, Ore., Dec. 5.—Portland and Vancouver to-day had a joint grip on the top rung of the Pacific Coast Hockey League ladder as a result of Portland's 3 to 2 victory over the Lions here yesterday evening.

The game entered the last minute of play with the score tied at two-all. Seventeen seconds of the last minute had ticked away and the fans were settling back for a ten-minute overtime session when Capt. Maitland Conn, red-headed buckaroo centre, took a quick pass from Guy Poole, wing, and slipped the puck between Percy Jackson's legs into the net.

Portland scored first when Joe McColdrick, defence, single-handed, took the puck close to Jackson and shoved it past him into the net. Blyth tied the score in the same period. He shot a hard one directly at Aitkenhead, who stopped it but kicked it with his skate and sent it on into the net.

LIONS TAKE LEAD

In the second period Sandy Sanderson received a pass from McAdam and dented the Buckaroo net to send the Lions into the lead. With six minutes left to play Guy Poole soloed to tie the score. It remained at two-all until Conn sent home the winning shot.

The game was fast and hard fought, growing rought at time. In the second period Army Armstrong, Buckaroo defence, was sent off the ice for tripping. Conn decided to argue the matter with Referee Rickey with the result that Conn, too, was sent off the ice and fined $5 on top of it.

It took sixteen minutes to quiet the spectators and to clear the ice

TO-DAY'S GRAIN MARKETS

(By Logan & Bryan)

Winnipeg, Dec. 5.—Wheat: The wheat market was dull land featureless to-day and after opening about unchanged prices slowly eased off but held mostly at about one cent lower within sufficient buying against the daily bids to absorb the offerings which were not heavy but still there was wheat for sale at all times, especially on the slight upturns.

The Chicago market was again firmer than Winnipeg and the spread between the two Mays widened out to 17 cents. There is no doubt that American interests are carrying a large quantity of Winnipeg May, all of which is showing a heavy loss, and this liable to be unwound at any time. There was very little doing in exports overnight or this morning, possibly 200,000 bushels in all positions.

The demand for cash wheat was very moderate and spreads were unchanged to ¼ off with no pressure of offerings. The flour business was reported as quiet in all branches. Liverpool closed unchanged to ⅝ higher but did not follow our advance of yesterday, and Buenos Aires was half higher at midday. Bradstreet's North American wheat shipments were estimated at 8,300,229 bushels, but this business has not been reflected in the Winnipeg's market during the past week.

Country marketings Thursday were 786,000 bushels as compared with 469,000 a year ago, according to private reports issued to-day the sowing of winter wheat in the United States is 97 per cent of last year's 42,150,000 acres, with the condition on December 1 is thought to be 86.2 per cent of normal compared with the ten-year average of 83.2 and 86 last year. Liverpool due ⅛ lower based on Winnipeg.

Winnipeg futures closed ⅜ to ½ lower.

Coarse grains—These markets were very quiet again to-day, demand slow but no selling pressure in evidence. There is not much doing in the cash markets which is mostly a carlot business. Rye was a little firmer in sympathy with the advance in wheat yesterday but there was no business of feature passing.

Flax—This market was firmer and closed 3¾ to 3⅛ higher with some unfavorable reports coming from Argentine.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Wheat: Fair commission house buying was in evidence in wheat with final figures showing fractional gains over the previous close. The market receives support on the setbacks, but the buying power wanes on the rallies.

Cash demand here is good, and sales were 86,000 bushels while receipts at primary points to-day were abo.it 400,000 less than a year ago. Outside cash markets reported firm prices, private estimates suggest a moderate decrease in winter wheat acreage, with some reports indicating that 167,000,000 bushels will be used as feed.

Argentine news was more pessimistic with less favorable reports in regard to the crop in central and southern portions of the belt. Liverpool closed unchanged to ⅝. English cables said there was little pressure to sell w..eat. Minneapolis stocks decreased 800,000 bushels for the week and is largest decrease for any week in a long time.

Argentine shipments were 937,000 bushels. Bradstreets report clearances of 8,300,000 bushels from North America. There is more confidence in wheat prices apparently but the market was affected to-day by the setback in coarse grains. Favor buying side on setbacks.

Corn—Prices had a sharp decline after firmer opening with selling both by commission houses and local trade. Receipts were 267 cars estimated with primary arrivals of 978,000 bushels against 1,178,000 bushels a year ago. Cash basis was easy, and the shipping demand was moderate.

Weather conditions were unfavorable but this is not preventing a good run of corn. Although the western situation in corn looks strong but the trade is of moderate proportions, doubt if the movement is at all burdensome. Look for support on any further dips.

Oats—Trade moderately active with the tendency of prices easier due to the decline in corn, which checked buying. Oats receipts were limited. Cash demand afir.

Rye—Held fairly steady but there was no special feature to the trade on dips. Look for good suport.

Winter Wheat Acreage 96 Per Cent of Last Year

Forecast increased demand for Manitoba wheat failed to materialize in the Winnipeg wheat pit to-day and prices were fractionally lower in a very dull market.

Chicago wheat was also dull, but corn dropped two cents.

Murray's crop report to-day placed indicated winter wheat acreage at 96 per cent of the area seeded last year; condition December 1, 87 per cent of normal; estimated that 140,000,000 bushels of 1930 crop and 27,000,000 bushels of leftover from 1929 crop will be red, a total of 167,000,000 bushels.

Corn farm disappearance to December 1 and marketings placed at 22.4 per cent of the crop, compared with 19.2 per cent average.

Winnipeg, Dec. 5.—The Free Press to-day says:

"Feature of the foreign news was that of the wheat movement from Russia. Recent reports from Broomhall have indicated that Russian shipments might suddenly cease and not be resumed until about April, but while there has been a steady decrease the past three weeks, the Soviet clearances of wheat are still a big factor in the international export trade. Total shipped from the Black Sea this week was 3,712,000 bushels, of which 3,448,000 bushels came from Russia.

"Argentine shipments continue and will not show any appreciable increase until early in the year.

Broomhall to-day says the weather in Argentine continues favorable for harvest. Remaining surplus of corn in the Argentine is estimated at 136,000,000 bushels.

Australian wheat shipments this week total 1,800,000 bushels, of which 1,096,000 were to non-Europe.

Chicago, Dec. 5.—The Journal of Commerce to-day says:

"Some believe it possible for this market to take the lead in the world's upturn. The fact that Argentine and Canada are not pressing wheat for sale, and the cessation of Russian pressure, are encouraging features. Movement to domestic markets is light and milling demand increasing. It is expected that some unfavorable condition relative to the new winter wheat crops will come in for much attention after the first of the year."

WHEAT POOL CHANGES EXPECTED UNDER NEW SALES POLICY DICTATOR

Winnipeg, Dec. 5.—In animated comment of the trade on the probable changes of sales policy of the pool incident to John MacFarland being made practical dictator, it is forecast that operations will be carried on through exchange machinery. This involves immediate closing of all direct branch sales offices. They are located at London, Paris, Buenos Aires, New York City, Calgary, Toronto, Montreal, Vancouver and Prince Rupert. MacFarland in his considered statement asserts that he will make full use of "all available trade channels for sales purposes." This is interpreted by the trade to mean the mechanics of the grain exchanges of the world will be utilized for that purpose.

This is but one of the phases of the new stage on which the pool is now entering. That is generally admitted. It has been one of the constant sources of friction between the private traders throughout the world, especially on the Winnipeg Exchange, and the pool executive, that they have used their branch offices so generally to sell pool products without reference to the established exchanges in all countries. It is also considered significant by the trade that MacFarland refers to the fact that he will concern himself with the promotion of the interests represented by the farmer, be that farmer a pool subscriber or non-subscriber.

As MacFarland was the organizer of the Alberta Pacific Grain Company with Hon. R. B. Bennett, it is openly said that his choice as virtual dictator of the pool now means that the Federal Government is in some way standing behind the reorganized pool and that the banks have the assurance that in an emergency the government will protect them against losses insofar as it concerns the whole agricultural industry. The comment is not that Federal money will be used to peg prices but in a large way to help stabilize the situation in a most sympathetic way through MacFarland.

TO-DAY'S REPORTS ON CALGARY OILS

By Special Service of Miller, Court & Co., Victoria Office

East Crest No. 3, which was spudded in last week, is situated 380 feet south of No. 2 "A," which last month produced the most oil of any field. It is being drilled with rotary equipment, which uses oil for circulating fluid. The well is being put down on contract by the same firm of contractors who drilled No. 2 "A."

The company's two producers are doing about 470 barrels. It is the plan of the company to clean out and possibly deepen No. 1, which is thought to be only in the top of the producing horizon.

The area in the vicinity of East Crest will see considerable activity this winter, as well as the district farther south near Mercury. In the last six months drilling operations have established the fact that there are two big production areas in the south end, one around the East Crest wells and Mayland No. 2 and the other in the vicinity of Mercury No. 3 and Miracle No. 1.

Royalite No. 20, central Turner Valley, has been placed on a naphtha recovery test on the separators. J. H. McLeod, production manager of Imperial, stated. "It is a small well so far," he remarked.

McDougall-Segur No. 2, Central Valley well, has completed its deep test of the lime and has started a production test, officials state. The well penetrated 600 feet of limestone before halting. Gas flow at the well is comparatively small and initial naphtha production, at least, is not expected to assume very large proportions. The company's No. 3 well was drilling at fifty-six feet in the limestone at last report. No. 4 is producing normally.

Mayland No. 3 has completed cleaning following a shot of nitro-glycerine, and is starting a naphtha recovery test on the separator, stated J. H. McLeod, production manager of Imperial Oil, last night. Mr. McLeod said no measurements had been made of the gas flow, and declined to give an estimate of the volume. Unofficial field reports stated that gas flow would probably be under the 5,000,000 cubic feet mark, but it is recalled that the company's No. 1 well acted in a similar manner before starting a voluntary increase that brought the daily production rate to more than 200 barrels.

The well was drilled to about 350 feet in the limestone at 6,177 feet before operations were halted.

Drilling is expected to resume to-day at Signal Hill in the Moose Mountain field. The well was recently cemented for slight caving troubles. The total depth is 4,160 feet and operators hope to enter the Dalhousie sands shortly.

Pee Wee Golf Now Keeps Sheriffs Busy in South

Los Angeles, Dec. 5.—Thirty-eight miniature golf courses went out of business last week.

The proprietor of one course of Wilshire Boulevard had deputy sheriffs as caddies or links men.

One deputy went up to one of the Tom Thumb links and told the owner he had a foreclosure for it.

"Thanks just the same," said the owner, "but I don't need a fence around the place."

CANADA FACES SOVIET ASBESTOS COMPETITION

Montreal, Dec. 5.—Prices continued to rule on the easy side to-day, not much activity was noted in any one direction. Selling was not of any volume, but as a counter action, buyers were inclined to hold away for the time being.

Noranda worked slightly easier during the session. Expectation of dividend action by the directors at to-day's meeting in Montreal, undoubtedly proved a matter for consideration.

Montreal, Dec. 5.—The Diarist, in The London Financial Times, comments as follows: "According to rumor, asbestos is the latest commodity which Russia contemplates dumping on the world market at a knockout price. The principal mines are near Ekaterinburg, in the Ural Mountains, and are believed to have a potential output capacity almost equal to the big Canadian deposits in Quebec. On the other hand, climate conditions limit their working to the period May-November of each year.

"According to an American authority, the richest ore yields 42 to 45 pounds of asbestos per cubic yard. Russian asbestos is said to be harsher than Canadian, and less suitable for spinning than Canadian, but a great deal of high-grade fibre was produced in prerevolution days, although, I should imagine, scarcely equal to the best Rhodesian product of the present time."

ASBESTOS EXPORTS

Canadian exports of asbestos in October totaled 8,550 tons, valued at $484,949, this being considerably under the 9,394 tons exported in September, with a valuation of $572,663, and sharply below the figures for October of last year, when 13,275 tons were exported, valued at $948,361. Exports of asbestos sand and waste for October were valued at $207,027, a moderate increase over the $177,137 exported in September, but well below the $304,346 exported during October of last year. Total figures for the two combined show the October exports at $691,976, against $749,800 in the preceding month, and $1,252,707 in October of 1929.

GERMAN BONDS STRONG IN N.Y.

New York, Dec. 5.—High grade domestic bonds moved in a narrow range to-day, but some wide recessions cropped out among carrier obligations. Pressure was confined to a comparatively small list of issues and domestic bonds generally showed a tendency to recover somewhat from the setback received in the previous session.

Certain issues of the Chicago and Northwestern, Erie, Missouri Pacific, Nickel Plate and Alleghany Corporation were among those that moved sharply lower. Erie 5s of 1967 dropped several points and the Convertible 4s dipped to a new low at 71 on an 8 point loss.

New issues totaling $40,000,000 offered to-day brought the volume for the week to $80,440,000, against $46,874,000 last week. Toledo Light and Power Company offered $35,000,000 in 5 per cent notes, and the State of Missouri marketed $5,000,000 in 4 per cent bonds.

Indicative of the swing from stocks to bonds as the favored means of obtaining new capital, an analysis of public financing for the eleven months of 1930 indicates that more than four-fifths was in bonds and notes. This is the sharp contrast with 1929 when stocks found favor with the public.

The fall of the French Government had virtually no effect on its obligations in the local market. French 7½s and French 7s held around their peak prices of the year. German governments were strong. The International 5½s advanced more than a point and the Dawes 7s were fractionally higher.

Egg Prices Fall Five to Seven Cents A Dozen in Chicago

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Abnormally heavy receipts of fresh eggs tumbled prices in both the cash and future delivery markets. Fresh eggs for immediate delivery crashed down five to seven cents a dozen, wholesale.

Receipts of fresh eggs totaled 5,344 cases for the day, against 1,200 cases a year ago, 3,200 cases yesterday and 2,700 last Wednesday. December refrigerator standards sold as low as 16⅞ cents a dozen, wholesale.

Noranda to Pay Usual Dividend

Canadian Press

Toronto, Dec. 5.—According to private wires received in Toronto this afternoon, directors of Noranda mines declared the regular dividend in Montreal to-day, and this met with a quick response on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange. Noranda sold off sharply in the early session but came back on end, rebounding nearly $2 to close with a net gain of around $1.

The action of this one stock improved the tone of the entire board and the best prices for a number of issues were recorded on end.

International Nickel was firm to slightly higher and the golds augmented their early gains.

2,100 TONS A DAY NOW BEING MILLED BY LAKE SHORE

Sherritt-Gordon Officials on February 1 Next to Decide on Production Plans

Toronto, Dec. 5—(Miller, Court Service).—Lake Shore Mines is now milling an average of 2,100 tons a day, and the whole mill is not yet operating, The Northern Miner reports. The layout of the gripding and classifying departments is being changed in order to heighten efficiency, and this work should be completed within a few weeks. Then greater daily capacity will be available at any time the management desires to increase the tonnage beyond 2,100 tons daily, and the possibility is that when the change-over is finished the available capacity will be 2,500 tons a day.

SHERRITT-GORDON POLICY

February 1 is now fixed as the date upon which Sherritt-Gordon directors will meet to discuss the situation respecting production. It is calculated the concentrator will be completed and about tuned up at that time, and therefore ready to run if the board deems it advisable. The metal market ought to be presenting a clearer outlook then, states a director. Sherritt-Gordon is not bound by any contract arrangements with Hudson Bay to go into production; there is an impression abroad that so long as Hudson Bay is willing to accept concentrates Sherritt-Gordon must supply them.

There being no urgency about the matter, no material progress has been made on the idea that Sherritt-Gordon might go into the manufacture of zinc oxides, for which its ores are peculiarly adaptable, being lead free. The matter continues under investigation, and it is expected that in a few months they will have enough data to permit them to decide upon the feasibility of the suggestion. A very broad field would be opened up. Imports of oxides into Canada are quite heavy, and there is comparatively no manufacture of them in this country. Only certain ores are suitable.

Sugar Producers Of World Plan Output Control

Amsterdam, Holland, Dec. 5.—World sugar producers have provisionally agreed to meet at Brussels next Tuesday for consideration of plans for production control. Thomas L. Chadbourne, representative of American sugar producers, has recovered from a slight attack of bronchitis, and it was believed that there were no further obstacles to the opening of negotiations.

Delegates here are optimistic of success in securing some sort of restriction at the Brussels conference, providing that the preliminary negotiations here between Javanese and Cuban planters result in an agreement.

HOME NO. 6 SETS UP NEW FLOW RECORD

Oils Little More Active on Vancouver Stock Exchange To-day

Vancouver, Dec. 5 (Canadian Press)—The most important oil news of the day from Alberta stated that Home No. 6 produced 276 barrels of crude oil in nineteen hours, setting a new record for this type of production in Turner Valley. Naptha production from the other Home wells for the for the past week was reported from Calgary as totaling 3,976 barrels.

Another item of importance is the statement that wet gas flow at East Crest No. 2A is increasing, being now estimated officially at 26,000,000 feet.

In trading to-day, during the forenoon session of the Vancouver Stock Exchange, Mayland was the leader, selling chiefly at 60 and 61, with Home also fairly active, and holding at 2.01 and 2.02. A.P. Consolidated was unchanged at 31, and Calmont held at recent levels, selling at 26. C. and E. turned over in very small amounts at 50.

East Crest was steady, with 57 bid and 60 asked and little stock reported available at the low figures.

There was little action on the mining board, although a brisk demand for "penny" mining stocks is reported on the unlisted counter. This morning Big Missouri sold in odd lots up to 45, but the real market was still around 40. Woodbine, big trader of the day before, did not move, being quoted around 1¼. Grandview sold at 3½ and 4 and Premier stood at 77 and 78 in few transactions.

Snowflake came out on the board after a long silence, selling at 2. Pioneer Gold was again strong, with a little stock turning over at 1.05. Pend Oreille brought 80. The balance of the mining list was not changed.

WHITNEY LETTER

(By Logan & Bryan)

"The market's unsatisfactory technical position was readily shown by the additional decline which took place in yesterday's session, and which succeeded in lowering prices sufficiently to wipe out all the advance of the first three days of the week. We have thus seen the expected slow, sagging reaction which was to result in cancelling the minor rally and, having seen it, I think we will now get enough more to carry the market down over the week-end. Even then, I do not believe we are going to see any rally worthy of the name until the market has reapproached the approximate low points of the year which the Dow Jones industrial averages means pretty close to ten points below the closing level of last night.

"From a fundamental standpoint, I think the market is equally unsatisfactory for the moment, and while attempting to sense any change, I cannot say that we appear to have one near enough to be worth talking about. It is most probable that the market will not, between now and the year end, be particularly affected by any radically good or bad news from the so-called outside, business factors. What it will reflect is undoubtedly house cleaning between now and the end of the year.

"I certainly do not believe that this liquidation can assume any of the strong pressure characteristics which marked such periods as June and October of this year, but nevertheless I believe that there is just enough more of it to account for the lower prices mentioned above, as well as the further probability that the month of December on the whole will show more decline than rally to the year end.

"Some little rally may come into today's session, but I think it will merely represent the minor effect of a few issues that became temporarily oversold in yesterday's session and, as such neither be worth joining on the long side nor considered as any violent contradiction of the expectation for a lower market into next week.

COMMENT

The action of Radio preferred stock tells the whole story on the common, which latter I certainly would not touch on the long side at present prices. Electric Auto Lite having completed the rally pointed out here several weeks ago now looks lower. Other stocks which are not acting well are American Telegraph and Telephone, General Electric, Westinghouse Electric and Consolidated Gas."

Borden Cuts Stock Melon

(By Logan & Bryan)

Toronto, Dec. 4.—Shareholders City Dairy Company, who have transferred their stock into Borden will be pleased with the announcement made this morning that Borden Company's directors have declared a stock dividend of three per cent, payable January 15, to holders of record December 30. This is in addition to regular cash dividend at rate of three dollars per share. The equivalent market value of the three per cent stock dividend is $2.07 on each share held, hence the cash dividend and stock dividend together represents $5.07 if the stock dividend were sold. On the other hand the present holder of 100 shares will have 103 shares, available for dividends in 1931 on which the annual return will be 309.00 or $3.09 a share.

The committee of the Toronto Exchange has ruled that the rate of commission on Borden Fractions will be one per hundred with a minimum of 25 cents.

Dull Market Shows Little Change For Day

Stock Prices Dip in Early Part of Session, But Recover Before the Close

Serious Plight of Railroads Now Being Recognized By Washington, Reports Say

Leaders in Movie Industry Expected to Show Net Earnings Gain Over 1929

(By Logan & Bryan)

New York, Dec. 5.—At the close of the market this afternoon, the Dow Jones average for 30 industrials stood at 181.11, up 0.12 points for the day; for 20 rails at 103.84, off 0.48 points; and for 20 untilities at 62.75, off 0.16 points.

Sales for the day totaled 1,585,300 shares.

In its third day of gentle decline, the stock market settled into a resilient cushion of buying orders to-day, and closed with some of the more active issues a little higher.

The market sagged substantially during the morning, as trading quickened a little, but it turned extremely dull by early afternoon, and recovered quietly during the late trading. The day's sales again aggregated 1,600,000 shares.

MOST ACTIVE ONES

General Electric, American Telephone, Loew's, Atchison, Electric Auto Lite, and United Aircraft closed about a point higher. Allied Chemical and Johns Mansville were up about two points. U.S. Steel, after sagging two points, then rallied four. Firestone preferred recovered three to a five-point loss. Bethlehem Steel, American Can and Westinghouse closed about steady. Some of the lightly traded rails failed to recover, however, and Louisville and Nashville, Frisco and Texas and Pacific lost 2½ to 3 points.

FAVORABLE RAIL NEWS

It seemed as if the news contained considerable that was favorable to the carriers. The reports of the Interstate Commerce Commission and of the Secretary of the Treasury indicate that Washington is recognizing more the plight of the railroads. Particularly significant is the Commisson's objection to the "recapture" clause in the Transportation Act.

In the early afternoon a tendency to firmness began to be observed patricularly in the retail shares.

It was also noted that of the various groups the oil shares had fluctuated the least in the day's trading. Sentiment in regar dto them was probably aided by the stress put upon the court decision in California upholding the conservation law in that state, it being regarded as a great strike forward in the cause.

MOVIES TO GAIN

Comment on the motion picture industry was made to the effect that the majority of the leading corporations in the field for the calendar year, 1930, will show a substantial gain in earnings over 1929.

The final dealings in the stock market showed practically a full recovery throughout the list with a few instances of substantial net gains, such as Atchison and Allied Chemical.

STEEL'S STORES NOW IN HANDS OF RECEIVER

Toronto, Dec. 5.—An authorized assignment in bankruptcy was made at Osgoode Hall here to-day by the Steel's Consolidated Company, the holding company for Steel's Stores Limited.

The secured liabilities of the company amount to $563,400 and unsecured claims $12,727, while the assets total $121,375. Many of the creditors of the compahy are in the Province of Quebec.

According to the statement of the president, W. M. Wilkins, the assignment was made necessary for the protection of the general body of creditors by the action of certain Quebec creditors.

Canadian Grain Displays Make Splendid Showing At Chicago Exposition

Headed By Herman Trelle, Growers Bring Fame to Agricultural Lands of This Country

Canadian Press

Chicago, Dec. 5.—Agricultural observers, as the International Livestock Exposition came to a close here to-day, commented on the impressive victories of Canadians, especially in the hay and grain show. The Canadian rankings in nearly all classes were higher than last year and considerably the highest since the shows were started twelve years ago.

The wheat rankings—the most important of the show—furnish an excellent example of the rise of Canada's agricultural star. Herman Trelle of Wembley, in the Peace River district of Alberta, won the wheat championship with a Reward strain of the Marquis type of hard red spring which he had developed. George Avery of Kelso, Saskatchewan, won the reserve championship with a sample of durum.

RED SPRING WHEAT

A year ago Canada won thirty-six or forty places awarded in red spring, Elmer Davis of Absarokee, Mont., in eighth place, being the highest United States entry. This year the Canadians won forty-six of fifty places awarded, and the highest non-Canadian was C. Elson Smith of Corvallis, Mont., in twenty-fifth place.

By way of contrast, Trelle this year entered the hard red winter wheat competition, a type in which Canada last year had no entries. He not only took third, but a neighbor, S. B. Allsop of Wambley, was fourth.

DURUM WHEAT

In durum last year, Canadians won six of fifteen places, the eighth taken by Alf. Wood of Glenboro, Ont., being the highest. This year the Canadians won ten of fifteen places. George Avery of Kelso, Sask., who was not even ranked in 1929, won first place, and then went out to take the reserve wheat championship with his durum sample.

In white winter wheat, where no Canadian was ranked in 1929, Douglas Hart of Woodstock, Ont., this year took second place. In the soft red winter wheat classes, where no Canadian name appeared in 1929, Nagel Brothers of Fisherville, Ont., won thirteenth rank.

The moving up of the Canadians was noticeable all along the line this year, with only a single stalwart, the grizzled C. Edson Smith of Corvallis, Mont., seeming to have the soil or the knowledge or the seed that can match the Canadian wheat results.

Some of the other improved Canadian rankings at the show were:

RYE AND BEANS

Rye, which was won by George Avery of Kelso, Sask., as compared with the ninth place taken by Canada last year.

Field beans, which were won by Mary E. Maycock of Milford, Ont., as compared with no Canadian placings last year.

Flax, in which Charles F. Holmer, of Dollard, Sask., won third place, as against a thirteenth last year.

Canadian placings in other grains were:

Field pea champion, Herman Trelle, Wembley, Alta., reserve champion; Cecil Trowell, Saltocoats, Sask.

Barley—Ed. Thompson, Pathlow, Sask., third in both two-rowed and six-rowed. George Avery fifth in competition for all other varieties.

Corn—Fifteenth, F. G. Mvtreholme, Agassiz, B.C.

ALFALFA AND TIMOTHY

Western Alfalfa Seed—Third, N. A. Chuelete, Rainier, Alta.

Eastern Alfalfa Seed—Second, Douglas Dutton, Brampton, Ont.

Turner Valley News Takes On Renewed Interest

With two wells being placed on a production test, a new well being spudded in and another reaching the end of a lengthy redrilling job, news from Turner Valley oilfield has taken on unusual interest, Miller, Court & Company said to-day.

According to the latest Imperial Oil drilling report, Royalite No. 20 has stopped drilling and is making a production test at a depth of 5,180 feet, 290 feet in the lime, where it shows about 2,000,000 cubic feet of gas. Mayland No. 3 has reached a similar stage in operations and at the end of last week was swabbing prior to a production test. This well is standing at 6,177 feet, a depth of 357 feet in the lime. Mayland No. 6 was spudded in last week and had reached a depth of 72 feet by the end of the period. Drilling is being done with rotary equipment. Mayland No. 4 added 185 feet to its depth at 1,184 feet.

At the C. D. and P. well, where redrilling has been in progress for many weeks, the bottom of the old well was reached a few days ago and new hole will be made from now on.

Royalite No. 11, which entered the ranks of producers during the summer, is to be cleaned out and diamond drill is being rigged up for that purpose. Royalite No. 24, which is also in lime, has drilled out the cement which was used to set casing at 5,267 feet, twenty-four feet below the top of the formation, and is proceeding towards the producing horizon. Royalite No. 25 was drilled at 3,763 feet at the end of last week.

Lowery No. 2 made 243 feet of new hole and reached 3,981 feet, while Southwest Petroleum No. 2 added 92 feet to 358 feet. Foothills No. 3 was still working on a fishing job.

SMELTERS DECLARES ITS USUAL BONUS

Earnings Not Quite Enough, But Contingent Reserve Will Be Drawn On

Phosphate Plant to Open in January; Exploration on New Mines to Be Cut

Montreal, Dec. 5.—The board of directors of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada declared the regular half-yearly dividend of five per cent on the common stock of the company and a bonus of $5, payable January 15, for the stock on record of December 31. The distribution will total $6.25, being $5 bonus and $1.25 dividend, which is reckoned on the stock with a par value of $25 a share.

This action was in line with expectations, but nevertheless comes as good news to the street at this time. From estimates made the earnings of the company for the current year would not fall far short of meeting the usual bonus, dividend and tax requirements before depreciation and depletion. The latter items this year will be charged against contingent reserve, created largely to take care of such matters when conditions warranted.

At the end of November unsold stocks of lead represented less than one month's supply, and of zinc less than two month's supply, so that the company's position in this respect is favorable.

The following statement was issued regarding the present situation of the company's operations:

"The estimated gross profits for 1930 are $7,000,000. Of this about $1,000,000 will have been spent on exploration and development of non-productive properties and on large scale demonstrations of fertilizer products. Estimated net profits in 1930 from the West Kootenay Power and Light Company Limited (all of the common stock of which is in the Consolidated treasury), are $750,000, which is available for dividend distribution to the parent company.

EXPLORATION PROGRAMME

"These sums, added together, do not fall short of the amount required for the usual year's dividends, bonuses and taxes, but they do not provide anything towards depletion and depreciation. The directors have decided to charge depletion and depreciation allowances to the contingent reserve, which was set up to meet just such a condition as the present. They do not expect a continuation of present low metal prices during 1931, but, in any event, the expenditure on exploration and development of unproducing properties will be cut very substantially, while the amounts spent on further fertilizer experiments will be small.

"The producing mines are in excellent condition. The plants have been well maintained.

"Production has been increased and costs have been reduced materially.

"Unsold metal stocks at the end of November amounted to less than a month's output of lead and less than two months' output of zinc.

PHOSPHATES AND NITROGEN

"The first section of the fertilizer plant (producing sulphuric acid triple superphosphates and mond ammonium phosphate) will begin operations by the end of the year. The product of this section will be available for next spring's seeding on the prairies. The ammonia plant will be completed in September next when the full first unit, producing over 400 tons daily, will begin operation.

"The large scale demonstration tests on the prairies last season were very successful. Increased yield per acre was shown, along with earliest maturity, better grade and a stronger plant.

"The board elected Lorne A. Campbell vice-president and general manager of West Kootenay Power Light Company, a director, to fill the vacancy canused by the recent death of the late A. C. Flumerfelt.

C. and E. Royalties Rise Rapidly On New Production

Complete details of the various leases which have been granted by Calgary and Edmonton Corporation are given in the company's annual report, announced to-day by Miller, Court and Co. Up to the middle of the year more than 60,000 acres were placed under lease or option, a great deal of which was in the Turner Valley field. Most of the older leases called for payment of 12½ per cent royalty on production, while many of those signed after July 1, 1929, were on the basis of 12½ per cent royalty until the well had been paid for, then 15 per cent if production was under fifty barrels a day. Nearly all of the leases had a clause to the effect that four test wells were to be drilled with the right of surrender if commercial production was not obtained and that additional wells were to be drilled when production had been discovered.

At the end of October active drillings on the company's acreage numbered eight, in addition to certain other wells which had been started on C. & E. acreage, but which were held up either through lack of finances or geological conditions.

Officers and directors for the current year, as chosen at the recent annual meeting, are: Hugh F. Osler, president; D. C. Coleman, vice-president, with the following directors: Patrick Burns, Right Hon. Viscount Chaplin, Alexander H. Douglas, C. Edward Disher, George Grinnell-Milne, F. Gordon Osler and Frederick Roche. The ending of the company's fiscal year has been changed from October 31 to June 30.

The report of Osler, Hammond & Nanton, as general managers, to the president and board of directors refers to the fact that problems of the freezing over of producing wells so far has defied solution, but every effort is being made to find a remedy.

HOW ROYATY INCREASES

Increasing production and royalties as the result of drilling on the lands of Calgary and Edmonton Corporation in Western Canada, are indicated in the report. Initial production was reached during December of last year, but this amounted to only 271 barrels, while the royalty for the month was $108. In January of this year the production was 479 barrels, with royalities $941 With some fluctuations there has been a steady improvement, with August output 14,135 barrels producing a royalty of $6,278. In September, a new high was reached of 19,207 barrels on which a royalty of approximately $8,-500 was credited to the corporation. From October 1 to October 23, the latest record, output has been 15,214 barrels. The total production in the eleven months has been 77,101 barrels, with royalty $36,727, not including the returns for the month of October.

Brookmire Reports On Radio Outlook

In its current Analyst, The Brookmire Economic Service Incorporated points out that total factory payrolls are twenty-nine per cent lower in October, 1930, than in the corresponding month of 1929, with comparisons becoming less favorable as monthly reports are made. Distressed farm conditions, with grain prices the lowest in years, together with the restricted basis on which other lines of industry and trade are operating, makes it appear that there is little hope for a large volume of radio business in the near future. The analysis continues:

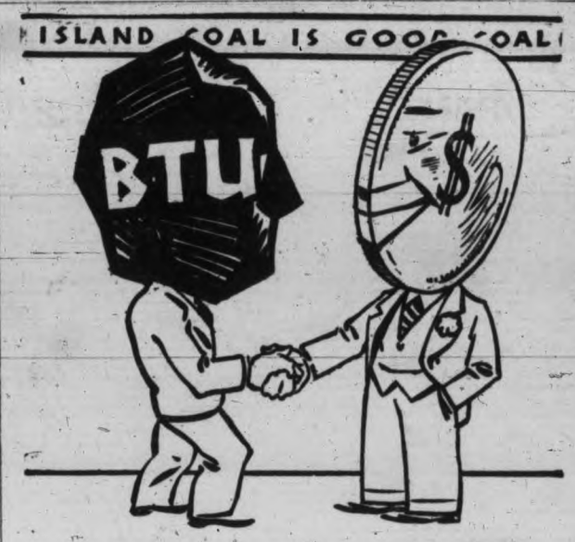
"Ambitious production programmes announced by many of the leading companies at the beginning of the third quarter were probably for the purpose of stocking up dealers with new models. It is our opinion that repeat orders will not justify the maintenance of capacity operations for any great length of time.

"Statistics on dealers' sales and stocks of radios are compiled by the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce at Washington. The latest figures released cover the first quarter of 1930. This report showed that the number of radio sets sold, per dealer operating, increased from 21.1 sets in the first quarter of 1929 to 24.2 sets in the first quarter of this year. This increase in sales was unquestionably due to attractive trade-in allowances and cut prices which were put into effect throughout the country in order to clean up excessive inventories. The average price of sets sold in the first quarter of 1930 was $142, as compared with $160 in the same quarter of 1929. Approximately one set was taken in trade for each five sold. Many of these were taken at ridiculously high prices and can never be disposed of except at a large loss.

"Radio stocks per dealer on April 1, 1930, were 21 per cent greater than a year earlier despite unusual sales efforts and high trade-in allowance during the first quarter. This, of course, explains the reason that most important radio manufacturers were operating on greatly reduced schedules during the first half of the current year. We continue of the belief that a fundamental turn in radio business will be delayed until general business conditions improve. Since two-thirds of radio business falls in the last half of the year, is it not reasonable to expect a return of prosperity before the last half of 1931. Just how profitable operations will be at that time will depend to a large extent on how well general conditions are working out of the present depression. The radio is a luxury, and until unemployment is reduced and payroll totals increased sufficiently, business will not be good."

CERRO DE PASCO MINES TO RESUME

Lima, Peru, Dec. 5.—Work in the mines of the Cerro Pasco Copper Corporation soon will be resumed. The mines, many of which are American-owned, closed last month following serious strike riots, in which two Americans were killed.



A HOME PRODUCT -BETTER AND CHEAPER

EVERY dollar spent in the mining, preparation, grading and shipment of Island Coal goes into the pockets of the people of British Columbia and no other form of merchandise is more all-British Columbian than this.

True, coals other than Island Coals are imported and sold in Vancouver . . . but they are mostly of the lignite variety. The average heat rating of lignite, according to Government Reports, is 9,840 B.T.U.'s or less. The mean average of Nanaimo-Wellington and Comox Coal, according to the same reports, is 13,000 B.T.U.'s . . . approximately one-third greater in heat value than their nearest competitor.

Another very important thing to remember is that lignite costs $12.00 a ton, whereas the local product, one of the best bituminous coals in the world, costs only $11.50.

For imported lignite you have to pay 4.3% more for a fuel that produces 30% less heat than the home product. In other words, you have to buy 3 tons of lignite to get the same amount of heat as you can get from 2 tons of Island Coal.

. . . Be economical. Be patriotic. Buy Island Coal.

THE GREATEST HEAT FOR ISLAND COAL THE FEWEST DOLLARS

Seven For a Secret

By MARY WEBB

"Dig yer garden, plough yer land; I shouldna wonder if I'd pretty well kill myself for a chap she was set on—if so be I was in love with 'er."

"She's set on me. I'll tell you something—she kissed me of her own accord—"

Hatred, stifled but violent, blazed in Robert's face. And though Elmer was the taller man, he flinched before the savage intensity of Robert's spirit, which seemed to give more breadth to his broad shoulders, more muscle to his strong clenched hands.

Urgently, almost pleadingly, Robert motioned him to be gone. Hoarsely, almost in a whisper, he besought Ralph not to make of him a murderer.

"Out of my sight, man! Out of my sight!" he implored. "I canna answer for myself, I said 'If I could keep my fists of you'!"

Elmer, astonished and offended, departed.

So this was what the men that made up songs were like. He had imagined them quiet and peaceable, and had never dreamt that Robert would refuse good money for a few bits of paper.

"Dang me! What a temper! All of a blaze before you could say 'Jack Spratt!' I'd as lief not meet him in a lonely place after Gillian—" He fell into a meditation; began to whistle 'The Lily's White,' squared his shoulders; said "What a pother about a girl!" and strolled home.

Robert, meanwhile, was thundering round the far pasture, "taking the devil out," as he said. This he did to such good effect that when he and the young horse returned they were both dripping with sweat, and neither of them wanted anything in the world but a long drink and a long sleep.

"I reckon," observed Robert in an interval of vigorous grooming, "as you'll do a many of these gallops in the next few weeks, my bird!"

And it was so.

CHAPTER XIX

Robert flung himself into his work and his poem about the Gwlfas. And, because he was so determined not to notice Gillian and Ralph, he did not notice, either, Gillian's wistful glances in his direction. She rode her new pony. She fed her chickens and all her other living toys. The gifts went on. But, having culminated in Fringal's beloved little cush-cow—the hornless cow that is regarded as a special favorite on farms—they took the form of furniture. Whether Elmer had sufficient irony in his composition to think that he might get all these things back again, with Gillian included—as people put water into a pump to fetch up more—is doubtful. He was not a complex person. He wanted Gillian's favor. Concrete things seemed to him desirable, especially to woman; therefore he sent them to her. Being in love and in suspense were irksome. He was quite genuinely and completely in love. When he was with Gillian he felt as the passionate lover of flowers and leaves sometimes feels—in despair at the impossibility of wholly possessing the beloved creature. Whether the creature be a flower or a human being, it is the same longing, the same despair. "Touch not, taste not, handle not," is no text for lovers of mystics. The mystic, if his way to God lies through nature, is not content with looking. He wants the nearer, the dearer, the more primitive and spiritual senses. He must kneel down and gather beauty, grasp it, embrace it. He must even eat it and drink it. He must absorb it, be nourished upon it. So Robert began by grasping Gillian's spirit, and Elmer caught her hands, wound her hair about his fingers, kissed her, and still implored with thirsty eyes. And Gillian, being already in love with Robert, now fell in love with passion. What woman, who is a woman at all, does not do so at some time in her life? What woman is not glad and glorified to be made sister of the silken narcissus, the delicate anemone—to be desired? For a woman's greatest career is love—spiritual and physical (and the two are one), and the crown of her career is a child. And whatever else she may be, and obtain, and create, she will, if she misses these, die with the knowledge of defeat. For a man it is not always so. A man's genius is egocentric—a woman's altrustic—sacrificial. A man is himself whether he loves or not. A woman who has not supremely given herself is not supremely herself. Her work is halt and blind. She has not lost her life; so she has not found it. Robert could still make his poem about Dysgwlfas, though his heart was riven for Gillian. But Gillian had no more interest in her singing since she fell in love with Robert—which happened while she made the thorny cross, and of which she knew nothing. Her subconscious self perhaps knew, but she would not listen to it. There was a hunger in her heart. Elmer assuaged it. Robert absolutely ignored her. Therefore, being a vivid and eager creature, she took the brightest path. But every time when, as she parted from Elmer, he kissed her so wildly, she, with shut eyes and soul gathered inwards, said, "It's Robert! It's Robert!"

And every night when she closed her eyes in her little room at the Gwlfas she entranced herself by remembering Elmer's kisses in conjunction with Robert's eyes. She always saw Robert angry, with eyes that flashed fire, and it was a triumphant moment of the imagination when she had conjured into unity Elmer's hot love and the angry eyes of Robert. Whatever she may have thought or guessed in the past, she did not know that Robert loved her. Like most women, she was a creature of actualities. If Robert loved her, he would give her presents, live creatures, things of solid wood or metal, something she could see. Besides—she could never marry Robert. How could she call Mrs. Makepeace, who was beginning to call her "Miss," "Mother?" How silly! And Jonathan! And she would have to live always here in the manner of a humble cottager's wife. No. She had been denied the joys she craved for, and she was quite as ambitious, in her humble way, as Cleopatra—and quite as savage.

"If so be it I get married to Ralph Elmer," she reflected through the days of April, "I shall know I'm alive, anyway."

That was it! She must know she was alive. She must, at all costs, escape the fate of Emily. And with the rather pitiful illogicalness of woman in all times and in all places, she would have been willing (if she had thought of it) to risk death in order to know she was alive.

So she remained in love with passion, and Elmer was its exponent. Strange glories, strange despairs and wonders dazzled her through the wild, chilly April days. For at Dysgwlfas April is cold as a snowflake. No blossom comes upon the trees, no pale light of primroses lies along the sparse woods until May. Then, one morning, behold! a white cloud is fallen on the damson tree, and soon in the little orchard, where the trees are all bent away from the west and so it seems there is always a great west wind blowing, soon there come in the apple tree pink, close-fisted bud, like babie's hands folded close on treasure. And late come the swallows, the blackcap and the willow-wren. Late sound the cuckoo's two mellow bells. The Lent lilies in the far pasture shiver in the chill air long after Easter, and often on the red flowering currant and the wreathed orange of the berberis by the dove-cote falls in May a white layer of snow colder than the damson blossom. The fruit sets at the Gwlfas in no easy south country way. There are the plum winds and the cherry frosts, and wild rains to smite the pear blossom, and a last frost for the apple. And no sooner are these over than it is thunder time. For the high lands draw the storms; night after night on the young green apples descend rains that are like thick, permanent wires taut between heaven and earth.

But whether the blossom fell or the snow fell Elmer courted Gillian Lovekin—in the pastures, in the woods, on the moor, at the inn or at the farm. With his purpose flaming in his eyes so that she caught her breath with the fear of her half-comprehension, he strode through April—through her girlish shyness and angers and retreats, that were like April, towards May Day.

For it was May Day that he had fixed in his own mind as the limit of his patience.

"My First Public Speech"

"MAKE IT clear I don't pretend to be a speaker now," said Don Cameron, member of the Junior Chamber of Commerce when requested to tell of his first public speech and his feelings on that occasion.

"However," he proceeded, "I well remember my first appearance. I was fifteen years of age and was attending High School in Los Angeles. The Liberty Bond drive was on and a number of students were selected to give talks at theatres.

"I blush when I think of it. I remember I got my wires crossed and created quite a sensation. I was armed with a mass of notes but in my nervousness I got them mixed so that I told the audience. . . . .

"'If one family eats rye bread and less sugar for one week it will! . . . . and then turning over two pages instead of one . . . build twenty battleships, bring a speedy termination to hostilities, assure an end to war in the future and make the world safe for democracy for all time.'"

"The crowd gasped but I didn't at the time realize why. I thought I had got off an impressive point with great effect. Then I referred to my notes again and realized what I had done. Now I leave the rest to your imagination. I don't care to talk about it."

"I haven't attempted to make what you might call a real speech since then," Mr. Cameron added. "I talk at the Junior Chamber of Commerce meetings on subjects I am interested in. I never have any difficulty, but I might do now you have stirred up recollections of that first speech."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Flappy Curtain

(Copyright, 1930).

By HOWARD R. GARIS

"Don't you want to come to the movies with us to-night, Wiggy?" asked his wife after supper. "Nurse Jane and I are going to take all the children."

"All of them?" asked Mr. Longears, sort of putting his paw in the pocket where he kept his money when he had any to keep. "Did you say all the children, my dear?"

"Yes. Why not?" asked Mrs. Longears. "None of them want to stay at home. We'll take them all. Don't you want to come?"

"Thank you," said Uncle Wiggily, who, much as he loved his little bunny boys and girls, felt a bit queer when he thought of taking all forty sixteen of them at once, "thank you, but I'll stay at home. I am expecting Mr. Twistytail, the pig gentleman, over to play checkers."

"All right, then, Nurse Jane and I will take the children and we'll have a good time. There is quite a wonderful talkie at the theatre to-night," went on the lady rabbit. "It's about a carrot that went to live all alone on a desert island."

"Bless my pink nose! Whatever did it do that for?" asked Mr. Longears.

"You'll have to come to the movies to find out," his wife answered with a laugh.

"No, thank you. I'll stay home. I guess the carrot went to live on a desert island because it was tired of being in the soup all the while," said Uncle Wiggily. "Hop along, my dear, with Nurse Jane and the children. Here's the money. I suppose you'll have to take nearly all the seats in the theatre to get room for our bunch!" and he laughed for he did have a great many bunnies.

"Oh, we'll find room," said Mrs. Longears. "Come on, Nurse Jane! Come on, children!"

Left all alone in the bungalow, Uncle Wiggily went about pulling down the window shade curtains, for it was now night thought inside the bungalow it was light. Many lightning bugs in milk bottles made lanterns that gave a fine glow.

"I don't want any of the Bad Chaps peering in at me when Mr. Twistytail and I are playing checkers," murmured Uncle Wiggily, pulling down the last curtain at the window near where he was going to sit. But as he pulled the curtain down, all of a sudden it rolled up again with a flippity flap and the stick on the bottom banged the rabbit gentleman on his nose.

"Oh, what a flappy curtain!" cried Uncle Wiggily gently rubbing his nose. "Rolling itself up that way as soon as I touch it. I must pull it down again."

Once more he pulled down the shade to darken the window, but all of a sudden the curtain rolled up again, and, once more, the stick hit the bunny gentleman on his nose.

"I guess I'll have to hold that curtain down a bit until it gets to sleep. Then maybe it will stay down," thought Mr. Longears. He got a chair to stand on, as he had done before, for the shade had rolled all the way up to the top.

The next time he pulled the shade down part way, held it there a while and let go. The curtain did not flap up.

"I guess it's going to sleep!" whispered the bunny. "And I'll open the window a little to give it fresh air. It will also make the room cooler when Twisty and I play checkers."

Uncle Wiggily raised the window part way, pulling the shade down all the way and held it there. Slowly and carefully he took his hand off, half expecting the shade to flap up again, but it stayed down.

"I guess it's asleep now and won't wake up and flap any more," said the bunny gentleman. Then in came Mr. Twistytail and the two old animal gentlemen began to play checkers. All of a sudden there was a noise at the open window behind the pig.

"What's that?" he grunted.

"Only a flappy curtain," said Uncle Wiggily. "I hope it isn't going to roll up again and make me pull it down." But that's what the shade did. With a clatter and bang it rolled up fast and then there came a howl of pain and Uncle Wiggily and Mr. Twistytail saw why.

The Wolf, prowling around the bungalow in the night, had seen the bunny's open window from the outside and decided to come in. But no sooner did the Wolf touch the sill than the flappy curtain awakened, if it ever was asleep, and up it rolled with a clatter and a bang. The stick hit the Wolf on the nose and he howled "Ouch!" jumped down and ran away. The bunny and pig saw him go.

"Well there are worse things than flappy curtains," said Mr. Longears as he got a hammer and tacks and fastened the shade down. "This flappy curtain scared away the Wolf and saved me from being nibbled."

Then the checker game went on until the children came back from the movies and all was well. And if the letter V doesn't close like a lemon squeezer and pinch the tail off the letter Q, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's picture book.

Horoscope

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 6, 1930

Astrologers read this as rather an unimportant day in planetary government. Mars is in benefic aspect, which is encouraging.

It is a most unfavorable sway under which to seek employment and especially unlucky for requests for advance in salary.

Under this direction of the stars men and women in executive positions may be preoccupied and concerned with future plans, hence unapproachable.

Warning is given that holders of political office and particularly the candidates recently elected will be subjected to unusual demands from the people.

The winter is to bring many difficult civic and national problems, the seers point out, and they counsel moderation in all things, especially criticism of public officials.

There is a sign of much promise for merchants and manufacturers who should profit greatly in the new year.

This is held an auspicious sway under which to make plans for the future. Business and professional men and women should find the planetary influences stimulating.

While this configuration prevails there should be evidence of a general tendency toward sane and sensible thinking.

A London astrologer foretells of British embarrassment because of an ambassador to the court of St. James who does not adhere to precedent.

Novelties of stage and screen are likely to gain unusual popularity this month, contrary to general expectation which holds for the holiday season a belief in theatre slumps.

Hospitals and prisons now will occupy public attention and engage the interest of women, the seers foretell.

Widespread reforms in the treatment of lawbreakers is prognosticated. Campaigns against organized crime will do much good in large cities.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of decided changes. Improvement in business or professional returns are foretold.

Children born on this day probably will be exceedingly sensitive and nervous. The subjects of this sign usually have the power to win success, for they are clever and industrious.

CATARRHAL DEAFNESS MAY BE RELIEVED

A SIMPLE, SAFE, AND RELIABLE WAY THAT CALLS FOR NO UGLY TRUMPETS, PHONES, OR OTHER INSTRUMENTS

To have catarrhal deafness is very annoying and embarrassing. People who are deaf in this way are generally mighty sensitive on this subject. And yet many catarrhal deaf folks carry around instruments that call attention to their infirmity. Therefore people who are hard of hearing, who suffer from head noises or who are actually deaf from catarrhal trouble, will be glad to know of a simple treatment that can be easily made up at home for a few cents cost that is really quite efficient in relieving the disagreeable deafness and head noises caused by catarrh.

From any druggist get one ounce of Parmint (double strength). Take this home and put it into a simple syrup mode of ¼ pint of hot water and a little ordinary sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This treatment should by tonic action reduce the inflammation in the middle ear, that a catarrhal condition would be likely to cause, and with the inflammation gone the distressing head noises, headaches, cloudy thinking and that dull feeling in the ears should gradually disappear. Anyone who suffers from catarrh, catarrhal deafness or head noises should give Parmint a trial. It is pleasant to take and is quite inexpensive. (Advt.)

Sure Cure for Matrimonial Ills

Dorothy Dix

Suggests Conforming to Partner's Ideal

I OFTEN wonder why men and women do not, for a change and by way of experimentation, try being the kind of husbands and wives that their mates crave. This simple way of solving the domestic problem by delivering the goods, as per order and specification, rarely seems to occur to them, however. The selfish ones are the sort of husbands and wives that it is least trouble to themselves to be and those to whom they are married may take them or leave them as they please.

The conscientious ones give their own interpretation of a model husband or wife, but they do it without and reference to the tastes or desires of the party of the other part, which is precisely as if you fed one on roast beef whose appetite cried out for caviar or as if you substituted an ox-cart for a high-powered automobile and expected the recipient to emit shouts of gratitude.

And this explains, as nothing else does, why so many marriages that start out with every prospect of success end in disaster. There is nothing wrong with the husbands or wives. They are fine, noble, upright people. They are doing their full duty according to their rights. They are perfectly good husbands and wives, only they are not the sort of husbands and wives that the others want.

That's the whole trouble. For if we don't get the thing that fires our fancy and for which we have a yearning, it doesn't matter a bit how good what we do get is, it is dust and ashes in our teeth. We all know from personal experience that what keeps us satisfied with a thing is not its intrinsic worth, it is its just being the particular thing on which we had set our hearts.

This being the case, why do husbands and wives not oftener try to conform to their wives' and husbands' ideals? Why should they not try to give satisfaction as husbands and wives as they would in any other job that they had undertaken and that they wanted to keep? They could if they would, because no man and woman can live together for three months without knowing to the last detail each other's tastes and desires and the secret yearnings of each other's souls.

Why, then, should not the woman who has married a domestic man who loves to putter around the house and who is fond of good food and of mixing the salad dressing at the table, set herself deliberately to work to learn how to cook and to be a prize-winning housekeeper?

Fancy the disappointment of a man who has looked forward to sitting by his own fireside and to reveling in his own home when he finds he is united to a woman who never sweeps up the ashes or sets him down to a dinner that wouldn't kill an ostrich.

Why shouldn't the woman who is married to a gay and pleasure-loving man, one who has a yen for the bright lights and night clubs and making whoopee, doll herself up and step out with him when he wants to go?

That sort of man is bound to have a playmate, and marriage is a ball and chain to him if his wife will not tread a measure with him. Of a good wife such a man tires easily, but the wife who is a good sport keeps him perpetually interested.

Why shouldn't the woman who is married to a man who likes to be fussed over and petted and cajoled make of herself his most admiring audience? Why shouldn't the woman who is married to a clever, ambitious man enter into all his aspirations and fit herself to keep up with him? Why shouldn't the woman who is married to an affectionate man pet him and gurgle over him as she does over her baby?

No reason at all, but they seldom do. They content themselves with the knowledge that they are good, virtuous wives, which is all very well, but it isn't the kind of wives their husbands desire. Hence the bitter and disgruntled husbands. And the straying husbands. And the husbands who go to other women for understanding and companionship.

And why don't men try to be the kind of husbands their wives want? Every husband knows that what every wife desires above all other things is love and tenderness and compliments and little attentions, for the husband to make some sign that he still considers her as a lady love instead of just a piece of useful household machinery.

Every man knows that his wife's dream of a perfect husband is one who will tell her that she is prettier than any flapper and that he likes them stout and with grizzled hair, who thinks up little treats for her and takes her to the movies without being prodded into it, who remembers her birthday and the day he first met her and brings her a bunch of flowers instead of ordering them from the florist, who gives her fine clothes if he can afford it and if he can't goes window shopping with her and tells her he would dress her like the Queen of Sheba if he had the money and whose kisses are not perfunctory pecks of duty on the cheek, but warm with love and passion.

It wouldn't take much time or thought or money for any man to be the kind of husband his wife wants, but most of them stick to their own original conception of a model husband: that a man has done his full duty to his wife when he pays her bills. Which is why there are so many peevish and disgruntled wives.

It would certainly be an interesting experiment for husbands and wives to try to give satisfaction in the positions they have undertaken to fill. Let's hope some young people will be adventurous enough to try it.

Niagara Had Trouble On Last Voyage South

Sydney Seamen's Union Ordered Crew Discharged Because Two Oilers Missing

Stowaway Assaulted Patrol Officer and Kicked Panels Out of Door

On her last southbound voyage, which she commenced from this port in October, the liner Niagara had plenty of trouble with her crew, according to word given out yesterday evening when the ship docked here from the Antipodes. The Niagara had a new crew on deck and below, as the result of a decision of the Seamen's Union of Sydney to discipline the crew for taking the ship into Sydney harbor with two men below the usual number.

Officers of the Niagara explained to Sydney authorities that a greaser and an oiler were put ashore ill in Vancouver last voyage. One of the vacancies was filled and as the ship always carried three above her usual complement it was not anticipated there would be any trouble. The man recruited in Vancouver left the ship at Auckland. At Sydney union officials instructed the entire crew to leave the ship and the Union Steamship Company, owners and operators of the Niagara, had to sign on fifty-six new men. Some of the crew had been with the ship for more than ten years. The old members of the crew will not be allowed to sign on again for six months, although they may join any other ship.

The action of the union caused considerable dissatisfaction it was reported. A representative of the company told officials in Sydney that higher wages were paid to the crew of the Niagara than on any other ship on the Pacific. "If this sort of thing continues," he is quoted as saying, "we will be compelled to employ other than Australian seamen."

MORE TROUBLE

The trouble with the Seamen's Union was not the only unpleasantness connected with the last voyage of the Niagara to the South Seas. In Auckland, a ship's steward, aged twenty-seven, was charged with assaulting George Saunders, patrol officer of the Niagara on the high seas. He was also charged with being a stowaway. He pleaded guilty to both charges. According to a clipping from an Auckland newspaper which arrived on the Niagara yesterday evening, Patrol Officer Saunders said he was called to the purser's office on the ship shortly after the ship cleared from Sydney. Brodwick, the stowaway, was handed to him and he made use of abusive and obscene language. He made a swing and attempted to strike the officer, who then made use of forcible methods to make the accused secure in a cabin.

"I went to the bridge to report the matter to the master," the officer said in court, "and on my return found that Brodwick had kicked the panel out of the door."

Brodwick told the magistrate that he remembered nothing of the assault as he was under the influence of liquor at the time.

On the stowaway charge Brodwick was fined £7 ($35) or fourteen days' imprisonment, and on the other charge £2 ($10) or seven days, the sentences to be cumulative.

LOCAL PEOPLE RETURN HOME

Niagara Brings Fair List, Including Several Victorians Returning From Honolulu

The liner Niagara arrived here yesterday evening from Sydney, Auckland, Suva and Honolulu with the first group of returning Victorians who have been spending a holiday in the sunny Hawaiian Islands.

The Victoria party included Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Birch-Jones of Beach Drive, who left here on October 31 aboard the Empress of Japan and have since been enjoying the beaches and golf courses of Honolulu. Other Victorians were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wootton, returning from their wedding trip to the Hawaiian Islands. They also sailed from Victoria in October aboard the Empress of Japan. Other Victorians who left on the Japan will return to Victoria by way of southern California.

The Niagara had 101 passengers in all classes. Of these, forty-two were in the first class, thirty-three in the second and twenty-six in the third. Among the passengers aboard were G. S. Howard of the General Motors Limited of New York City, returning from Australia with Mrs. Howard and his two children; A. S. Hunt, manager of the Henry Desston Company of Philadelphia; H. S. Griffin of Toronto, returning from a business and pleasure trip to Australia and New Zealand; G. H. V. Burroughs, managing director of the Neon Signs Limited of Australia; J. D. Brownlee, manager of the J. Ballantyne Company of London, England; George Bunting, late Australian representative of the Canadian Government Merchant Marine; W. D. Lambie, British Trade Commissioner of New Zealand with his wife and two children; F. B. Tripp, of the Canadian National staff at Sydney; H. Curry, manager of the J. W. D. Dickson Company of Auckland; H. Ludt, company executive of London, England; G. A. Hughland, of the J. C. Williamson Company of Sydney; R. C. Rocke, of Rocke and Sons, London, England, and Dr. M. A. Cassidy, a prominent physician in Honolulu.

BLACK SWANS ARRIVE HERE FROM SYDNEY

Will Be Placed in Beacon Hill and Elk Lake; Foreign Ducks Are Also En Route Here

The first of a flock of birds that will make Goodacre Lake in Beacon Hill Park and Elk Lake their homes in future, arrived in Victoria yesterday evening aboard the liner Niagara from Australia. They were two pairs of beautiful black native Australian swans, picked from among the choicest stock in the Taronga Zoological Park at Osman Bay near Sydney. They were brought to Victoria through the efforts of Ernest Todd and Charles French and transported free from the southern Dominion to Victoria through the courtesy of the Canadian-Australasian Line

The two pairs of black swans stood the three-week voyage from Sydney well and arrived here in two large crates which were swung over the side of the Niagara to the Rithet docks where they remained all night. They were still there this morning but those in charge of them expect to have them back in their natural element this afternoon. During the voyage here the swans were placed frequently in large tanks of water and other special treatment was meted out to them by the crew of the ship. Their shiny black feathers will be in strong contrast to the snow white variety of swans now at Beacon Hill Park. They look very much like the local swans although an expert could find many points on which they differ.

The shipment to Victoria is the first of many more which it is hoped citizens of the city will bring here to interest tourists and to build up a worthwhile zoo. On December 12 the liner Empress of Japan will arrive here from the Orient with fifteen pairs of Mandarin duck from China. Several pairs of these in turn will be traded to a fancier in the United States for several pairs of wood-ducks. Both the ducks from China and the wood-ducks will be divided between Beacon Hill Park and Elk Lake. At the latter place is a bird sanctuary where already there are hundreds of birds and ducks.

CHANGES ARE ANNOUNCED IN C.P. SCHEDULE

Several changes in the schedules of the Canadian Pacific Empress liners operating between Victoria, Vancouver, the Hawaiian Islands and the Far East have been announced. The first change in sailing will become effective tomorrow with the sailing of the Empress of Russia. In future the Empresses will sail from Vancouver and Victoria on Saturdays instead of Thursdays. This will give them only one week in Vancouver, instead of the usual ten days. This will give them more time for their annual overhauls at Hongkong.

Early in the new year, although no exact date has yet been announced, the arrivals of the Empresses will be changed. The Empress of Japan will arrive here on Sunday mornings, instead of on Fridays, while the Empress of Canada, Empress of Asia and Empress of Russia will dock here on Monday mornings, instead of on Saturdays.

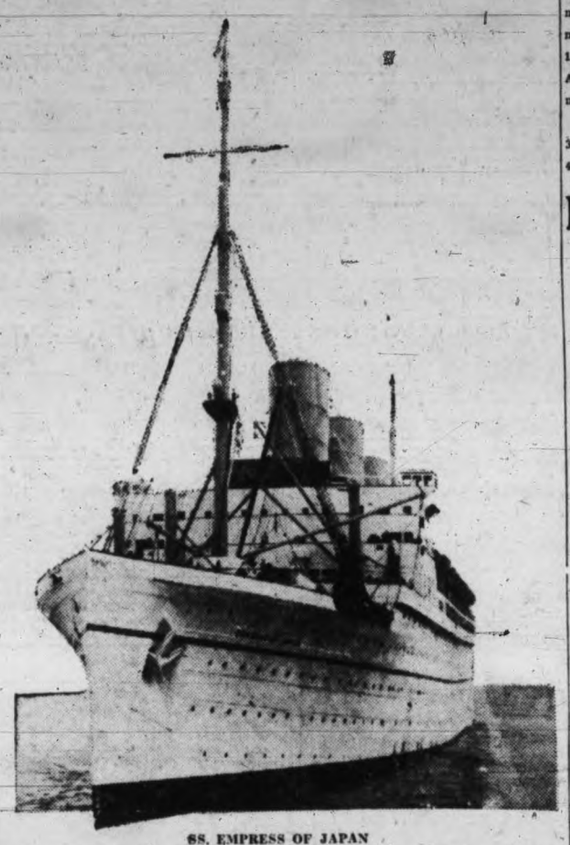
To-morrow the Empress of Russia will take her first sailing from this port to Honolulu since last February. During the summer months the Hawaiian port of call is maintained only by the Empress of Japan and the Empress of Canada. The Russia will leave Vancouver to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock and arrive at the Rithet piers about 4 o'clock in the afternoon. She will put to sea about an hour later.

Among the passengers who will sail to-morrow on the Empress of Russia are: C. T. Atkinson, commissioner to Siam for the Chicago Centenary of Progress and World's Fair of 1933, who is en route to Bangkok to place the case of the exposition before the Siamese Government; Bishop Hamilton, Anglican Bishop of mid-Japan; and S. Nagano and M. S. Miyagishina, prominent Japanese importers of Chicago, on a business and pleasure trip to the Orient. The Russia will have 50 passengers in first cabin, 30 in second, 10 in third and 300 in steerage.

Loading Lumber

The Japanese freighter Belfast Maru arrived at the Rithet piers yesterday evening from Chemainus and was fast alongside the dock by 9.30 o'clock. Loading of 300,000 feet of Vancouver Island timber was commenced at 8 o'clock this morning and the ship will probably clear sometime this evening. King Brothers are handling her during her stay in port.

BOUND HERE FROM ORIENT



SS. EMPRESS OF JAPAN

which sailed from Yokohama yesterday afternoon and which is scheduled to arrive here on December 12 from ports in the Philippine Islands, China and Japan with a distinguished passenger list.

Stage Troupe Aboard Liner

Diminutive Japanese girls in picturesque native costume, pattering along the deck of a steamer at Victoria, are not unusual, and as a rule pass unnoticed. That is when the girls are aboard a ship just arrived from the Orient. But yesterday evening when the liner Niagara was alongside the Rithet piers a troup of six Japanese girls were noticed. As the Niagara was in from Sydney, Auckland, Suva and Honolulu, everyone who saw them wondered just where they had come from.

Enquiry elicited the information that the Japanese maidens were members of a theatrical troupe from Honolulu. They had been performing in the Hawaiian Islands for more than a year, and are now on their way to the United States, their first engagement being in Seattle next week. From theer they will go south to Portland, San Francisco and Los Angeles and then east. They left the liner here and proceeded this afternoon to Seattle.

The party traveled in the third class from Honolulu, and on one occasion during the voyage put on a concert for the first and second class passengers up in the first class lounge. They performed native dances of Japan, sang songs and choruses and did other stunts that were greatly appreciated by the audience, who saw that they were duly rewarded. Those in the party were Miss Y. Aoyama, Miss T. Fumi, Miss F. Hikida, Miss M. Ios, Miss T. Kimura, Miss N. Sato, T. Chiba and C. Goto.

No Christmas For Ss. Niagara On Trip South

There will be no Christmas Day this year for passengers, officers and crew of the liner Niagara, which will pass through Victoria next Wednesday afternoon on her way from Vancouver to Honolulu, Suva, Auckland and Sydney. For on December 25, the Niagara is scheduled to pass the 180th meridian, on which date ships going west lose an entire day. That is they retire on the evening of one day and when they awake the next morning it is thirty-six hours later according to the calendar.

This year the Niagara will cross the meridian the day before she arrives at Suva, in the Fiji Islands. Christmas Eve will be duly celebrated, but when the passengers wake up on what would be Christmas morning it will in reality be December 26, Boxing Day. This day they will celebrate ashore at Suva.

But the steward's department of the Niagara is not particularly worried about Christmas Day being lost. The chief is preparing for a great feast, and when the ship puts to sea next week her refrigerators will be filled with turkeys from the northwest, and all the trimmings. Big fir trees will be loaded in Vancouver and on Christmas Eve a grand celebration will be held in the lounge with Capt. T. V. Hill, commander of the liner, acting the role of Santa Claus. Officers on the ship are determined that travel shall not cheat them out of a Christmas celebration, although it is losing the actual day to them.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of lower low water.

The time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish highwater from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees Dry Dock add thirty feet to the height of high water as above given.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt Dry Dock at any tide, add 18.9 feet to the height of high water as above given.

LARGE PARTY GOING SOUTH ON NEW SHIP

Prince Robert Sailing From Halifax on March 2 With Party For South America

Canada will come into the Empire limelight on March 2 next, when the Canadian Chamber of Commerce trade delegation sails on a trade mission to South America on a six weeks' cruise. It is expected that more than 200 persons will take in this trip which is sponsored by the Canadian Chamber of Commerce with the co-operation of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the Agricultural interests of Canada. In addition the public has been invited to become members of the general party.

The officials in charge of the tour have chartered the new liner Prince Robert of the Canadian National Steamships fleet. In discussing the trip the president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association says the trip is open to other than those specially interested in the development of trade. The voyage, while mainly for the purpose of instituting business connections, will afford an excellent opportunity for a pleasure trip and will prove of great educational advantage. The Prince Robert will be the first passenger liner to sail from a Canadian port direct to South America.

One of the big attractions of the forty-nine-day tour is the British Empire trade fair to be opened at Buenos Aires by the Prince of Wales. At the fair Canada will have her own pavilion and numerous exhibits. Ninety per cent of the show space has already been taken by Canadian manufacturers. However, some space is still available in the Canadian pavilion for those who would like to exhibit.

The Canadian Government is playing an important part in the exhibiting of Canada's products, and the whole project appears to be crowned with success. Canadians are especially welcome in South America, it is pointed out, perhaps particularly in Brazil, Uruguay, the Argentine and Chile, which countries are fast becoming a conspicuous part of Canadian trade.
